UST a few words about a few boys who have graduated in the last few years from the Rourke family: The St. Louis Republic, in its story of a recent game between the Browns and Athletics, thus exploits and extols the fleet-footed Austin:

extois the fleet-footed Austin:

Jimmy Austin is the only Brownie who succeeded in stealing a sack on "Ching" Schang. Austin's run-getting stunt in the second illustrates the luck of the game. Jimmy circulated the diamond on his nerve. He started off by sticking up Shawkey for a free pass to first. Next he stole second and took third on a play that electrified the fans. Alexandet rolled to Baker. As soon as Baker heaved the ball to first Austin hiked for third Molnnis made a low throw to Baker and the ball slid through the third sacker Austin completed the circuit of the sacks by another daring play. Lavan tapped to Shawkey, who tossed to first. As soon as he turned the ball loose Austin sailed home. Melnnis made a wide heave to the plate and the runner was safe. It was practically a triple ateal.

Omaha, thusiy:

Baker at the bat. Baker tried to put the ball over the right wall. He drove it against the fence, scoring three men, but nifty fielding on the part of Williams held batter at first. It sure was some drive and the funny part of it is Baker only got a single.

Why? Because they have all learned to respect "Gloomy Gie" Williams' left whip Gus made Connie Mack's men sit up and take notice of his wonderful throwing whip Sunday when he flagged "Stuffy McInnis at the plate on a throw from the fence. The ball sailed into Agnew waist high. It was the champion peg of the season at Sportsman's park.

And this from the Minnespoils Jeurnal

Bert Niehoff, who came to the Colonels unknown and unsung from the Western league, was the fielding Samson of the contest Two beautiful one-handed stops were chalked up to his credit. The first one was negotiated in the first inning when Williams drove a hot one in his direction that was bound for safe territory. Niehoff lunged at the flying sphere gathered it with one hand and made a perfect peg to the bag. The same stunt was repeated in the third inning with Rossman the victim.

Of course, the Journal is wrong; Niehoff may have gone to Louisville unsung, but he was not unknown. He had had several years of phenomenal success in the Western league, had gone to Pitteburgh, but was not given a change and was quite well known as the pear of third basemen So far as Omaha is concerned, it has sent its share of them up. The St. Louis Browns now have Shotten, Austin, Williams and Agnew, all of whom are starr ing and Williams and Austin went directly into the big leagues from here They are two of the most talked-o American leaguers.

The powers that be have caused to be circulated the old story that the majors are planning to head off the Federal at Fort Omaha this afternoon—the first outlaws by placing good teams in every argument, South Omaha Shamrocks city invaded by the latter. You will find crowds such as used to flock to the old park when we had a Western league compos of Denver, Omaha, Wilwaukee, St. Paul, Kansas City and the like. Better players. better ball? Yes, to be sure.

Does this read familiarly to you: Three-fingered Brown went into the pitcher's box in the final inning of each game when Cincinnati seemed in danger and both times stopped the Boston railies. That is from a report of a double header which the old "ready rescuer whom the urbane and astute, also debonnir Mr. Murphy tried to send to the brushes, won for the Reds. Joe Tinker knew a thing or two when he refused waive on his old Cub mate. Brown was worked like a dray horse by Murphy and when his bad year came, as come they do to every Brown or Walsh or Mathewson in turn, the man Murphy thanked him for his sterling services by telling him to beat it to the minors. Brown has pitched in some twenty games this year, with many to his credit as victories for the tall-end team and his Kiplingers, and as they don't feel very deepest gob of joy came when he shut good over being sipped it is a lead pipe

Pa Rourke seems to have put the ginger in the team all right, but all of Pa's pld cunning-and he has his share of itcannot take the place of pitchers. Send somebody to the relief of Robinson and Closman and the trick is turned. It's a great team to waste on a lack of pitchers.

Jim Kane, in our judgment, is the quickest thinker in the league, without a peer at first.

Sandlotters Have Been Matched Up and Will Settle Their Differences at Various Parks. By FRANK QUIGLEY. The main attraction on the bill of fare for today will be the clash between the Storz Triumphs and the Union Giants that hall from Chicago. They just whizzed in from Iowa yesterday where they made a clean sweep of every herd that they collided with. They have a congregation of colored base ball manipulators that know the game and can play it to perfection. Pick Bauchman, one of the local flowers, will be seen with the Union Glants. The Stors Triumphs will have all their regulars in the lineup today, so a struggle worth the change is anticipated. Alderman, Kelly or Oleson will whize 'em over for the Stors and either Alexander, Norman or Walker will be on the rubber for the chocolate drops. This game will be

