

Nebraska NORRIS TO THE LAWMAKERS

Nebraska's Senator Delivers Address at Lincoln.

THANKS THE LEGISLATORS
Declares People Are Getting Farther and Farther Away from Politics—Coming to Omaha This Morning.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, April 2.—(Special.)—United States Senator George W. Norris addressed a joint session of the legislature this afternoon, it being his first appearance before the body which elected him senator. Senator Norris thanked the legislature and the people who instructed the legislators to vote for him, for his election. He talked briefly and was listened to by a considerable crowd in the gallery and the lobby.

Senator Norris urged the legislators to forget party politics and work for legislation that would be beneficial to the state, regardless of politics of the introducer of the bill. He believes the people are getting farther away from party politics all the time and he believed it a good thing. He said he was not opposed to caucuses, but he urged legislators to vote as their consciences dictate regardless of any caucus action.

He said: "I will not for measures of merit no matter whether they come from the democratic party or any other party. I will oppose anything wrong in my own party," which he did not name. He said he had been told since his arrival by democrats that they had sworn never to vote for him, but they had violated their agreement with themselves to carry out the will of the people as expressed at the polls.

"While I never even promised myself not to vote for Nebraska's distinguished citizen, yet my first official act as a senator was to vote for Mr. Bryan's confirmation as secretary of state, an act for which I never expect to apologize."

Senator Norris will go to Omaha tomorrow morning at 9:45 and spend the day. National Committeeman Merriam of the bull moose will escort him over the tornado district during the afternoon. Around Lincoln and the state house the senator was under the guidance of Frank Corrick.

Just as he entered the door he gave a groan and sank to the floor. Death was instantaneous.

KECKLEY RESOLUTION PASSES

for changing the time of assessment of property from April to August and Macfarland's public warehouse bill.

Among the bills which were passed was house roll No. 238, known as the Stubbins telegraph rate bill. This bill makes a uniform rate on a ten-word message anywhere in the state for 25 cents. There was only one vote against it, that of Harting, but several senators were absent.

Another bill which passed successfully was house roll No. 418, increasing the salary of the hotel commissioner from $5 a day to $1,500 a year. The original bill called for a salary of $2,000, but the house committee cut off a couple of hundred and the house lopped off another $500 when it came before that body.

SPLIT FEE BILL ADVANCED

House Sifters Push This Measure to the Front.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, April 2.—(Special.)—The house sifting committee this morning raised the general file, the bill by Senator Dodge making it a crime for a physician to divide his fees with another physician or surgeon. The object of this bill is to do away with the practice of city physicians and surgeons giving to county members of the profession a portion of the fee for sending them cases, especially cases for operation.

This practice has been in vogue in this and other states for years and has resulted in inefficient and unscrupulous practitioners getting big business from the county and collecting big fees to the detriment financially and physically of the patient.

PLANS TO FINISH STATE CODE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

SALOON MEASURE IS LIFTED

Bill to Permit Advertisement in Any Paper in County.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, April 2.—(Special.)—Among the bills lifted by the sifting committee of the house today was Senate File No. 295, which permits a saloon keeper to print his notice of application for liquor license in any paper in the county in which he resides regardless of circulation.

The bill was raised upon the insistent demand of Gates of Sarpy, who is trying to get a saloon located at Fort Crook. It is understood when the bill is taken up to committee of the whole Gates will endeavor to amend it so that he can get that saloon at Fort Crook.

With the exception of a few saloon keepers and their henchmen no one is urging the passage of the bill. Those who oppose the saloon insist the bill is so vicious that all people who care or decency should oppose it, while those who are interested in the liquor traffic in a wholesale way realize that if the bill becomes a law it will precipitate a prohibition fight which might result disastrously to one of the state's big industries.

Several members of the sifting committee said they did not realize what the bill was when it was brought up in the committee owing to considerable excitement existing at that time over other measures.

THOUGHT ROAST WAS DUE

Hardin Expressed Opinion of the Irrigation Board.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, April 2.—(Special.)—The special committee which reported the water power of the state and recommended the attorney general be instructed to proceed to cancel franchises or grants issued to power companies, and which severely condemned the State Board of Irrigation for "giving away" the best water powers of the state, is in rather bad at this particular time. The report shows the committee knew nothing about the work of the irrigation board or the irrigation laws and neither did the committee summon a member of the irrigation board or the attorney general to arrive at the facts in the case.

Attorney General Grant Martin and Representative Hardin, a member of the committee had a discussion about the report today. Mr. Martin asked Mr. Hardin why he hadn't come to him and secured some facts from the record.

"Haven't you given away these franchises?" asked Hardin.

"No," replied the attorney general.

"Haven't you given away the best water power sites in the state, to eastern capitalists?" asked Hardin.

"No sir, we haven't given anything to eastern capitalists," replied Mr. Martin.

"The law will not permit us to give away these sites, or to give water grants," continued Mr. Martin.

"We are operating under the law which you people passed and those hearings we had during the spring and summer were devoted to the question whether we should cancel some permits issued for the use of water. Had your committee looked over our records and read the laws possibly your report would have been different."

Mr. Hardin, though not denying he knew nothing about the law or what the irrigation board had really done, told Mr. Martin he believed the board should have been more severely condemned, which gives a good idea of how much consideration and how much prejudice enter into the decisions of an important question by some intelligent members of this house.
