William S. Ripley Seriously Injured by Fall Into Ditch

William S. Ripley, employed in the composing room of The Bee, met with a serious accident Monday night, when he was thrown out of a buggy into an open ditch fifteen feet deep.

Together with three companions, Raymond Castle, of Chicago, J. H. La Violett, 1200 Burr street, and Oscar Cain, 2015 Brown street, they were driving north on Twenty-ninth street, near Sahler, and falling to head the red danger lights at the excavation, drove the horse into it. Ripley was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was found that he was badly bruised and also internally injured.

The horse had become wedged in the hole about ten feet down, but was pulled out with the aid of apparatus from fire station, No. 11, where a call for help had been sent. The animal was found to be so badly injured that it had to be shot.

Castel and La Violett were later arrested and charged as suspicious characters, while Cain is charged with stealing the horse and buggy from a Mr. Aimes, 1710 Webster street.

"When is Humane Officer Humane?" Asks an Old Cabby

"When is a humane officer humane?" asks R. Tucker, one hackman who has survived the tide of taxis and "auto for hire." Tucker says he turned his team facing uphill on Farnam street and along came a humane officer and informed him that he was facing the wrong way.

"Go on," said Tucker. Then the humane officer flashed a "big star" and Tucker turned his team facing down hill.

"Some humane officer," said Tucker, "making these poor horses stand with their heads down hill. Huh!" A city commissioner who was passing told Tucker to turn the horses the other way, but the hackman, thinking of the humane officer's star, refused. The commissioner explained to the hackman that the humane officers were also traffic officers and suggested that perhaps the humane officer gave a "traffic order" and not a humane edict.

J. P. Rainey, clerk in the establishment, who was caught by Assistant County Attorney Noble, Jr., while selling the drug to 17-year-old Walter Jensen, was also fined $100 and costs.

The money was paid to Clerk of the Court Tom O'Connor, and, with other fines, summed up a total of close on to $1,000. O'Connor, fearing a repetition of the recent safe robbery, took the money to the bank immediately after court.

Costly Treatment. "I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines of Whitlow, Ark. I used them for some time and am now all right." For sale by all druggists.—Advertisement.

NEWSPAPERS BEST MEDIUMS

Victor White Reports Such is Decision of Ad Convention.

MORE BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED Says that Convention is Now of a More Serious Nature Than Was Formerly the Case at the Annual Meetings.

"Newspaper advertising brings home the bacon." That was the consensus of opinion of the delegates to the national convention of the Advertising Clubs of America at Baltimore, Victor White told the Omaha Ad club at a meeting at the Paxton hotel. "We went over the whole field of advertising," he said, "magazine, billboard, mail and all the rest and finally met the fact that the most effective medium in a general advertising campaign is the newspaper."

White made a comprehensive report of the doings of the Omaha delegates at the Baltimore convention. He said the small delegation from this city was as conspicuous as any of the larger club delegations.

The national conventions are becoming more and more serious, he said, and the change in the policy of the national association in conducting conventions had been changed from pleasure propositions to strict business by the precedent established when Omaha entertained the national body. There was little boasting of individual cities at the convention, he declared, and probably henceforth the business advertising of individual localities at the conventions would grow steadily into bad form.

The Omaha Ad club elected the following officers and directors at the meeting: President, Robert Manley; vice president, Harry E. Mahaffey; secretary, Charles R. Docherty; treasurer, O. T. Eastman; recorder, Alfred I. Crygier; directors, R. O. Babcock, N. J. Baker, Frank C. Bullita, Z. D. Clark, W. G. Cleveland, Thomas R. Coleman, W. E. Corey, Charles E. Duffie, Paul P. Fudrea, George H. Gillespie, E. A. Higgins, Harry G. Kelly, Thomas S. Kelly, A. D. Klein, John Mellen, George Fray, Sid Ranger, Samuel Rees, Jr., Walter Rosicky, A. C. Scott, Victor White, L. M. Whitehead and E. E. Zimmerman.

Five men received like numbers of votes for the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth place on the directorate. The elected board will choose two of the five at a meeting Friday.

Federal Officials Start Fight Against Hog Cholera in Iowa

DES MOINES, June 17.—(Special.)—First serious effort to make a complete eradication of hog cholera from any one county is to be made by the federal and state authorities in Dallas county, commencing next month. Dr. James I. Gibson, state veterinarian, today announced the first work will be in Dallas county and gave out the following formal statement in regard to the plans:

Under a special appropriation of $75,000 made by congress "for demonstrating the best method of preventing and eradicating hog cholera," the United States Department of Agriculture has undertaken practical experiments in combating this disease. The appropriation becomes available July 1, and work will be begun first in Dallas county, Iowa, and will be taken up later in Indiana and one or two other states. In Iowa the work will be done in co-operation with the state veterinarian and the Iowa state college.

A few years ago the bureau of animal industry of the Department of Agriculture, after years of experimentation, developed a serum which has been demonstrated by repeated tests to be very effective in preventing hog cholera. In many states this serum has been prepared and distributed to farmers with the result that large sums of money have been saved by the method. But thus far no systematic effort has been made to eradicate hog cholera. In the work which is now being begun the control and eradication of the disease will be the main object, the serum being used in connection with the necessary quarantine and education measures.

