

BOYS WIN GARDEN PRIZES

Seventy Are Rewarded for Proficiency in Raising Foodstuff.

LOTHROP SCHOOL TAKES MOST

Anton Stepanek and Daniel Looker Each Win Three Prizes and Get

Membership in the Local Y. M. C. A.

Seventy boys received prizes yesterday in the boys' garden club exhibition of their produce in the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian association. There were 300 exhibits and ninety-six prizes in all. The exhibit was of onions. radiches, lettuce and beets, all raised by the boys themselves in the boys' garden club organization under the direction of P. P. Jordan, assistant boys' secretary of the Young Men's Christian association. There are thirty-two clubs, one for school of the city. Lothrop school took first prize, receiving fifteen prizes. Central Park school came second, claiming thirteen prises, and Sherman school

Ninety-six cash prizes were awarded the boys, running $1 75 cents, 50 cents and E cents. A total of $60 was paid out in this way. William Lonegran and August Prachnow, both of Florence, were the judges. Although the 800 exhibits shown this year were somewhat less than the number shown in former exhibits, the judges said that the quality was much etter than ever before, indicating that the boys are beginning to do their own judging to some extent. That is, the judges were of the opinion that the boys have arrived at the state when they can tell what of their produce will stand a show and what will not, and they con-sequently eliminate a lot of mediocre stuff before they exhibit and exhibit only that which in their judgment has

About 300 members and friends of the Zion Lutheran church gave their former pastor, Rev. J. V. Carlson, and family, a farewell reception in the church parlors Friday evening. J. A. Johanson of the board of deacons presided over the program, and on behalf of the congregation presented to Rev. Mr. Carlson a wellfilled purse us a token of the high esteem in which he and his family have been held. A beautiful set of silver salad forks from the Ladies' Aid society was also given to Mrs. Carlson as a remembrance from her many friends of the so ciety. Short speeches were also delivered by Rev. A. Hult and C. E. Elving of Omaha, Oscar Puro, Genoa, Neb., and F. O. Manson, field secretary of the English work of the Augustana synod To all of which Rev. Mr. Carlson responded in well chosen words. After the program refreshments were served.

Rev. Mr. Carlson leaves the field here to take up the work in the Swedish Latheran church of Kansas City, and will leave for his new field of activity early next week. Rev. P. M. Lindberg. superintendent of the Immanuel Deacon institute, will act as vice pastor of the congregation during the vacancy. Rev. Mr. Hanson, English field secretary, who attended the meeting, will remain a few days and plan with the officers of the congregation concerning the prospective change into an English church. As announced a few weeks ago, the congregation has already formally decided to become an English Lutheran

Nebraska Manufacturers Decide Against Stock Plan.

BOTH SIDES ARE PRESENTED

Directors Early Take Stand Which Members Endorse by Practically Unanimous Vote, in Spite of Old Line Men.

Representatives of stock company insurance found they were arguing against conviction after they had presented their side of a discussion on mutual and stock company insurance before the Nebraska and Omaha Manufacturers' associations at the monthly meeting at the Commercial club last night. The minds of the manufacturers, they found, had already been settled, and following the long discussion it was announced that the board of directors of the state organization had unanimously passed a resolution to start a mutual insurance company, which would work under the workmen's compensation and employers' Hability law which goes into effect July 17.

This resolution was put to the 300 manufacturers present and was adopted with only one opposing vote. The committee on insurance forthwith was authorized tion insurance company a certainty.

Adderley Presents Case. The arguments on the subject of mutual against stock company insurance lasted nearly three hours. J. C. Adderley of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the Ben Franklin Mutual Casualty company and secretary of the Millers' Mutual Casualty company, presented the side of the mutual proposition. He told the manufacturers how they could save money n premiums by a mutual insurance company and said the best reason for a mutual company as opposed to a stock company was that money could be saved in anagement expenses.

He said that in stock company insur-

Guy Cramer and Edwin Swohe presented the other side of the argument. They pointed out the failures in mutual insurance companies. Cramer told them that they could not make a success of a mutual company unless they were all 'dead game sports"-willing to start out in the beginning and build up a reserve fund. "If you start in to save 25 to 40 per cent in premiums," he said, "your company will be a failure."
