AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Paul Chadd, Pool Hall Keeper, Arrested on Vagrancy Charge.
HAS ROW WITH ACCUSER
Patrick Bodkin, One of Well Known Characters About Magic City, Dies in Douglas County Hospital.
Paul Chadd, a pool hall keeper at Twenty-sixth and O streets, was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant for vagrancy sworn out by William Powell. Chadd has been in business in South Omaha for a long time and is well known in sporting circles. He says that the cause of the whole trouble was his request that Powell stay out of his place of business. He is said to have told one of the police commissioners that Powell promised to have him written up in one of the morning papers. Powell has no official connection with any newspaper.
Following the service of the warrant on Chadd, an altercation between him and Powell is said to have occurred at the police station. Chadd is to have been placed under peace bonds. It is likely that the case will bring out a great deal if it ever comes to trial.
Stereopticon Lecture on China.
Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church a union service of the various denominations will be held, when Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin, of Chicago, will give a stereopticon lecture on "The Chinese Puzzle and How to Solve It." Dr. and Mrs. Brad recently completed a tour of the world, and are both speaking this week at the Summer School of Missions at the University of Omaha.
Heavy Run of Hogs.
At the close of the market yesterday the receipt of 32 car loads of hogs aggregating 12,000 head were reported. This is one of the heaviest runs of hogs received in a long time at the local yards. It was said that later in the day the run would total 21,000 head. The heavy run entailed a sharp attempt to beat down prices on the part of the buyers, but the shippers held firm and gradually the prices closed on a little stronger tone.
Patrick Bodkin Dead.
Patrick Bodkin, 67 years of age, a retired traveling merchant of South Omaha, died yesterday morning at the county hospital. He was ill about six weeks and had been in the hospital only two days.
Mr. Bodkin was one of the oldest and best known characters of South Omaha, where he had lived for more than a quarter of a century. Mr. Bodkin came from Ireland fifty years ago and settled in Council Bluffs. He was for a time engaged as a clerk and road salesman, but for more than twenty-five years had operated independently as a peddler of dry goods, laces and jewelry.
About five years ago he retired and made his home on Thirtieth and F streets, where he lived alone. He was highly regarded by the old business men of the town who often trusted their stores to his care. He was a chicken fancier of note and always kept several hundred chickens about his place. He is survived by one sister who lives in Galway, Ireland.
Funeral will be held Saturday morning from Hasty's parlors to St. Bridget's church. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.
Company Offers Aid.
Relative to the death of the negro, Boney Peterson, who died in the South Omaha hospital yesterday morning, Dr. R. E. Schindler, surgeon for Armour &

McVann Smokes Hard, but His Rules Say Not in Own Office

Co., stated that his company had tended Peterson when the latter was injured last Friday. "At the time I wanted him to go to the hospital," said Dr. Schindler, "but he refused to obey. Saturday I called at his room three times in an effort to get him to accept services, but he seemed under the influence of a partner, who said he was being attended by an uptown doctor. I understood that this doctor later refused to visit Peterson when he was sent for. The company used every means to assist the man, but he seemed perversely set against us."
Falls from Street Car.
Robert Miller, 9 years old, while returning from Vacek's store yesterday afternoon, fell from a street car on Twenty-fourth street, between N and M streets, and was severely shaken. Joseph Murphy came to the lad's assistance and removed him to Larkin's office, where he was tended by Dr. F. O. Beck. Chief of Police John Briggs then took the lad to his home at Fifteenth and N streets. The boy was not seriously hurt.

