

BATTLE AGAINST MALARIA

Drainage Congress Discusses Relation of Swamps to Disease.

DR. EVANS MAKES ADDRESS

Physician Says Extinction of Mosquitoes Will Add Ten Dollars to Value of Every Acre of Southern Land.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—The delegates to the National Drainage congress began today the work of organizing the various local drainage boards and committees into a national drainage federation.

While the congress was waiting for the report, it heard an address by Frank R. Knight of Chicago on "The Business Man's Interest in Flood Protection."

Colonel W. E. Piper of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee of the National Fraternal congress, spoke today on the interest of fraternal insurance orders in drainage, as it affects actuarial tables of longevity.

The executive committee was not ready to report its plan for the creation of a national department of public works under the supervision of a cabinet member.

The committee has not yet reached an agreement as to what branches of the government service should be placed under the new department.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, spoke this afternoon on "The Reclamation of North Carolina Swamp Lands."

Dr. Evans of Chicago said malaria could be annihilated in the south by fighting mosquitoes, draining swamps, educating the people to sleep behind screens and distributing quinine to those who could not buy it.

fighting mosquitoes, draining swamps, educating the people to sleep behind screens and distributing quinine to those who could not buy it. He said that the extinction of the mosquito would add $10 to the value of every acre of land in the south, and under anti-malarial conditions the 1000 corn crop would be doubled.