Two Bouts at Luxus Park. Out on the turf at Luxus park a pair of dandy wrangles are looked for this afternoon when the Chris Lycks hump up against the Athletics, and the Luxus aggregation will do their darnedest to whip the much touted Ancient Order of United Workmen congregation. Lately siderable dust and as they don't intend to have their remarkable record punctured, the Chris Lycks will have to step some if they want to amble home with the sweetmeats. This will be the last game the Luxus squad will play in Omaha until their trip from Omaha to Denver Is completed. The Ancient Order of United Workmen boys haven't lost a game for so long that they don't know how, so the brewery chaps are up against a starchy proposition. After the first fight is over and the dead ones cleared from the field of battle the Council Bluffs Merchants will tangle with the O. D. Kiplingers. Recently the Merchants cancelled a game booked with the that they will exert all their energy to trounce the neighbors across the waves. Both teams are now racing up the avenue at breakneck pace, so something lively is expected when they hook up. Moran, the speed merchant, or Rathke, crockery for the Weed Merchants, and either Probst or Peterson will boost them for the Council Bluffs Merchants.

Other Good Games.

At Florence park a couple of hair raisers are expected this afternoon. The first mix, Florence Athletics against the Dundee Woolen Mills and the second fambores Steinbergs against Alhambras. All four of these teams are classy class "B" organizations so some red hot base ball will undoubtedly be jerked off. The Advos will grab an iron boy labeled for Plattsmouth, Neb., where they will endeavor to demonstrate to the frome talent just now the grand old game should be played.

For the small amount of fifty rollers the Emil Hansens and the Stars and Stripes will do their best to trim each other this afternoon. At that $50 is a tot of dough to lose and it will probably be one of the largest wagers made this season. Strangle, the left lunch hook wisard, will do the wiggling for the Emil Hansens and Bushman will trot them over for the Stars and Stripes. game will be pulled off at Twenty-fourth and Vinton streets.

Out at Fontenelle park, a double header is on the program, the first game of which will be between the Fontensiles and the Moose Club and the second argument, Orkin Bros. against Monmouth Parks. These two games ought to be humdingers because between the pairs codies of rivairy exist and the sour stuff will undoubtedly be visible through-

The Naps, a newly organized team, will clash with the Socialists team at Eimwood park this afternoon at 2 o'clock Both teams have been playing good ball and a good game is looked for. Under the leadership of Liddy the Naps expect to play rings around their opponents. The Soi-Phils will wander to Ashland Neb., and pit themselves against the stalwarts located there. Down at Greenwood, Neb., the Armour aggregation will deliver their wares Armours trimmed the Greenwood boys on their first visit and they intend to Nebraska Collegians will feed at Cody, Neb., today. Everything is breaking lovely for them and if Mr. Luck stays with them, they will come home loaded to the gills with meaums.

Diamond Dust. McCreary will be one of the extra stohers carried by the Lague during Hillard Morearty twirled for Ute last Dusty Koons spilled the pills over the crockery for Moorshead at the Missouri Valley tournament.

Grossman and Dineen are doing some heavy clubbing for the Nebruska Col-legians on their trip.

After a strenuous effort Manager Kocher of the Luxus finally succeeded in bolstering up his lineup. George Faiconer of the Storz Triumphs is getting to be a regular burglar when it comes to stealing bases.

Class is now beginning to manifest itself in the strain on the different amateur base ball machines. That drug store of Willard Guigley's is keeping him pretty well tied up. Guess he is through with base ball.

Last Sunday the Advos put on the breaks and stopped their toboggan side when they trimpaed the Luxus. Guess it would be a good idea for s of the local class A managers to over some of the juvenile material. Under manifold mistortunes Manager

Wilson Atkins will probably take Chip Bowley's place while he is incapacitated. Bowley broke his ankle last Sunday.

The Luxus team is especially good on the paths. They don't need long bingles to bring them across the coveted goal. Last Sunday against Missouri Valley the Stors Triumphs did not show any of their pepper, aggressiveness or ambition.

Clink Clair, the leader of the Dallas, S. D., boys is doing his best to snag Lotz and Gonding. Here is wishing him luck.

As the season is only approximately half over their is still oceans of time for the last to be first and the first last.

Harry Cross is still leading the sluggers located at Neville, Sask., Canada. He is also playing a grand game on the initial Against the Nebraska Collegians Wal-worth, twiggled a one-hit game. Guess he is one of the best running lose in this

Those Nebraska telephone boys were having sweet dreams of nabbing the Sat-urday championship until the slarm clock went off. Edward Lawler, recently attached to the Store Triumphs, is demonstrating that he can still wallop the ball against the fence. Tonneman, who used to be a shining light on the local sand lots, is at present working for Portland of the Northwest-

McAndrews, Clair and Dyck picked up some easy change last weak playing with Mondamin, is., in the Missouri Val-ley tournament. For the Nebraska Collegians Baker is the premier slabster. All these burg teams can do is to secure a few hits off of his offerings.

Whenever an Advo reaches the first corner he doesn't become fascinated or enchanted with the base, but immediately starts figuring on advancing.

The unsophisticated fans at Missouri Valley are of the opinion that Missouri Valley has a real team now since they trouped the Stora Triumphs.