FRIENDS PRAISE METCALFE

Isthmian Commissioner Guest at Complimentary Dinner.
AFFAIR ONE OF INFORMALITY
"Met" Tells of What He Hopes to Do and Others Tell of What He Has Done in Life.
"The Panama canal is not an instrument of war but an instrument of commerce," said Richard L. Metcalfe, newly appointed commissioner of the Panama canal zone, in an address to ninety friends and admirers at the Paxton hotel last night, where they gathered at a banquet to honor him and bid him good-bye. "The time comes to me not a vision of war but a vision of commerce. They talk of our enemies, but we have no enemies. And the time will come when the people will be so busy with the arts of peace that they will have no time for the tricks of war."
Mr. Metcalfe said he would go to Panama to give to the United States government the best service he had in him as he had given the same to Mr. Bryan in his work on the Commoner in the past. "When I shall have finished there," he said, "you may be able to find mistakes in my record, but I sincerely hope you shall be able to find no blot on my record as governor."
All Praise Metcalfe.
C. J. Cunningham as toastmaster, paid tribute to Mr. Metcalfe and introduced a dozen men who have been associated with him in one way or another for the last thirty years, each of whom had a good deal of fun at Mr. Metcalfe's expense in the course of their remarks, but all of whom finished with warm words of praise and earnestness.
Dr. Arthur Carr of Lincoln invited the Omaha people to attend the farewell dinner to be given to Mr. Metcalfe at Lincoln about the middle of July. Mayor James C. Dahlman reviewed some of the political battles of the past and called attention to Metcalfe's wonderful stick-to-it-iveness when the count was against the democrats in the days gone by. He finished with a tribute to the "squareness" of Metcalfe in all dealings, and even recited a poem which finished with the line, "For the biggest rogue on record respects the man whose square."
F. B. Hibbard of Irvington and W. H. Dech, two of the old populist warhorses of Nebraska's ancient history, gave the history of the populist days here and the favors they got from Metcalfe.
"They Knew Him When."
Senator John M. Tanner of South Omaha told of first meeting Metcalfe in a newspaper office years ago, when Metcalfe was broke. L. J. Quinby told what he expected of Metcalfe as governor of the Panama zone and knew he would discharge his duties with credit.
W. R. Watson, who was in the past associated with Metcalfe in the newspaper work, said he was sure Metcalfe would be in the future looked upon as one of the great governors of the zone and that he would set a pace for the future governors to follow.
Robert Cowell paid tribute to Metcalfe's fairness in politics and touched on his literary record. J. W. Woodrough said when Bryan was running for congress from Nebraska twenty-four years ago Metcalfe, in reporting his speeches for the newspapers, called the world's attention to the genius of the Nebraskan who was to be the Commoner of the future, and in this he said Metcalfe's

NURSES GRADUATE FROM SWEDISH MISSION HOSPITAL

Six nurses graduated yesterday evening from the Swedish Mission hospital training school. The following received diplomas: Jennina Petrea Jensen, Dannebroz, Neb.; Louise Emma Durethen Drexel, Omaha; Lula Ann Maxwell, Omaha; Signe Victoria Peterson, Omaha; Anna Martina Johnson, Vale, Neb.; and Blanche Ialea Carson, Omaha.
The program at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-third and Davenport streets, comprised a scriptural reading and prayer by Rev. A. Lagerquist, a song by the nurses, an address by R. A. Dodge, M. D.; a vocal solo by Miss Lillian Rylen, presentation of diplomas and class pins by Rev. J. M. Westlund, Hippocratic oath by Alvin F. Johnson and the benediction by Rev. J. M. Westlund.
Dr. Dodge pointed out the value of the work done by a nurse and emphasized the need of sincerity in the work. Many a human life depends upon the attention that a nurse gives her patient, he declared.
There was a good attendance of friends and relatives of the graduates despite the hot weather.
ADDITIONAL QUARTERS FOR COMMERCE SCHOOL
Arrangements are under way by the Board of Education for L. C. Ruesmieser, principal of the Omaha College of Commerce, to secure additional room for this school. Enrollments for next year have been in progress this week and indications are that the building will not accommodate all who have registered for studies.
During the last year four teachers held their classes in buildings across the street from the school. Very few pupils have dropped their work this year and with the new enrollment 70 students will probably enter next fall. Of these more than 30 will be eighth graders.