In the work in Dallas county representatives of the state college and the bureau of animal industry will make a survey of the county, estimating as closely as possible the losses from hog cholera during the previous years, and securing the names and addresses of the owners. Through lectures and demonstrations at farmers' meetings and by personal interview they will also explain to the farmers the object and nature of the work.

The state veterinarian will issue and enforce such restrictive regulations as may be deemed necessary, after conference with federal officials, to prevent the spread of the disease. The bureau of animal industry will prepare and apply the serum and will undertake to control each outbreak of hog cholera existing in the county at the time the work begins, and also such subsequent outbreaks as may arise during the year. The serum treatment is preventive rather than curative, and will be administered on infected farms and on neighboring farms with a view to checking and preventing the spread of the infection.

FLORENCE ENJOINED TWICE

Two Restraining Orders Against the Mayor and Council.

Another Order is to Stop the Laying of Five Miles of Sidewalk on the Plea that Contract Letting is Illegal.

As the result of illegal proceedings, two restraining orders were issued against the mayor and city council of Florence Monday by Judge Day. The enforcement of two ordinances recently passed is forbidden until a hearing in the case has been held.

Elijah P. Davis asks that the council be prohibited from passing any ordinance appropriating any sum of money in excess of the amount that can be realized upon the taxable property for general purposes, or for current expenses for the year 1913. He asserts that the city council during the fiscal year of 1912 and up to May, 1913, has expended and drawn warrants on the general fund in the sum of $4,752, and that the total amount that can be collected and applied for general purposes does not exceed the sum of $3,300. Therefore he asserts that the council cannot call for another tax levy.

Contention of Petitioner. Mr. Davis in his petition says that $1,000 was used for judgment purposes and that the city council purposes to levy a tax to pay the $1,000, which should be paid out of the general fund.

Will H. Thompson asserts that the mayor and city council ordered five miles of concrete sidewalk and asks that the council be restrained from laying it. According to his petition two members of the council were in favor of letting the contract for the laying of the sidewalk, and two opposed, and the mayor cast the deciding vote in favor of letting the contract, which procedure he asserts is illegal.

Many Firms to Tell Why Assessments Should Not Be More

One hundred and fifty business firms of Omaha were summoned to appear before the board of equalization to explain why their assessments on personal property should not be raised. The list included all the hotels of the city, all the wholesale houses, in addition to the grocery establishments which already have been cited, all dry goods stores and all lumber and coal dealers.

Representatives of wholesale grocery houses had hearings before the board. Action was postponed until all these firms shall have had hearings.

DANISH SOCIETIES ASK HEARING FOR MICHAELSEN

Fifteen Danes, representing seven various Danish organizations of the city, met at Washington Hall Tuesday evening and passed a resolution to submit a formal request to the city commissioners asking for more detailed explanations of the dismissal of Waldemar Michaelsen as city electrician. They demand that Michaelsen be given a hearing and that the discussions and conclusions reached be made public.

Michaelsen says he believes that he will be able to vindicate himself and his fellow-countrymen are desirous that he be given the opportunity. The organization will present the request Thursday and hold another meeting as soon as the commissioners announce whether or not Michaelsen will be given an audience. S. F. Neble acted as chairman and I. Sibbernson as secretary.

LIMIT NUMBER OF SALOONS

Charter Builders Will Place an Absolute Mark for Licenses.

PROVIDE FOR A MERGED CITY Matter is to Be Strongly Urged in Spite of the Fife that It May Draw from Those Opposed to Plan.

An absolute limit to the number of saloons which may operate in Omaha or any merged city will be fixed by the city charter writers, judging from a provision embodied in the "consolidation" chapter of the new charter. This chapter has been reported by the general committee of five and is being considered by the entire convention.

It is provided in this chapter that the number of liquor licenses in the city of Omaha—"the maximum number as herein fixed"—shall be increased by the number in the merged city, but the number in the city so merged shall not be increased, the clause board being specifically denied the power to issue additional licenses for new locations.

Members of the convention intimate that another chapter is coming to fulfill the prophecy of the phrase "the maximum number as herein fixed" and that this chapter will establish the maximum limit for the number of saloons in Omaha, most likely within the number now holding licenses.

One of the first questions to come before the charter makers was that of the extension or restriction of the liquor traffic. Elaborate and detailed plans have been worked out by those most interested and the method employed in handling the business in several cities has been cited.

While the action of the charter commissioners in fixing a limit to the number of saloons in Omaha or any city which may be later merged with it is expected to draw fire it will be strongly urged as the sanest solution of the problem.

Try Skin Absorption Instead of Cosmetics

(From the Woman Militant.) The constant use of rouge and powder invites a coarsened, roughened condition of the skin, eruptions, enlarged pores and wrinkles. If you've learned from experience, suppose you quit cosmetics and try what I recommend. Ask your druggist for an ounce of ordinary merviolized wax and begin using this tonight. Apply like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Keep this up for a week or two. The wax will literally absorb the coarse, colorless or bluish-tinted top skin, but so gradually as not to discommode you at all. Just as gradually the clear, velvety, naturally-tinted under-skin comes to the surface. And merviolized wax becomes your everlasting friend.

For those wrinkles and large pores, make a face bath by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties, and beneficial results come quickly.—Advertisement.
