

The Society Bee-Hive

By MELLIFICIA. Friday, June 13, 1913.

THE joke is on me," said a young benedict. This chap is quite decidedly against woman's suffrage, and the one fear he possesses is the fact that his young wife now and then gets just a little interested in suffrage.

A short time ago there was a campaign for suffrage and a number of attractive young women started out to get new members—both men and women—for their association. The fee was $1; the young benedict was much engrossed with a business proposition and did not understand what the young woman was saying except that she wanted a dollar. He supposed he was assisting some hospital or charity, or perhaps the Young Women's Christian association. But next day, when the suffrage literature started coming his way, together with a personal letter from a prominent suffrage leader, thanking him for his assistance, and especially for his interest in the work, as he was one of the few masculine members of the association, he realized that he was a full-fledged suffragist.

His wife has quietly told most of his friends and he is being hailed as an unwilling martyr to the cause.

Matters-Morier Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Amy Lina Morier, daughter of Mrs. Edmund Morier, 1919 Greenleaf avenue, Chicago, to Mr. Thomas Matters, Jr., took place Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal church of Rogers Park, Rev. Frederick W. Oakes of Denver, uncle of the bride, reading the service.

The bride wore white hand embroidered satin, trimmed with lace and pearls, with court train. Her bridal veil of princess lace was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. John B. Pick of Sanford, Mont., sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor and wore white crepe de mètère, trimmed with princess lace, and carried a shower of white sweet peas. Miss Nau Morier, another sister, was maid of honor and wore pink messaline, trimmed with pink chifon and shadow lace. She carried pink sweet peas. The bridesmaids, the Misses Helen Matters, sister of the bridegroom; Ruth Fish of Green Bay, Wis., and Margaret Leach of Chicago, were dressed alike in pink accordion-plaited chifon gowns, with lavender chifon coats and chifon bouquets, trimmed with old-fashioned flowers. They carried old-fashioned bouquets.

Mr. Byron Stookey of Los Angeles, Cal., was best man, and Messrs. Mackey Wells of Milwaukee, Wis., Frederick Hurts of Lincoln, Harry Byrne of Omaha and Chester Dudley of Council Bluffs were ushers. Mr. Laurence Morier, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. The church was decorated with white Easter lilies and palms, and the ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother for the bridal party and immediate relatives only.

Beautiful bouquets of white peonies, white roses and green and white festoons completed the decorations in this room. Promptly at 4 o'clock Mrs. C. B. Cameron played the Lohengrin wedding march and the bridal party entered the parlor. The bride walked with her father and met the groom at the altar. Miss Ann Book, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Mr. Hans Book was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cicco. The bride wore a white silk dress trimmed in pearls and here lace draped on the right side and held in place with white satin roses. The same kind of roses also trimmed the sleeves and bodice. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her long tulle veil was in the cap fashion and held in place by smilax. The bridesmaid wore white silk embroidered voile and carried pink roses. Immediately after the ceremony the large number of guests sat down to a wedding dinner. The decorations in the dining room were pink and green, the class colors of the bride when she graduated from the Lohengrin school.
