York Fans Roused By Superior's Wins

YORK, Neb., June 11.—(Special Telegram.)—To the Sporting Editor of the Bee: It seems strange that Superior should win every game in the state league on the home grounds. However, we appreciate the fact that the president of the state league lives at Superior. If we were going to have a horse race or dog fight and selected our own judges we would naturally expect to win.

This may not apply to baseball however. But it does look strange to the teams of the state league. If Mo. Felt does not understand this I wish he would answer in the columns of the paper and we will tell him a few things that we know him to be a party to in this business.

WOMAN SPECTATOR IS SHOT

Seven Wounded by Bullets During Massachusetts Riot.

SEVERAL OFFICERS ARE HURT

Industrial Workers of the World Start Trouble by Accosting Leaders—Guns Fired from Nearby Houses.

LONDON, June 11.—The house of commons was shot and killed, several other persons were wounded by bullets and many others, including several policemen, were hurt by flying missiles in a strike riot outside the Ipswich hosier mills tonight. Fifteen persons, including leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, were arrested.

The woman killed was Nicoletta Paudolepoulo, aged 27, a spectator of the fight. Five of the wounded were hurried to the Sales' hospital in an automobile. They were placed upon operating tables before their names had been learned.

An appeal for help was sent to Salem and eighteen officers were rushed here in automobiles. Order had been restored, however, before their arrival. The actual fighting did not last more than five minutes.

Pickets Hunt Trouble.

The trouble started when pickets of the Industrial Workers of the World, who have conducted a strike against the hosier mills for seven weeks to gain an increase in wages, interfered with the 500 English speaking employes as they left the mills tonight. The thirty policemen on duty tried to protect the employes, but could not restore order.

Bricks and bottles began to fly as the police charged the mob. According to spectators, shots were fired from two tenement houses overlooking the scene, occupied by mill hands. Officers in the street began firing and the mob broke and fled.

Several victims of bullets were stretched on the pavements. Blood was trickling down the faces of many of the officers where broken bottles and bricks had hit them.

Caught in Crowd.

Miss Paudolepoulo was removed to a physician's office where she died. Physicians said she had been shot through the top of the head. The girl was leaving her room in another mill, when, attracted by the crowd in front of the Ipswich mill, she walked down the street to see what was the matter. She was caught in the rush of the crowd and before she could get away, was shot down.

While five of the injured were hurried to Salem for hospital treatment, three others were taken care of by local physicians for bullet wounds.

Pacific Express Takes Coast Fruit

After Monday next the Pacific Fruit express will handle the routing of all of the fruit coming from the Pacific coast country. This amounts to about 8,000 cars annually and heretofore has been taken care of by the freight claim office of the Union Pacific railroad company. The change in handling the fruit from the coast is made to facilitate the shipments and get them through Omaha and on to destination in the shortest possible time. It is figured out that a car of fruit should be transferred from the Union Pacific to any of the other yards in two hours. Heretofore, owing to the unwinding of red tape, it has taken longer.

Pacific Fruit express and officials of the different roads have completed a tour of the railroad yards in the city and have about worked out a scheme for the quick handling of fruit cars and it has been found many delays can be cut out, thus permitting cars to be hurried on to destination.

Dr. H. P. Jensen, Pioneer Physician, is Called by Death

Dr. H. P. Jensen, for forty-two years a physician in Omaha, died Tuesday night at his home in the Peffer apartments after an illness of three years. Dr. Jensen, a native of Denmark, born August 24, 1844, came to this country at the age of 12 with his parents. He enlisted in the first volunteers of Nebraska at the age of 18 in which regiment he served three years until mustered out. He then enlisted in the regular army and spent two years on the frontier. On leaving the army he went into the drug business before entering college. He entered Ann Arbor college and finally graduated from the Long Island Medical college, N. Y.

He was engaged in active practice for forty years, at first a general practitioner, afterwards a specialist in electric therapeutics. He was brilliantly educated and always a pioneer in medical discoveries. He was the first to introduce the fever thermometer and the x-ray in Nebraska. He was the only person to bring the priceless radium to Omaha and was one of three in the United States to hold radium in any quantity.

Dr. Jensen held the chair of materia medica in Creighton university; was professor in the Omaha Medical college, and was consulting physician for the Union Pacific. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. G. W. Todd and Mrs. H. A. Rapke, and one son, Dr. Robert P. Jensen. The funeral, which will be private, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday with interment at Forest Lawn cemetery, Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints' church, officiating.

About the middle of July they will journey from New York to Liverpool, where, after a short visit in the home of the suffragette, they will make a brief jaunt to the continent. As things are shaping themselves now, the Vizzards will probably set out on Friday, the 13th.

Realty Men Opposed to Passage of the New Dollar Gas Bill

Opposition to the passage of the dollar gas ordinance was voiced in a resolution adopted by the Real Estate exchange at its weekly meeting. W. T. Graham, chairman of the public-service committee, made a report on the proposed ordinance declaring it was a tricky concoction to get something over on the people. He pointed out what he said was a deliberate attempt to mislead the public in a newspaper clipping of the proposed ordinance. "No value shall be placed which shall not be considered," he cited as a double negative which meant that any value could be placed for the purchase price of the gas bill by the city.

W. H. Green objected to there being no quality of gas specified in the ordinance. He said his gas stove at home had been supplied by a three-quarter inch pipe, but that he had had to take it out and put in an inch pipe to get enough heat for cooking. By the expiration of the proposed franchise, he said, he would probably have to install a sewer? John L. McCague declared he thought there was no necessity for granting a twenty-five-year franchise at the present time. He said Omaha could wait five years and then would have time to settle the gas question.

F. D. Weed said he hadn't studied the ordinance. "But Mr. Howell tells me it's bad," he added. "We should wait at least until another session of the legislature."
