Gas Expert Says the Terms Appear to Be Fair.

DOLLAR GAS FOR ST. JOSEPH

Experts Report that Gas for One Dollar Was the Lowest the City Could Hope to Successfully Enforce.

According to correspondence passing between Prof. W. D. Marks and First Assistant City Afterney Lambert, Prof. Marks is practically en record as endorsing the terms of the gas franchise to be voted on Tuesday. Prof. Marks, it will be remembered, was the expert employed by the city last year to make an appraisal of the gas property and report on a fair price of gas in Omaha. Assistant City Attorney Lambert admitted yesterday that after the city and the gas company had agreed upon the proposed franchise and the principal conditions had been embodied in a bill presented to the legislature, he had written to Prof. Marks, informing him of the terms of the settlement.

Marks, under date of January 13, 1313, according to Mr. Lambert, wrote the latter, saying: "In reply to your favor of the 8th current, I would say that the terms mentioned in it appear fair, and that I will write you at length as soon as I can review my report carefully."

No Further Word. Inasmuch as Marks neither amplified nor abandoned this opinion in subsequent correspondence the assistant city attorney has concluded that the expert considers the people. Marks expressed the opinion, also, that it was "very satisfactory to find the gas company willing to nego tiate." The bill, which passed the legislature, was the one authorizing the compromise franchise and contains the vital features of the franchise word for word, including the section relating to the fixing of rates and regulation of rates by the city. Marks in 1912 found that in his opinion a rate of 97,5 cents per thousand was sufficient in Omaha to yield a 6 per cent return on his own appraised value of the property, provided an allowence was made for going value. Without going value, he said, a rate of about 93 cents would be sufficient.

Valuation Too Low. The gas company has contended strenuously that the Marks valuation is far too low and that they could easily so prove in court. Inasmuch as the court in the Des Moines case found a valuation more than $690,000 greater for the Des Moines gas property than Marks found for the Mulhall's testimony. Omaha property, those who followed the considerably low on his Omaha figures. Another point which has been discussed at the city hall is the startling increasa in the price of gas, oil and gas coal which has taken place since Marks gathered his figures and made his report. These advances are emphasized in a report which the engineering firm of Burns & McDonnell have just made for St. Joseph, Mo., after an investigation.

St. Joseph, it appears, has been using natural gas piped up from Oklahoma and lower Kansas, but the supply is failing, and it will be only a short time before it will be necessary to return to the manufactured product. In order to be in position to negotiate a fair rate for manufactured gas with the local gas company, the city hired Burns & Donnell to make an appraisal and re Dollar Gas at St. Joseph. The report has just been made public and the summary published in the St. Joseph newspapers. The engineers concluded that a rate of $1 per thousand was the lowest the city could hope to successfully enforce, but even this, it appears is not calculated to return a 6 per cent yield on the appraised value of the property. The rate of all twenty figured works. Pittsburgh Officers erty. The rate of $1 it was figured would yield 3% per cent upon a certain esti-mated consumption, and 5% per cent on the maximum consumption estimated.

Price of Oil Goes Up. Paragraphs from the report read: "At the time the gas investigation was first instituted oil, one of the commodities used in water gas, was available at a price of from 1% cents to 2 cents per gallon, depending on the grade of oil. In the last few months the prices on oil have advanced to an unreasonably high figure and beyond any plausible explanation, until the prevailing price ranges from 4% cents to 5% cents per gallon. This difference in the price of cit, for the amount used in the manufacture of ing with a party of friends in Washington 1,000 cubic feet of water gas, makes a street not far from a busy business disvery large difference in the cost of producing water gas. There is approximately four and a half to five gallons of oil Goes Over Bank used in every 1,000 cubic feet of water. the average increased cost of water gas per 1,000 cubic feet would amount to apgram.)-Two deaths have resulted from proximately 16 cents. In other words if water gas could be sold at the present time at $1 per 1,000 cubic feet, at the time your investigation was first instituted it could have been produced and distributed at 16 cents less per 1,000 cubic feet, or at 84 cents." The report also says: "Advances in the price of coal making gas have materially affected the production of coal gas as well, and since your city instituted the gas investigation, this advance has added approximately 10 per cent to the cost of producing coal gas."

