CHURCH FEDERATION SECONDS PROTEST OF 'FRISCO GRAND JURY

vidence submitted to two grand juries, he can as easily declare men guilty against whom there is no evidence.

"If the attorney general is to be constituted a court for the trial of facts the sooner the constitution is amended the better. If rich and influential defendants, with powerful political influence, can gain access to the ear of the attorney general and have their cases throttled and justice choked, then it is time that the American people should know it.

Political Corruption at Work.

The attorney general had before him my repeated warnings that political corruption was at work, that subornation of perjury had been practiced and that if the Caminetti-Diggs cases were continued the evidence would be destroyed and that the power of the government to convict would have disappeared. He was informed that his office would be directly charged with corruption if the cases were postponed. With absolute indifference to the rights of this office and the honor of the Department of Justice, he continued the cases until autumn.

"The president now announces that the department will be rushed in hot-footed haste to try these cases.

"Why is it necessary to hasten now when it was unnecessary to make haste a week ago? If it was right in May to tell me to proceed, it is wrong in June to tell me to stop. If it was right in June to tell me to stop, it is now wrong to say that the cases must immediately proceed.

Customs is Known.

"Today I am driven to quit this office because my self respect will not suffer delay. Tomorrow the administration will hastily proceed with the trial because it fears it will lose public respect. I was ordered to postpone 'until autumn' and resigned because I would not obey the attorney general's order to delay. Now with furious haste and the expensive attendance of some special counsel, the administration is to rush to an early trial. Some special counsel is now to be retained for a princely fee to do what my office would have been able to accomplish as a matter of official duty. The mass of evidence accumulated through months of toil may now be used to force a conviction of these guilty defendants.

"The attorney general cheerfully ordered the continuance of the case in spite of the charges of corruption in order that this office might bear the strain. He approved all the evidence against the two Western Fuel company directors, whom he now practically acquits. One of these wealthy defendants, after securing a continuance, entered his office and the evidence immediately became insufficient.

"A jury sat for ten days taking evidence, which the attorney general neither saw nor heard, yet he feared that these defendants, while innocent, were in imminent danger of conviction.

If Now, Why Not Then?

"If Commissioner Caminetti can cheerfully be spared now, why could he not be spared three days ago? If there is to be a trial, why not rush to immediate trial, to vindicate outraged justice, why was it necessary to drive a United States attorney from his office for objecting to corrupt and inexcusable delay?

"This matter has never been one of personality. It is simply a question of principle. If my resignation from office and the consequent raising of public opinion will accomplish the result of convicting the flagrant offenders against the laws of the country then I will feel that the effort has not been in vain."

Sensation in San Francisco.

The announcement from Washington that Francis J. Heney, who prosecuted the municipal graft cases in San Francisco, would be named special prosecutor by President Wilson to proceed at once with the Western Fuel and Diggs-Caminetti cases, has aroused local interest to its highest pitch since McNab sprang his bomb-like resignation. At present Mr. Heney is on a Santa Fe train somewhere between Chicago and Los Angeles westward bound.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED

Wilson Tells McNab He Releases Him Without Hesitation.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Wilson telegraphed last night to United States District Attorney John L. McNab of San Francisco accepting the latter's resignation, the form of which the president characterized "an inexcusable intimation of injustice and wrong doing" on the part of Attorney General McReynolds. In a letter to the attorney general the president exonerated him from blame and adopted Mr. McReynolds' suggestion that the Caminetti-Diggs and the Western Fuel company cases be prosecuted immediately by special counsel for the government.

White House officials announced that the president would confer with the attorney general tomorrow about the appointment of special prosecutors and that the president had in mind Francis J. Heney, progressive republican, who prosecuted the famous San Francisco graft trial; Matt J. Sullivan, democrat, who assisted Mr. Heney in the Raef trial; and Thomas Hayden, democrat, a former assistant city attorney of San Francisco. It was said that at least two of these three men and possibly all, would be selected to take charge not only of the Caminetti-Diggs white slave case, but the Western Fuel company indictments. Attorney General McReynolds' statement that he ordered a postponement of the cases as an ordinary procedure in criminal trials, without anticipating that "any fair-minded man" would attribute "a malign move" to him, was acknowledged by the president in this letter.

McReynolds for McNab.

"My Dear Attorney General—Allow me to acknowledge with sincere appreciation your letter of today giving me a full account of the way in which the Department of Justice has dealt with the Diggs-Caminetti and the Western Fuel company cases, pending in California and transmitting the documents connected with the two cases necessary for their elucidation. I am entirely satisfied that the course you took in both these cases was prompted by sound and impartial judgment and a clear instinct for what was fair and right. I approve your course very heartily and without hesitation. But I agree with you that what we may think of what has been done does not relieve us of the obligation to press these cases with the utmost diligence and energy. I approve very heartily of your suggestion that, in the circumstance, special counsel should be employed, the ablest that we can obtain. I will be very glad to confer with you about the selection. I hope that you will do this without delay. I am very glad indeed that you are giving your personal attention to the immediate and diligent prosecution of the case which I agree with you in regarding as of serious importance from every point of view. I am sincerely,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Developments Rapid.