On the middle pillow for the Ancient Order of United Workmen team Frank Welch is doing magnificent work, both with the stick and in the field.

There has been a lot of greatp as

William Pahl of the O. D. Kiplingers still why the Council Bluffs Imperials went to the wall, but the reason, which is internal, doesn't seem to leak out. According to reports, Ringling Bros. have a bunch of real big leaguers. They have a team of elephants. Guess they are the biggest team in this universe. Ray Young hopped back into our burg last week after spending three weeks looking over these United States and incidentally spending a part of his roll.

Fox, who is now holding down the cen-ter pasture, will be on the wiggling staff for the Lazus and Feitman of the Advos will occupy the meadow during the trip. The Ramblers, that looked like the peaches of the class B tribes, took polson of some decription and at present they are having sweet dreams in some ceme-

The speedy Wagmans will garb them-selves in their auto paraphernalia today and glide over in gas carts to Red Cak, Ia., where they will meet the base ball gladiators stationed there.

From present indications it seems as though it is purely a matter of formality for the Auditorium Pharmacy crew to play out their schedule in order to cop the Saturday championship. Johnie Saup, who is installed at the warm corner for the Townsends, is a youth who is a live wire and a hustler. The big show is always looking for kids with the stuff he is proprietor of.

That Alamito base ball machine that looked so good when the bell rang is sadly in need of repairs. If Manager Mullen can repair it he will have to be given credit for being one of the best base ball mechanics in the business. Bill Hossies has mustared together an aggregation of stars to be known as the All-Stars. For games with his band address him in care of the World-Herald. He is especially anxious to book games out of town. Last Sunday they won their initial argument.

Knocks Chappelle. Pitcher Dauss of Detroit is quoted as saying that Outfielder Chappelle, whom Chicago has just purchased from Milwauses at a great price, will never be a major league star. Dauss p'ayed through several seasons with the outfielder and he considers him in the light of a "fair performer."

BOX SCORE IN NUMERAL OF

Down in the federal penitentlary at Atlanta, as well as in some other prisons over the country, the convicts play ball. One of the embargoes of prison life is the loss for the time being of names and the substitution of numbers. Here is a box score, taken from the prison paper at Atlanta, Good Words, showing how base ball looks entirely in figures:

Present Champton. NIOW YORK, July B.-A review of the present fistic situation brings out the fact that the only big matches possible just now are between boxers in the light-weight division. All the other classes are in a state of quiescence, but among the lightweights there are several big attractions possible. Fortunately, Champion Ritchie has an nounced that he means to change his ways. Instead of withdrawing the title from competition for long periods he says he means to keep active in the future, defending his honors as often as the promoters will furnish a purse worth striving for. Ritchie reached this decision after coming to the conclusion that there is far more money to be made out of fighting than stage work.

With the champion in a fighting mood there only remains the question of selecting the next opponent for him. The sentiment out in California, where the bout will most likely take place, seems to be in favor of Freddie Welsh, the English champion. Ritchie himself, imbued with confidence by his recent victory over Joe Rivers, is anxious to wipe out the memory of the decision that Weish holds. A victory over Weish would make Ritchie champion of the world, whereas he would gain no further honors by defeating his American rivals.

All Will Have Chance. However, if Ritchie is sincers in his warlike declaration, Cross, Britton, Murphy and the rest of them will get their chance before another year rolls around, provided Ritchie does not stumble over the Weigh obstacle. In meeting the clever Englishman Ritchle will encounter the most scientific fighter of his challengers The fact that Ritchie is willing to tackle Welsh first speaks well for his confidence in himself. Weish has but one real black mark against him-a decision jost to Matt Wells, Even Packey McFarland could do little with Welsh. Although the Chicago wisard got one doubtful verdict out of three meetings, McFarland has little to beast of as a result of his encounters with Welsh. No other lightweight has been able to stand off McFarland, and on this figuring Welsh must be given credit for being the most scientific boxer who is able to make the lightweight limit. He should be an even money bet against Ritchie. Britton Banks Next. In point of cleverness and on his record in general Jack Britton ranks next in the list of Ritchie's possible opponents. But Britton has already been beaten by Ritchie and of late his work has not peen impressive. The best he could expect would be a close decision on points, He should be on the short and at about Leach Gross ranks third and on account of his ring cunning and terrific On one of the "white suit days" out in Chicago, it was so hot that Umpires Hildebrand and O'Loughlin had to take off their coats. All of which disclosed a pair of sleeve garters on Hildebrand and suspenders on O'Loughlin, greatly to the amusement of the crowd. championship should change hands. As Cross does not show up well against a clever boxer he does not figure better than 1 to 2, but he ought to make things decidedly unpleasant for Ritchie as long as he lasts.

Tommy Murphy is being mentioned as a candidate, but it is hard to see where he would have a chance worth considering. Murphy has been beaten by most of New York's second raters, including K. O. Brown, before whom he went down in one round.
