ANOTHER RAIN TO AID CROPS

Entire State Given a Thorough Drenching Thursday Night.
DOWNPOUR EXTREMELY HEAVY
South Platte, Where It Was of the Greatest Benefit, is Covered at All Points and Farmers Are Happy.

Nebraska crops were given another boost Thursday and the growing winter wheat was kept in 100 per cent class by a general rain that, according to reports sent into the railroad general offices, visited every portion of the state with the exception of a strip twenty-five to thirty miles along the Missouri river.
As a rule the rain was a gentle downpour, continuing from five to eight hours, though in some localities it became torrential, the precipitation reaching three inches. There was no section of the state that was suffering on account of lack of moisture. In the extreme west the ground was dry on top, but down an inch or so, it was wet enough to have carried along the crop for several days. However, the rain is considered timely and experts are of the opinion that it practically assures a bumper crop of small grain and will put the ground in perfect condition for corn planting that will be in full swing next week.

TEST WATER BOARD'S POWER

Legal Proceedings to Be Started Tuesday Before Judge Troup.
AGREED TO START AT ONCE
City Waives All Service and Consents to Take Up Case Without Delay—Both Attorneys Ready.

Legal proceedings to determine whether or not the Water board has power to collect "exorbitant rates" to charge 2 cents per front foot for laying private mains, to create water districts and to sell meters at a substantial profit will begin in district court Tuesday morning before Judge Troup and two other district judges.
Judge Ben R. Baker, city corporation counsel, and Attorney John L. Webster, attorney for the Water board, have agreed to begin suit at once, the city waiving all service and agreeing to take the case up without delay.
To Start Battle Tuesday.
This action follows the introduction before the city commission of a resolution by Councilman Thomas McGovern instructing the legal department to start such proceedings. The resolution was deferred until Monday, but under the presumption that it will pass, as the councilmen appear to unanimously favor it, the attorneys for the city and the Water board have arranged to join in battle Tuesday.
To insure the concentration of the best judgment of the court on the subject Judge Troup was asked to call to his assistance two other judges. Whether or not the decision of these judges, if unanimous, would end the litigation the attorneys will not say, but the case will be fought before them in every phase.