Proposed Rush for North Platte Reserve Called Illegal.

PREDICTIONS OF TROUBLE MADE

Preliminary Instructions Issued to Homeseekers Interested in Fort Niobrara Opening to Take Place in October.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.-(Special Telegram.)-Plana for opening about 300,000 acres of the North Platte forest reserve to settlement have been halted, a question as to the lgality and desirability of amount fixed by the constitution is the method partially decided upon having created. arisen. The department had proposed to allow settlers to go upon the land they desired a month in advance of filing, thinking to do away with the plan of drawing allotments. The legality of this ing decision. method has been questioned since the plan was proposed and objections were also entered by the land offices at both Brokn Bow and North Platte, each of which has jurisdiction over some of the land to be opened. The fear has been expressed that because the land is rough and hilly more than one prospective settler might select the same piece of land unwittingly and that it would result in all sorts of complications and possible violent disputes as to which had the prior claim. Representative Kinksid has taken the matter up with the secretary of the interior and believes that if a special act is necessary it can be passed in time to allow the opening to take place this fall. He is waiting for a recommendation from the secretary. In the meantime all plans regarding the proposed opening are up in the air.

Hearing for Rival Towns. The Interior department is to give an oral hearing to representatives from Valentine and O'Neill, rivals in a contest to secure the location of the land office in case of a consolidation of the two offices. This is the information from the department today. The date of the hearing has not been set, but it is probable that it will not take place for possibly two months.

The department, it appears, has taken no steps looking to a consolidation of the two offices. Since the matter has come before it, however, by reason of the claims that have been set up by advocates from each point, it has been decided that they will b cheard. One thing that will prevent an immediate hearing is the fact that the Fort Niobrara military reservation is to be opened for settlement in October and Valentine is to have charge of the filings.

Circular for Home Seekers. The Interior department has issued a preliminary circular relating to the opening of lands at Fort Niobrara. It contains no final instructions to prospective homesteaders, however, according to Representative Kinkaid, in whose district the land lies. Mr. Kinkald said today that the final circular giving full instructions and facts was still in process of preparation and that its publication would be announced later.

It has been decided that a drawing will still to be classified as about 12,000 acres City, Aberdeen and Yellowstone trail. of the 50,000 is to come under the quarter- Lunch was served by the Women's Chrisne-section act.

He says that a wooden silo holding eighty tons may be erected for about $120, which will isfaction, and that the same sized alio may be built in the ground at a cost of from $16 to $25. He also states that an inexpensive outfit for filling such a sile may be obtained for $75 and up, and an engine may be hired or purchased.

Now is the Time to Act. In some sections of the state it is now time to put corn in the sile or cut it for fodder. There are many other sections where it can be left for several weeks yet, unless weather | conditions become very severe. As long as the corn is growing fairly well it is better to leave it in the field, but in case hot, dry weather comes and it is burning, it is best to cut it for feed. If a sile is to be erected, no time should be lost, as you do not know on what day it will be needed.

A bulletin on the value of fodder and sliage for feeding purposes and on the method of erecting inexpensive wiles may be obtained by writing to the extension department, University farm, Lincoln. Neb. These bulletins are now ready for distribution and will be a great heip to the farmer who wants to get the most feed possible out of his injured corn crop. In localities where it seems advisable to hold special silo meetings the university will be glad to send speakers, if possible Such arrangements should be made early. This "Save the Corn Crop" campaign is really a continuation of the corn education campaign which was started by the co-operation of the university, the bureau of publicity of the Omaha Commercial club and the railroads in February, 1912, and followed by the seed selection campaign in October of the same year.

Summer-Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

(From Home Queen.)

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, dust or gresse, often freckles, too, it would seem more sensible to remove such surface than to hide it with cosmetics. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercelized wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome complexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed, gently and gradually, so there's no inconvenience and no detention indoors. Just spread the wax lish by o er the entire face at bedtime and takes it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one cunce of mercolized wax at the drug store and use for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotiess purity and beautiful whiteness. Don't let those summer wrinkles worry you; worry will bread more wrinkles. Better to banish them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolits, I os., dissolved in % pt. witch hazel. Used daily for awhile this will be found wonderfully effective.—Advertisement.
