Remarkable Purchase of 600 Women's Afternoon Dresses and Gowns, Made of Rich Silks and Worth up to $35, Your Choice $12.50

From one of New York's most prominent wholesale dressmakers we purchased the greatest assemblage of stunning silk dresses ever secured by a western house at the height of the season. This purchase comprised practically the entire stock on hand of this noted designer of exquisite apparel. Although every costume is a beautiful and authentic example of newest style, our cash offer induced the maker to sell to us at a price representing barely one-half the actual value of the merchandise in the market today. Many extreme novelty effects for mid-summer wear. Think of the rare opportunity this presents to the women in need of a dainty summer gown for afternoon affairs, for luncheons, for receptions, for bridge parties, for evening affairs and for street wear, as well! Every garment is an individual creation, faultless in style and harmony of color. The variety is almost unlimited. The materials in these dresses are silk charmeuse, crepe de chine, messaline, voile, crepe meteor, marquisette, radium, bengaline and tafeta silks. The colors are the Balkan blue, American beauty, Kelley green, apricot, chartreuse, Dorothy blue, Nell rose, purple, maize, pearl, taupe, blacks, white and combinations of contrasting shades now in such high favor.

Any woman who would appreciate a charming frock for dressy summer wear will find a genuine saving of $10 to $20 in this sale. Some of these silk costumes were made to sell at $20—some at $25—some at $30 and a few as high as $35 each.
