Protection of Your Family is as Much a Duty as the Provision of Food and Home for Them

The Woodmen Circle towers its head above all others as the greatest woman's protective association in the world.

In 1901 it had 11,848 members.

Today its membership totals 119,273.

In 1912 it showed a gain of 25 per cent in membership.

The gain in insurance in 1912 was 31 per cent.

The gain in assets for 1912 was 25 per cent.

FEW cities in the country have ever had the advantages of insurance brought so forcibly to their minds as has Omaha during the last week. Hundreds have been made homeless and many have been left without protection, because the lives of the ones upon whom they depended were not insured. There is only one way to safely provide for your family--that is to insure yourself, and thereby make it certain that they will be well taken care of, even if your life is snuffed out without warning.

The Woodmen Circle offers every woman between the ages of 18 to 52 the opportunity to provide for her family, and also to enjoy all the fraternal and social advantages of a great insurance society that the husband or father may have.

Experience has demonstrated that it is just as essential for women to carry insurance as for men. When a woman dies, her loved ones often suffer for the need of the things that a few cents would buy. The way for the mother or the sister to assure herself that those she loves will be provided for when she passes away is to be protected by a policy in the Woodmen Circle.

By a small monthly contribution of assessment and dues you can be assured of the prompt payment, at your death, of such an amount as you may desire ($100 to $2,000), to any relative you may designate, and in addition thereto if your certificate is for $500 or more, there will be placed at your grave a beautiful and enduring monument, to cost not less than $100. Men who are Woodmen and women are admitted to membership, the beneficiaries of male members, who are assured a $100 monument by the Woodmen of the World, receive $100 funeral benefit in addition to the amount of the certificate held.
