Jerome Wratby as He Hears Federal Judge Has Granted Counsel for Matteawan Fugitive Writ of Habeas Corpus.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 14.—The perpetually recurring writ of habeas corpus, which has so often dotted the career of Harry K. Thaw since his incarceration in Matteawan as the insane slayer of Stanford White, cropped up again this afternoon in his fight to resist extradition from New Hampshire after his expected deportation from Canada. This time and for the first time in the history of Thaw's efforts to regain his liberty the writ was issued by a federal court.

United States Judge Aldrich in the district of New Hampshire granted the application of three of the Thaw lawyers, Martin, Shurtleff and Olmstead, and made it returnable at Littleton next Tuesday. William Travers Jerome, specially deputed to bring the fugitive back to the asylum, heard the news with ill grace and characterized the move as one of bad faith. There had been a "gentleman's agreement," he said, that neither side was to make a court move pending the extradition hearing before Governor Felker in Concord next week.

Writ One of Expediency.

The Thaw leaders, led by Moses H. Grossman, said the writ was one of expediency and had been obtained to meet an emergency should the governor refuse a full hearing on the extradition matter and, signing the requisition warrant forthwith, turn Thaw over to officers of the state of New York. They had reason to believe now, they added, that a full hearing would be accorded the fugitive and in view of this it was probable that the habeas corpus hearing be continued.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Jerome, "that this is trifling with the federal court. I should hesitate to apply for a writ in such circumstances."

Thaw spent a very quiet day. There was no court hearing here. It has not been definitely decided when he will be removed to Concord, but he will likely remain here until the governor sets a date for a hearing which may be Wednesday of next week or later. Tonight the fugitive gave out a telegram, which his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, sent from Montreal to Governor Felker. He added that she would not come here at present in view of the uncertain status of affairs. This is her telegram:

Appeal of Mother.

"To his excellency, Governor Felker, I address your excellency in the interests of my son, H. K. Thaw, who after being deprived of the liberty which the federal court has granted him, has been removed to Concord, where he is being held in a cell, charged under the indictment, has for five and a half years endured untold hardships and indignities in one of New York's worst penal institutions. Finally he took the only recourse left, a flight for the freedom denied through malice.

"May I beg that your excellency will secure to him, in whatever way proper, a fair and impartial hearing during the impending proceedings.

"Yours very sincerely,
"MARY C. THAW."

A petition to Governor Felker praying that he refuse extradition in the Thaw case on the ground that Thaw had suffered enough for his crime was circulated in Colebrook today. Up to tonight it was said 100 signatures had been obtained.

NEGRO TO REFORMATORY FOR ATTACK ON CHILD

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 14.—Swift punishment today overtook Charles Banks of Jonesboro, a negro boy, who attacked two-year-old Theresa Adams yesterday. He was indicted, pleaded guilty to a crime against a child, was sentenced and taken to the state reformatory at Pontiac.

MEXICAN REBELS DEFEATED

Announcement from Mexico City Says Five Hundred Men Killed.

FEDERAL LOSS IS HEAVIER

Party, Which Was Led by an American, Started to Fight, but Surrendered When Overwhelmed by Numbers.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Three hundred federal and 200 rebels are reported to have been killed in a battle on Tuesday near Maytorena, in the northwestern state of Sonora.

The rebels were opposing the march of General Pedro Ojeda's column, which was advancing on Hermosillo, the capital of the state. The results of the engagement are considered by the Mexican government to be a federal victory, the rebels having retreated after making a determined stand.

The rebel force is reported to number several thousand men. The federalists maintained a vicious artillery fire and remained in possession of the battlefield, capturing many prisoners and a quantity of ammunition. The rebels, after retreating several miles from the scene of hostilities, reorganized their forces, but failed to renew the attack.

Battle with Smugglers. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 14.—In a battle between United States soldiers and Mexican smugglers at Carrizo Springs, Tex., today, one Mexican was killed, six Mexicans wounded and fourteen captured.

None of the pursuing party was injured and only two cavalry horses were hurt. The soldiers came on the Mexicans shortly after daylight a few miles from the crossing of the Rio Grande, and at once began firing. An American who is the reputed leader of the Mexicans, but whose name is unknown, replied to the order to halt and declared that his party would never surrender.

The soldiers were then ordered to open fire and at the first volley one Mexican was shot dead, two others apparently mortally injured and several received minor wounds.

The American leader, seeing the odds were against him, surrendered. Besides the leader, thirteen Mexicans were captured. All of the prisoners were taken to Windmill ranch and a surgeon was summoned to treat the wounded.

The capture was made by a detachment of the Fourteenth cavalry, under command of Lieutenant McLean.

The Mexicans had attempted to carry a large shipment of ammunition and rifles across the border from a point about fifty miles in the interior of Texas. They abandoned most of this contraband when attacked by a sheriff's posse a few days ago. The munitions were said to be for constitutionalists, but the latter announced they would execute the smugglers if caught on Mexican soil.

Refugees Reach El Paso. EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 14.—Flying a bed sheet as a flag of truce, a special train from Chihuahua, Mexico, reached Juarez today bearing American refugees. They encountered no rebels on the way.

