ISS JULIA NAGL returned home yesterday after a successful tour of the eastern states as leading woman in the eastern company, entire education in Omaha and at the state university. While she was in the Omaha High school and also at the university, Miss Nagi had prominent roles in all of the school theatricals. Besides this she was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa for scholarship.

the will rest in Omaha until August 1, and then return to New York to start rehearsals for the new play.

It is a stage superstition, that one must not give the name of a new play to the public until the rehearsals are well under way and the managers are themselves satisfied with everything and everyone concerned. Miss Nagi had an interview last week with Dr. Broadhurst, author of "Bought and Paid For," and he was much interested in her work and

Asks City Cancel Taxes on Home Hit by the Tornado

James F. Gilligan, 4252 Harney street, has asked the city commission to cancel taxes on property destroyed by the tornado. Gilligan's taxes amount to $211.93 His home was completely destroyed. This is the first case of its kind that has come before the city commission. Others are looked for and the council will ask the city legal department what course can be followed under the circumstances.

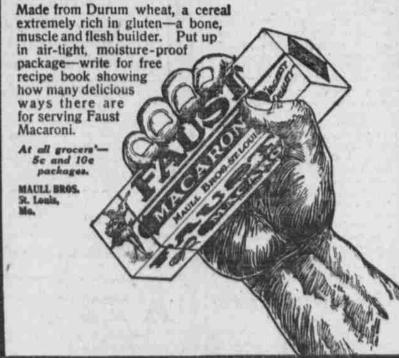

ADVERTISING TAKEN UP

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor for an advertiser to misrepresent his wares was placed on its first and second readings by the city commission. The theater has resulted in the return of a city legal department said such an ordiamond pin lost there two weeks ago dinance would not be in conflict with the by Mrs. George I. Gilbert. The pin was statutes. The As club crafted the ornance, which covers the provisions in a law passed by the recent legislature.
