FILIPINOS HAVE THE FEVER

Base Balls Better Than Bullets in Subjugating Wild-Eyed Tribes.

ARE EVEN BECOMING 'FANS'

Islanders, Once Blood Thirsty, Now Happy in Watching for a Long Single in the Last of the Ninth.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Base ball is doing more than bullets toward subjugating the warlike tribes of the Philippines, according to Elwood S. Brown, physical director of the Young Men's Christian association at Manila, who arrived from the orient today.

"Times that a few years ago thought of little else than an opportunity to slash the American soldier with machetes are now trading their weapons for balls and bats and even the head hunters of northern Luzon promise to become fans."

Just Like Americans. "Far in the interior of the islands," said Mr. Brown, "the natives, clad in their loin cloths, are playing the game. Recently a company of constabulary landed on Jolo island, and as they were making camp they heard through the jungle an awful uproar. The soldiers, believing a village was being butchered, seized their guns and crept toward a clearing whence came the noise.

"There they saw 1,000 natives dancing about and yelling their hardest. A little brown man was running madly toward a palm leaf that marked first base and another, afterwards identified as a chief, was telling the crowd that the 'hit was fair.' "Only a few years ago this chief had given the constabulary a lot of trouble. A visit to his shack showed that among his prized possessions were the photographs of some of the big league players.

"The entire younger generation of the Philippines is 'base ball crazy.' The American soldiers who introduced the game in the islands did their country a great service."

LIKELY TO LAND PLACE AS UTILITY INFIELDER.

CLYDE W. NEFF.

Clyde W. Neff, an infielder, was the only man in the Nebraska State league last season to go through the year without missing a single game. He has been a professional second baseman for three years, starting out with his home club of Seward in the Nebraska State league in 1910, batting at a .72 clip and leading the league in fielding. He was with Seward in 1911 and 1912 also, batting .59 and .34, respectively, and ranking second in fielding among the second basemen of the circuit. Clyde is 24 years of age, stands about five feet eight inches tall and when in condition weighs 160 pounds. He has been overweight all spring and this has handicapped him in his work, but he believes that two weeks of hard work, with warm weather, will put him in fine shape for the opening—if he should stick. The regular infield positions seem to be ably filled at this time, so Neff probably will have to fight it out with Scanlon for the utility job.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENTS UP

Senate and House Both Face Constitutional Changes.

SCORES OF PETITIONS FILED

Reception of Yesterday in Marked Contrast with the Riotous Scenes of March Third.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Formal resolutions proposing constitutional amendments giving women the right to vote today were introduced in both houses of congress, together with scores of petitions and memorials from various societies and individuals. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon and Representative Mondell of Wyoming introduced the constitutional amendment resolution in their respective houses.

Five hundred women, representing every congressional district, armed with petitions commanding a constitutional amendment for woman's suffrage, marched to the capitol and delivered their demands in person to their congressmen. There was marked contrast with the disorderly scenes which attended the suffrage pageant here on March 3.

When the procession reached the interior of the capitol building, Miss Alice Paul, who headed it, was greeted by Representative Bryan of Washington, who hailed the marchers long enough to make an address of welcome.

Inside the rotunda, a party of senators greeted the women. Among them were Senators Brady, La Follette, Jones, Shafroth, Poindexter, Townsend, Sutherland and Thomas.

As each of the women passed, the senators shook hands and assured them that they were in favor of the fight and would support the measure that is to be introduced in congress.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

New Turn in the Local Campaign Causes Amusement.

O'SULLIVAN TO CLEAN UP TOWN

Seventh Ward Election Officials Tell of Gillin's Activity at the Polls on Election Day.

Attorney E. D. O'Sullivan, Gillin's candidate for city attorney, has announced his budding ambition to clean up South Omaha. The announcement caused no little amusement, for the real fight in South Omaha is the effort of the republicans and the reputable democrats to clean up the Hooter-Gillin combine and gang rule in the Magic City. O'Sullivan only recently came to the scene from Omaha and is quite enthusiastic in his ambition.

In an effort to cover up the work of the Gillin slate in the Seventh ward, the gang now turns itself under a thin veil to the betterment of some of the election officials of the Seventh ward.

Here are the facts as told by two members of the election board in the first precinct of the Seventh ward. Lester Murphy, a republican and for years a member of the board, acted as chairman last Tuesday. He says:

"There was no trouble until Gillin sent for a member of the board and gave him orders. Then the man came back and asked to count the votes.

"As chairman, I told him not only to count them, but to recount them as well. I was the only republican on the board and there were three democrats. Gillin was around all day. He was working for O'Sullivan. As to the marking of the ballots, I made it my business to inspect them carefully and they indicate an attempt to destroy votes for Sam Winter, rather than anything else. I was born and raised in South Omaha and the people of the Seventh ward know me."

Murphy got into trouble with Gillin some months ago, when he refused to lend his name to some Gillin movement. He is popular with the young men of the city, regardless of party affiliations.

Fred Schmidt, a democrat, a member of the board and for years a Gillin supporter, said: "Gillin was in the polling place most of the time. He was talking votes for O'Sullivan. I had to threaten him in order to put a stop to his annoyance. I called him when he interfered with the management of the board. Later I had to tell him that he must stand away from the ballot table like everyone else."

It is merely a fight between elements of gang rule and the supporters of decent, clean government. The attempt to draw the name of A. H. Murdock into their fight is a failure. Murdock is a republican who ran for city attorney and was defeated for the nomination. He is behind the republican ticket, according to his own statement, and has nothing in common with the Hooter-Gillin-O'Sullivan slate.

Howard Explains Position.

Methods used by so-called gangsters of South Omaha in political warfare are evidenced in the following statement:
