CHURCH IS OFF ITS COURSE

Dr. McDonald Says it is Conservator of Vested Interests.

NEEDS OF HUMANITY NEGLECTED

It is Controlled by Comfortable and Well-to-Do and Knows Nothing of the Problem of Work or Wages.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 11.—The church, controlled by the comfortable and well-to-do, is a futile instrument in the solution of the problems created by the relations of vested interests and worshipers of the god of things as they are, and until the church re-establishes Christ's principles of social relations human and industrial justice must remain a mere figure of speech.

In substance this was the declaration of Dr. J. A. McDonald, editor of the Toronto (Ont.) Globe, today in the principal address delivered before the general assembly of the International Christian Endeavor society.

"From my point of view as a newspaper man," said Dr. McDonald, "the churches of America, alike in the republic and the dominion, have in the past been in danger of losing the national outlook and becoming mere denunciations of the intellectual and the well-to-do."

"All over America," continued Dr. McDonald, "there has grown an industrial absolutism more baneful and much more arrogant than that of any Stuart queen, but where is the church of John Knox that will stand against tyranny and oppression for the will of God and for the rights of men?"

Out of Touch with Humanity. "What does the comfortable church of the well-to-do know about the problem of work or of wages? How can it hear the passionate cry of the children of America, a million of them—some say three millions—caught in the cruel wheels of our vast, heartless industrial machine? How can it measure the agony of women whose only alternative is starvation or shame?"

"Why? Because of the church's social apostasy. Once again the church has become the conservator of vested interests and worships the god of things as they are."

As a remedy Dr. McDonald urged a return to the mode of living established by Christ and practiced by the primitive Christians, "when Jews and Romans, Greeks and barbarians did live together happily and did work together happily through all the relations of industrial service in every day life."

WOOL MEN'S GIFT TO CLERK

Senator Walsh also had read into the record a letter from Whitman to former Senator Aldrich, written about ten years ago, urging the selection of North as director of the proposed census bureau because of the speeches of the director of that bureau, Carroll D. Wright, had been "populistic and probably prejudicial in favor of labor."

In another letter praising North and suggesting appointment addressed to Senator Allison, Whitman expressed the view that "Wright was biased in favor of labor and that North was not."

Speaker Clark made a statement relating to the use of his name by David Lamar and Edward Lauterbach. He testified he had never had anything to do with Lamar, Lauterbach or any of the men mentioned by them.

J. P. Morgan, he said, he saw at a gridiron dinner in Washington several years ago, at which former President Roosevelt and former Senator Foraker engaged in a joint debate.

"It was the greatest contest ever heard in this country," said the speaker.

Speaker Clark put in this statement: "Lauterbach says that Lauterbach told him that he was in communication with me through Senator Stone, Lauterbach, who acknowledged on the witness stand that he had lied, said that Lamar gave him the information. Lamar confessed the whole tale was a lie to force Morgan & Co. to take Lauterbach back into their employ. All of them disclaim any acquaintance or communication with me."

Never Talked with Morgan. "Senator Stone justly and properly characterized the Lamar-Lauterbach tale as a lie, in which he was entirely correct. He and I never in any way conversed about or in any way mentioned to each other Morgan & Co. or the steel trust investigation."

"I never spoke to J. Pierpont Morgan or any member of his firm in my life; never communicated with him or them."

The Scotch View. At the battle of Trafalgar two fleets happened to be stationed near each other when the celebrated signal was displayed from the admiral's ship. "Look up and read, Jack," said one to the other. "England expects every man to do his duty"—not a word for put and Scotland! Jack cocked his eye at the flag and turned to his crew. "Man George! Is that a 'your sense'?" he asked. "Scotland kist us enough that her bairns will do their duty; that's just a hint to the Scotchmen."—Detroit Free Press.

"Honest Reductions"

When Browning, King & Co. announce a reduction in the prices of their clothing the public "know for sure" that the reductions are genuine.

They are not a "mark down" from "inflated" prices made a week before to allow for a fictitious "sale."

All our broken lines of men's suits are reduced 1/4, 1/3 and in many instances 1/2 in price—and for those who want to benefit at this July saving we ask to come and see the splendid values we offer.

DYERS CLOSE CONVENTION

Last Session is Closed with Election of Officers.

NEXT MEETING AT CEDAR POINT

Eastern Members of the Organization Insist on Next Annual Assembly Being Held There.

G. A. Schoedack of Omaha is vice president of the National Association of Cleaners and Dyers. He was elected to that office at the closing session of their sixth annual convention at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon to succeed W. J. Stoddard of Atlanta, Ga.

