MARCH CIRCULATION:
52,544
State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, ss:
I, Dwight Williams, circulation manager of The Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, says that the average daily circulation for the month of March, 1913, was 52,544.

As a musical center, too, Omaha need take no back seat.
The price of Missouri mules is soaring, says the Kansas City Journal. Still they kick.

Little Montenegro and little Japan manage to make a lot of trouble for their big brother nations.
Though Secretary Bryan cannot approve of California's legislation, he must like it for its grapes.

James J. Hill has invested $15,000,000 in steamships. He is not likely to lose his money, either.
The governor of Oklahoma pardoned a legless man, knowing his feet would never lead him astray.

Bryan in a New Role.
Secretary Bryan's mission to California presents him in a new role, and one which the people have not heretofore often seen him play.

Better Local Train Service.
The Bee seconds the motion for a concerted move to secure better local train service for Omaha.

As a result of The Bee's vigorous protest upon the removal of the Burlington offices last January, a committee of Omaha business men was given practical authority to revise the train schedules of that road for the purpose of accommodating our needs.

The Obscene Song.
The National Federation of Musical Clubs is engaged in a movement to direct the attention of municipal authorities over the country to the vile songs and other objectionable forms of entertainment upon the stage and elsewhere depending upon obscenity or immoral suggestion for favor.

The Tariff and the Party.
"I am sending you under separate cover copy of the tariff bill as now before the house and as it will be passed," says the letter of a democratic congressman.

There is one disadvantage to the party of the first part in Ty Cobb's surrender—it removes him from the political limelight.
Orlie McManigal proposes to go somewhere and begin life over again. Hundred to one he does not go to Indianapolis.

The presumption is that our Congressman Lebeck again answered "prose" when the teacher called the roll the next day.
Evidently, the Californians do not dislike the Japs' money as much as the Japs, themselves, or there would be no land controversy.

Just think what nice things Mr. Hearst might be saying to Mr. Bryan now if the Nebraska had only nominated Clark instead of Wilson.
"The word 'probe,'" says an exchange, "should be put away on the shelf with the 'dull thud' and the 'lurid glare.'" Also the "jone bandit" and "pretty 16-year-old."

Nearly one hundred new alumni of Creighton university. Few appreciate the magnitude and influence of this great and growing educational institution.
The mayor of Kansas City was asked to select ten of the best looking babies in town, but politely side-stepped. That is an unfair advantage to take of the mayor, anyway.

Looking Backward
This Day in Omaha
COMPILED FROM BEE FILES
APRIL 30.

Thirty Years Ago—
The friends of Roosevelt hall rejected a proposition made by Fremont for its removal to that city. A counter offer by Judge Woolworth of five acres of land on the beautiful elevation just west of Hanscom park as a new site was accepted and it was voted to proceed at once to put up the first wing of a $90,000 building at the cost of $30,000.

Twenty Years Ago—
Swedish republicans filled Schiltz hall in the evening; where Mayor Frank E. Moore, Edward Rosewater, E. J. Connelley and W. J. Connell spoke for the republican city ticket, headed by Mayor Moore.

Twenty Years Ago—
Ezra Krupp appeared to best advantage in the farce "The Pair of Kings" at the Farnam Street theater, which was crowded to the doors. Mr. Kendall was pronounced as entertaining as of old and the rest of the cast was strong.

People Talked About
The country is safe. Detroit remains on the map. Ty Cobb has signed up.
Nan Patterson that was, and who was tried some years ago in New City for the murder of Caesar Young, is now Mrs. Sumner Prescott of Seattle.

Alfred Henry Adams, Jr. of Whitney, Cal., is perhaps the youngest musical genius in the country. He is only 14 years old and yet is an expert organist and a composer of classical music.

Grape Juice
Chicago Tribune: No national diplomat will give his tipple at Mr. Bryan's dinner parties. That excellent man will let the life of the gathering and the Demon Rum will not have to work at his levers to get the convivial spirit sufficiently elevated.

Anvil Sparks
A man can be a friend of humanity and an enemy of himself.
A philanthropist, child, is a man who gives his money away to the people he did not take it from.

Omaha's Municipal Credit.
Omaha's municipal credit is not what it ought to be.
Omaha city bonds do not command the price in the money market that they ought to command in comparison with the bonds of other cities in Omaha's class.

Reactionary Methods.
Chicago Tribune.
The old-fashioned mother who spanked one of the "striking" school pupils of Pittsburgh in the presence of his marching comrades is no convert to modern educational theory.

Twice Told Tales
A Smashing Retort.
In the May American Magazine Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo, O., writing his autobiography, tells the following story about Mayor Sam Jones of Toledo, known as "Golden Rule" Jones.

Who is to Blame? Fight it Out.
LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—To the Editor of The Bee: Under date of March 29 there appeared in The Bee an article under the caption:
GRAFT IN GLASS DISCLOSED
All Dealers are Holding up the Poor Suffering from Cynicism.

Revenge.
James, 4 years old, had been naughty to the point of evoking a whipping from his long suffering mother, and all day long a desire for revenge rankled in his little bosom.

Entertaining the Parson.
They were entertaining the minister at dinner, and after the dessert had been eaten little Johnny said: "Won't you have another piece of pie, Mr. Hobbs?"

Editorial Siftings
Brooklyn Eagle: You've got to hand it to the Honorable Tom Marshall for being the best voice-president we ever had.

Questions the Commercial High.
OMAHA, April 29.—To the Editor of The Bee: No doubt you have noticed the newspaper item a few days ago, stating that the public commercial high school is about to finish sixty pupils in the two-year course in business training.

Around the Cities
St. Paul has plans to build a municipal artificial ice plant.
New York reports sixty-one cases of bomb throwing in four months.

SUNNY GEMS.
I see how why it takes you so long to shave. I've been watching you.
"Well?"
"You make a lot of hideous faces at yourself while you're doing it, and every face, of course, requires a separate shave."—Chicago Tribune.

SIMPLIFIED SIMPLICITY.
S. E. Kiesler in Record-Herald.
My wife and me ain't never even tasted of champagne!
I never seen no 50-hat on Sairy Jane; I never do no shavin', but just let my whiskers grow.