Developments were rapid today in the situation which was precipitated by the telegram of Mr. McNab on Saturday to the president and the attorney general accusing the latter of yielding to "rich and powerful influences." In ordering a postponement of these cases, the father of one of the defendants being Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general if immigration.

The subject absorbed the cabinet meeting today and the president came to his office tonight to make public the correspondence. First the president telegraphed Mr. McNab as follows: "WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24, 1913.—John L. McNab, Esq., San Francisco, Cal.—I greatly regret that you should have acted so feverishly and under so complete a misapprehension of the actual circumstances, but since you have chosen such a course, and have given your resignation the form of an inexcusable intimation of injustice and wrong doing on the part of your superior, I release you without hesitation and accept your resignation to take effect at once.

"WOODROW WILSON."

HENEY IS NOT INFORMED

Attorney Says He Has No Word from President.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 25.—Francis J. Heney, who was in Albuquerque at noon today on the way to San Francisco, denied all knowledge of his prospective appointment as special prosecutor to conduct the Diggs-Caminetti white slave and the Western Fuel company cases at San Francisco. Mr. Heney said that he had been out of touch with his office for several days and was not familiar with the details of the controversy between former District Attorney McNab and the Department of Justice. He declined to say whether or not he would accept the position of special prosecutor were it tendered him by President Wilson. Heney declared that positively up to today he had not received any offer of appointment from the president.

Omaha Iron Worker Loses His Family Down in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special Telegram.)—Edward Neuman, who is 28 years old, whose former home was Omaha, is unable to find his wife and sister-in-law, whom he left in a four-story building somewhere near Brooklyn bridge, in Brooklyn, on Sunday night. Since he left them Neuman has been running in and out of the Brooklyn police headquarters asking the police to help him find them.

Neuman came to New York from Omaha to accept a position in Coney Island. He is an iron worker and says the position was arranged for when he left home. With his wife and sister-in-law he arrived at the Grand Central station Sunday morning and immediately started on a surface car for Brooklyn. They got off the car at Brooklyn bridge on the Manhattan side and crossed the bridge.

"We found a large four-story brick house in a quiet neighborhood and hired a room," said Neuman. "I paid for it and installed my wife and sister there and then went out to see about the job of mine. I went to Coney Island and got back all right to the courthouse, but I could not for the life of me find the house where my people were staying. This was Sunday afternoon, and from that time on I have not seen or heard from them. My wife has all my money, and I am at a loss what to do."

ELEVEN DEAD, MANY MISSING

Awful Loss of Life Attends Destruction of Buffalo Elevator.

SIXTY MEN ARE AMONG INJURED

Explosion Which Wrecked Building Is Followed by Fire—Half Million Bushels of Grain Is Burned.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25.—Official checking of the list of employees of the Husted Milling company, whose elevator was blown up by a dust explosion yesterday, shows, besides the eleven known victims, twenty-six men are still unaccounted for and are believed to be in the ruins.

These bodies were dug out of the smoldering ruins of the Husted Milling company elevator today, two more are visible in the debris and two of the victims succumbed to injuries, bringing the total of the dead list from the explosion and fire up to eleven. The bodies recovered today were so badly charred that identification was impossible.

Anthony Krueger and William Widkowski, both of whom were frightfully burned, died at the emergency hospital, and of the sixty explosion victims in the hospitals, many are so injured that recovery is not expected.

High up in a shattered cupola of the mill two companies of firemen are battling to recover two and possibly more bodies of dead men. From the upper windows of the concrete section of the elevator and from the Elk street viaduct the bodies are plainly visible. Great clouds of smoke from the burning ruins below make the recovery of the bodies difficult.

Just how many bodies are in the cupola neither the police nor the firemen are able to say with certainty. No men are at work there and it is believed those who died there fled to the tower following the explosion and were caught by the flames.

Firemen poured streams of water on the ruins all night, but the debris is piled so high that it will be days before it can be cleaned and complete search made.

Case of Explosion.

The explosion was caused by the puffing of dust accumulated in the feed house and was of frightful force, tearing out the wall of the wooden structure and breaking windows for a quarter of a mile around. John Conroy, engineer of a switch engine, was blown from his cab and received internal injuries from which he died.

Several windows in cars of a passing Nickel Plate passenger train were broken by the explosion and one of the passengers was injured.

The body of Henry Vetter was blown fifty feet and was found under a box car nearby badly burned. A boy, while running to the fire, was run over by an automobile and killed.

A dozen box cars loaded with grain were destroyed. The elevator had a capacity of 500,000 bushels. It was of old wooden construction and with its contents was totally destroyed. Officials of the company estimated their loss at $200,000, covered by insurance.