Cedar Point, O., the only candidate for the 1914 convention, was successful. The cleaners and dyers desired to get the convention farther back east to appease the feelings of the eastern members, who are one man said. "Are putting because the west has taken the convention from them."

W. H. Morgan of St. Louis was re-elected president of the national association. J. L. Corley of St. Louis and W. H. Reese of Cleveland were re-elected general secretary and financial secretary, respectively. J. F. Brinley of Terre Haute, Ind., remains the treasurer of the organization.

The directors elected are W. H. Brace of Buffalo, N. Y.; C. V. Higby of Lincoln and D. D. Dempsey of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Leo Soukup was made sergeant-at-arms. The chaplain remains Paul W. Bryant of New York City.

The convention was brought to a close at the home hotel last night with the annual banquet. Nearly 500 cleaners and dyers attended. Nearly 100 delegates left Omaha yesterday afternoon.

At the banquet Mayor Dahman bade the visitors adieu, extending again to them an invitation to return to Omaha. Among the other speakers were: Romo Miller, who talked an co-operation; W. H. Morgan, president of the national association, who thanked the Omaha cleaners and dyers for the entertainment they had had while in Omaha; Julius Brinley, the treasurer of the association, and John L. Corley of St. Louis, the general secretary.

Mrs. Evelyn Horton again entertained the delegates with a number of solid recommendations on the piano by Miss H. M. Isenberg of South Omaha.

FORTUNE FOR PAIR PIGEONS

One Lone Female in Cincinnati Zoo All that is Left of Millions.

Five thousand dollars for a pair of pigeons!

Yes, and more than that, if any one can readily deliver the goods.

"All that the bird lovers of the United States want to see is two genuine, simon-pure passenger pigeons, male and female, and the money's yours on a gold plate."

Once millions upon millions of them darkened the skies. Once their forest nesting places were so crowded that the noise of the birds was deafening. Thousands were shipped to market every week; one hunter could net or shoot or club to death hundreds a day—fatigue or inability to see the incoming darkness was all that stopped the day's slaughter.

And now there is none. Yes, there is one. She is a poor, lone female, 21 years old, in the Cincinnati zoo. Jealously guarded in her advancing age, cared for as tenderly as a princeling in swaddling clothes, her little day is fast drawing to its close. And then the race of passenger pigeons will have perished from the face of the earth, not the first innocent victims of the greed of man.

But the Audubon societies of the country and bird lovers all still cherish hope. Perhaps a pair is still alive—somewhere. Perhaps some hidden nesting place may be found. Perhaps there is yet some solitary spot as yet untrudged by man where they are dwelling peace—perhaps.

So the reward of $5,000. Several wealthy men have contributed to it. Chief among them are Colonel Anthony R. Kuser of Bernardsville, N. J.; Prof. C. F. Hodge of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., who gave up his quest after three years' search of North America, and Colonel John E. Thayer of Lancaster, Mass. All they ask is a pair of passenger pigeons, that the vanished race may be propagated and preserved for all time.

A few days ago hope ran high. Apparently authentic reports came from Ansonia, Penn., that a pair of genuine passenger pigeons had been seen there one morning.

"I saw them," declared Mark Hauser, president of the Lehigh Motor club, and "so did I!" reiterated Moses Newhard, by way of emphasis.

Scores immediately sought the woods hard by, where once thousands upon thousands of the birds made their nesting places—everybody wanted to win that $5,000. Every tree big enough to hide even an eagle nest was anxiously scanned, but nary a pigeon. At night the search was given up in despair. The $5,000 is still awaiting a claimant.

"We get on an average of two such reports a week from different parts of the country," said Dr. W. T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological garden, "but they invariably turn out to be incorrect."—New York World.

No "Stimulants" for Jim. "I think, madam," said the professionally polite young doctor to the wife of his first patient in the backwoods of a decidedly nonprohibition state, "I think that your husband needs a good stimulant of some sort, and I will leave for him some."

"No, sir!" she said, with marked decision. "You ain't a-goin' to leave Jim no stimulants like brandy or tinsler of iron but that malt stuff some folks takes nowadays without knowin' what'll do to their system! Me and Jim is both down on all stimulants. I'm goin' to fix him up a quart or so o' good rye whiskey to take first thing in the mornin', an' I'll stir him up a good, strong whiskey negroni at noon, and let him have a steamin' hot brandy punch along in the middle of the afternoon, an' give him a glass o' wild grape wine at night; but as for stimulants, he ain't goin' to take none of 'em, long as I can help it."—Judge.

