Superior May Build Municipal Auto Shed

(Special.) At a recent meeting of the council of the city of Superior, the matter of the blockade of the streets by automobiles left near the curb was raised, and the following suggestions were made, which has given very satisfactory results today in its final trial.

All of the cars are to be run to the middle of the street at right angles to the curb, and stopped there. In this way patrons of the stores on that street can drive to the curb and unload their produce and transact such other business, and then when their car is wanted it is not blocked by other cars, and has not been in the road of other patrons of the store.

FACULTY MEMBERS KEEP OUT

Professors in State University Not on McBrien's List.

APPROACH CHANCELLOR AVERY

He Told Promoter that He Could Not Accept Pay for Lecturing and Others Followed His Example.

LINCOLN, June 16.—(Special.)—The puncture of the McBrien letter bureau is still the most talked of topic in the gathering places of Lincolnton, and no place more than over at the state university, where the scheme was evolved by McBrien while at the head of the university extension lecture bureau.

All the university folks, however, are congratulating themselves that none of the names of the faculty professors have appeared in the published list of suckers, which is due, perhaps, more to the caution of Chancellor Avery than to any foresight of McBrien's associates, who are not adverse to taking money for lectures when they can get it legitimately.

Faculty Members Cautioned. The attitude taken by the chancellor toward McBrien's allurements in some way got whispered around the faculty, and when the proposition was put up to them, as it was to most of them, why, of course, they could hardly go in unless the chancellor did, and when he got the name of Chancellor Avery on his list, they would be pleased to have him come back.

Others whose names were inscribed upon the McBrien roll of fame are kept constantly explaining. Among them Don L. Love, reformer, former mayor, and late defeated candidate for city commissioner, insists that while he signed the contract, he was too wary to give any notes for advance commission, and thinks he should not be included in what is known as the "Josh list."

Anti-Removalists Will Make Statement

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., June 16.—(Special.)—Senator Reynolds, removal member of the committee selected to prepare statements of costs of removal or extension of the University of Nebraska on the downtown site, did not get home yesterday as contemplated.

The downtown members of the committee requested that he stay over until today and they would try to formulate a statement for the removal of the matter. The publicity which has been given their stand for extension, in the Bee, or more properly putting it, their lack of a stand, has opened their eyes to the fact that they can not hoodwink the people on this proposition any longer and that they have got to make some kind of a move in order to show that they really have anything to show for the matter.

Senator Reynolds said this morning they had finally told him they would prepare a statement sometime this week and that it would be mailed to him.

Insurance Agent Accused of Dishonest Methods

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., June 16.—(Special.)—After a long hunt in an effort to locate W. C. Dart, an agent of the North American Accident company, he was apprehended in Lincoln Saturday evening.

Dart has been sailing under several aliases among them "W. T. Carey," "A. H. Smith," and "H. Davis," and has been soliciting insurance under those names. The attention of the department was first brought to his work in 1911 and in 1912 the company under which he was working at that time cancelled his right to act as their agent.

Since the inauguration of the present auditor, Mr. Howard, his attention was called to Dart's work at Havelock and he at once called the attention of the Northwestern company to it. They responded that they had received a few policies sent in by Dart, but none of them contained any remittances and they asked the auditor to allow the policies to stand that the holders might not lose on account of the dishonest work of the agent and the wishes of the company were respected.

Later they notified Auditor Howard that Dart under the name of W. T. Carey had written several policies in North Platte, Crete, and Fairbury.

Railway Commission Sets Time for Wire Hearing

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 16.—(Special.)—The railway commission has set September 3 at 3 a. m. as the time for hearing the application of the Western Union Telegraph company, for a suspension of the operation of the Stebbens' telegraph rate bill.

The company claims that the lower rate of 2 cents to any point in the state for a ten-word message is below the cost of transmission and expense of the company necessary to keep up the business.

"When is Humane Officer Humane?" Asks an Old Cabby

"When is a humane officer humane?" asks R. Tucker, one hackman who has survived the tide of taxis and "autos for hire." Tucker says he turned his team facing uphill on Farnam street and along came a humane officer and informed him that he was facing the wrong way.

"Go on," said Tucker. "Then the humane officer flashed a 'big star' and Tucker turned his team facing down the hill.

"Some humane officer," said Tucker, "making these poor horses stand with their heads down hill. Huh!"

A city commissioner who was passing told Tucker to turn the horses the other way, but the hackman, thinking of the humane officer's star, refused. The commissioner explained to the hackman that the humane officers were also traffic officers and suggested that perhaps the humane officer gave a "traffic order" and not a humane edict.
