HOW ABOUT RAILROAD SCALES

Government Bureau of Standards to Inspect Devices Used on Lines.

The bureau of standards, Department of Commerce, expects to begin soon after July 3 the inspection of railroad scales, starting with some of the eastern lines. This test will be made as a result of complaints from shippers as to the weights charged for by railroads, which have recently drawn attention to the necessity for some governmental supervision over railroad track scales, as well as those used by shippers doing an interstate busi-ness.

Whereas every pound of butter is weighed on a grocer's scale, which is in-spected, the railroads annually collect ap-proximately $2,000,000 from shippers on scales which belong to and are operated entirely by the roads, and over which neither the shipper nor the government has any control.

In order to obtain information that will enable the government to draw reliable conclusions as to what shall be done to guarantee the accuracy of railroad weight, and also for the purpose of aid-ing the railroads to install correct scales, the bureau of standards was allowed an appropriation of $2,000 by congress for the purchase of a test weight car equip-ment. This car will carry a set of 10,000-pound weights to test any scales up to the full capacity of any car.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Moral Effect.

"You saw me tuckey-trotting didn't you, Henry?"

"Yes, my dear."

"Well, that's exactly the way it should be done. You couldn't see anything wrong about it, could you?"

"No, my dear. Quite the contrary. In fact, I'm sure that if all the tuckey-trotters could see you doing it, nobody would ever want to dance the thing again."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEW ERA IN SOCIAL SERVICE

Charities and Corrections Conference Begins Constructive Work.

FRANK TUCKER OUTLINES PLAN

Social Justice Demands Minimum Re-lief Which No Individual or Family Should Be Expected to Make.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1.—The varied and far-reaching program of reform de-manded in the name of social service by the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, was outlined tonight by Frank Tucker, of New York, president of the conference at its fourth exhor-tive here.

Tucker said the first step in the life of the national conference has been

Mr. Tucker said, "I believe that the new era will concern itself with constructive discussion for a program to bring about the health, efficiency, hap-piness and welfare of individual, family and community. We must expect to be the melting pot from which our knowledge and ideals will flow into new programs of constructive action. Social justice demands minima below which no individual or family, fit to be a mem-ber of a community, shall be expected to exist. It puts no limit on knowledge, wealth or power, provided they are not acquired at the expense of the weaker or used for their exploitation.

Outline of Demands.

"What are these minima that social justice demands?"

"1. A Living Wage—Social Justice says the very least amount to be paid should be to have for himself and his fam-ily education, adequate housing, suffi-cient food, simple clothes, fuel, light and transportation, reasonable recreation, health, care and protection, insurance against death and disability.

"2. Reasonable Working Hours and Conditions of Work—Social Justice de-mands that the worker shall not be de-stroyed or disabled, or his working years shortened. It demands that the number of hours of continuous work shall be reasonably limited; that there shall be one day's rest in seven; that occupational diseases shall be studied and preventive mechanisms and pro-cesses arbitrarily provided and their use enforced; that the home shall not be turned into a sweatshop, boarding, food factory, candy factory or cannery; that there shall be light, air, sanitary con-veniences as well as safety appliances for machinery in every factory, foundry and workshop.

"3. Education—Social Justice demands that everyone shall be trained to be efficient as a producer and a consumer and effective and intelligent as a com-munity member.

"4. Housing—Social Justice demands that the housing of the lowliest shall have sanitary and housekeeping nec-essities; shall not be overcrowded and shall be procurable at a reasonable price.

Food and Clothing.

"5. Social Justice demands that the low-liest shall have sufficient food. It de-mands that neither the raiser nor the consumer of food shall be exploited. It demands that food shall be pure and un-adulterated; that it shall be sold by honest weight and measure. It demands that it shall not be wasted.

"6. Clothes—Social Justice demands that clothes shall be honest, simple and ap-propriate. It frowns upon extravagance, exaggeration and constant change. It forbids the wanton destruction of birds and animals to gratify a senseless vanity.

"7. Health—Social Justice demands that the individual be taught from the time of first understanding the elements of health preservation; to know the danger signals of disease; that he shall be taught to spot a quack and shun him; to look askance upon patent medicines curiously; that he shall know the problems of sex and have a holy horror of venereal disease.

"8. Recreation—Social Justice does not exclude the yacht, the automobile, the polo pony, the picture gallery or the private engagement of the operatic star from the millionaire's scheme of recrea-tion, but it demands that all shall have a playground, a park, a bathing beach, a dance hall, an art collection, and music and the drama in all their forms of ex-pression.

"9. Security of Life and Economic Status Through Social Insurance—Social Justice does not exclude the $1,000,000 policy for the rich man any more than it excludes him in the scheme of life, but says that not he alone but all working men, shall have insurance protection against accident, sickness, old age and death."