Plan Campaign to Beat Gas Ordinance

At a meeting held in the rooms of the anti-gas franchise organization last night, the anti-gas franchise organization voted to carry on an extensive campaign in an attempt to induce the voters to defeat the dollar gas proposition. A committee of three, H. W. Morrow, W. T. Graham and O. E. Norman, was appointed to assemble from the political and commercial organizations of the city, a executive committee which will make arrangements to acquaint the public with its objections.

Dr. W. D. Ramsey said: "If the franchise is granted the price of gas will read on the political party in power, which will, in turn, force the gas company into politics for its own protection. And to defeat this we must get together and inform the people of this fact. We must get the various organizations into the fight; we must see that every voter is personally informed, and the only way to do this is by means of lots of free works."

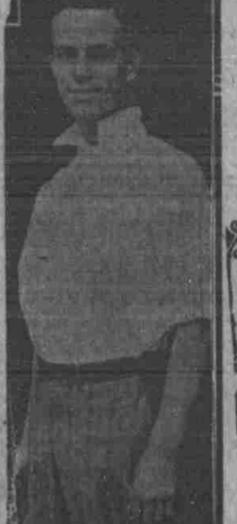

Harry A. Zimmerman said: "Get the people aroused; the gas company fears only the people. The way to do this is by concentrated publicity and public speakers. Let the committee appoint good speakers to attend all gatherings between now and the time of election."

Those who spoke against the ordinance were Dr. W. O. Henry, E. I. Morrow, W. F. Baxter, C. F. Harrison, W. T. Graham, G. E. Norman and H. W. Morrow. H. W. Morrow was chairman.

For the third consecutive year Harry Koch and Cub Potter meet in the championship match of the city tennis tournament. Koch beat Potter last year, but Cub asserts that he will play a better game this year and win the title away from his club mate. Today, Adams, who was runner-up in last year's tournament, is a high school lad and former city Junior champion. Adams is young and progressive and it is thought that he will be a superior player to either Koch or Potter after a few years.

DEATH RECORD

Dr. Alva C. Pruitt. (Special.)

Word comes to Sterling that Dr. Alva C. Pruitt died at the county farm at Shelbyville, Ill., late in June. Dr. Pruitt was a native of Shelby county, Illinois, and following his graduation from a medical college, he located in Sterling, where he practiced medicine for twenty-five years. Locomotor ataxia was the cause of his death. Dr. Pruitt was 54 years old. He was taken back to Illinois by a brother something over a year ago.

C. W. Walbridge, for six years a resident of this city, died Thursday morning at Kansas City, Mo. He is survived by one son, F. T. Walbridge, Marlowe, Okl., and three daughters, Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. J. W. Bell, 555 Templeton street, and Mrs. Glenn Kearney, Mo. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from C. C. Haynes' chapel, Twenty-fourth and Ames avenue. Interment in Forest Lawn.

Smiley-Schmidberg. Miss Reba Schmidberg, daughter of Max Schmidberg, and Mr. Archie Smiley, both of Norfolk, Neb., were married by Rev. Charles W. Savidge Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ida McDonald, 198 North Seventeenth street. The groom's mother, Mrs. Sadie Smiley, was one of the witnesses.

Eastly Explained. Congressman A. W. Lafferty of Oregon declared the other evening that you can't lose the man who runs a health resort, and backed the statement with an interesting story.

Some time ago, he said, a woman who was a little worn out but much of an invalid, went to widely heralded health resort to recuperate. Half-reclining in a big chair on the pleasant veranda of one of the hotels she addressed the proprietor, who was looking after the comfort of his guests.

"My doctor, you know," said the invalid, in a languid voice, "told me to come here, that I might get the benefit of the south wind. Are the winds here always south winds?"

"Oh, yes, madam," was the prompt reply of the wise proprietor, "you may be assured of that."

"So I have understood," weakly replied the invalid, "but the flag on yonder pole surely indicates that the wind is now coming from the north."

"You are quite right, madam," was the easy explanation of the proprietor, "but it is a south wind just the same—a south wind coming back."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Did Not Take It. Sandy MacIvor was "no feelin' just well," so he went to the doctor. "What do you drink?" demanded the medicine.

"Whisky," "How much?" "A bottle a day." "Do you smoke?" "Yes." "Well, you give up whisky and tobacco altogether." Sandy took up his cap, and in three steps reached the door.

"Here!" called the doctor, "you have not paid for my advice!" "Ah, no, takin' it," snuggled Sandy as he shut the door behind him.—Newark Star.