The Americans brought copies of Chihuahua newspapers which state that following the recent defeat of Terraza's federal command at San Andres by Pancho Villa, federal prisoners were stood up and shot beside a big campfire at night and that their bodies were then tossed into the fire by the rebels. Many were still alive when thrown into the fire, the papers say.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Europeans and other foreigners, as well as Americans, may find refuge with United States consular officers in Mexico. The State department has ordered those officials to extend the same protection to foreigners as they would to Americans in anticipation of requests which have been received from China, Switzerland, Spain and some other governments. In that way it is expected to reduce to a minimum any grounds for demands for intervention. The transport Buford, now down the Pacific coast of Mexico for refugees, has been ordered to give accommodation to all foreigners.

Authoress Asks for Divorce from Her Second Husband

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Jessie Emerson Bailey, who under her former name of Jessie Emerson Moffatt is a well known writer of short stories, has filed suit in the Franklin county courts through her attorneys for a divorce from Frank Duncan Bailey of London, England, to whom she was married in New York City June 8, 1911. While Mrs. Bailey is making her legal home in Columbus at present, her husband is in Seattle, Wash.

In her petition Mrs. Bailey avers that while her husband represented himself as a man of superior habits and exemplary conduct before their marriage, subsequent events proved that he was without such characteristics.

The wife further avers that on February 21, 1912, her husband attempted an assault on her with a heavy chair, but that the assault failed because of the husband's alleged feeble condition.

Mrs. Bailey avers that the day following this incident she left him and has not lived with him since.

The plaintiff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Randolph Emerson and was born in Fredonia, N. Y., August 22, 1880. She was first married to Joseph Alpheus Moffatt September 11, 1898. It is from her second marriage that she is seeking relief in Columbus.

She is a member of the Woman's Press club of New York City and has been a president of the New Yorkers' club of New York.

Basin Club Women Work in Factory

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Sept. 14.—(Special Telegram.)—Support of home industries took a new form at Basin today when members of the Basin Woman's club shed silk and lace and with sleeves rolled to elbows proceeded to help the Ritter Canning company out of a predicament which threatens a serious loss on account of their inability to obtain factory help sufficient to handle the tomato crop although double the usual wages are offered. The clubwomen's wages for the day will be turned into the club treasury. The volunteers were carried to and from the factory in automobiles.

PRINCE OF MONACO MILITARY OYSTER

Sovereign of Europe Ready to Be Interviewed as Passes Through Omaha.

GRINS AT HIS INTERROGATORS

Takes Keen Delight in Listening to Their French.

GERMAN PHRASE ATTRACTS HIM

Whole Party Preserves Silence Before Questioners.

ON HIS WAY TO WYOMING

Sportsman and Scientist Travels in Ordinary Tourist Fashion, Keenly Observant, but Having Little to Give Forth.

Royalty came to Omaha Saturday night and was met, not by a committee of excited citizens, a band of music and a flock of society editresses, but by a brace of scandal mongering, blood loving police reporters, a baggage man and a messenger boy.

An equal portion of the brace of scandal mongers happened to be the writer, who by the way has no false notions of modesty, and who, therefore, puts himself and the other bloodthirsty one ahead of the messenger boy and baggage man. Albert I. prince of Monaco, sportsman and scientist of worldwide fame besides being the king of trumps at Monte Carlo, and the party of blue blood foreigners that came through Omaha last night, however, received the messenger boy with open arms, for he had certain telegrams and letters. The baggage man came next and transacted his business and then the newspaper reporters.

"Out let to Prins?" questioned the scribe on an opposition paper, who thereby used his only supply of French, except the phrase "Le Diable," which he handily used afterwards. He meant, "Where is the prince?"

The gentleman addressed was a stout, short man of about 35 wearing a Van Dyke beard. It developed, however, he was the prince himself. It also developed that neither he nor any member of his party cared to say anything for publication in Omaha, and therefore disclaimed any knowledge of English as "she is spoke."

Gives a Royal Shrug.

Instead of answering, the prince shrugged his shoulders just as the novels say, and said something in deep French, which was very much too deep for the reporters.

At this juncture the writer injected his personality. "Sprechen sie Deutsch," he sweetly asked, smiling.

"Oh, Yahl!" answered the prince, frowning in the manner in which he had been trained. It developed, however, he was the prince himself. It also developed that neither he nor any member of his party cared to say anything for publication in Omaha, and therefore disclaimed any knowledge of English as "she is spoke."

"Ping!" thought the writer, as he started a conversation with the notable. A look of surprise and alarm passed over the prince's face and his questioner abruptly stopped speaking.

The prince, the reporter remembered, he had forgotten all the German he ever knew, in the sophomore year, and right there the "conversation" in foreign tongues ceased.

Then in chorus (English) the reporters desperately cried: "Some Impertinent Queries."

"Oh, if one of you is the prince, we'd like to know how gambling can run wide open in Monte Carlo without police interference. We also want to know if the prince ever shot craps in his life or if he'd hold up an ace for a trailer with a big pair in a draw poker game. We'd also like to know if Mr. Monaco ever shot bears."

An interruption that sounded like "non comprehendit," reminded the scribe of the futility of his task and he leaped from the car just as it was pulling out for the west. The scribe on the opposition paper, however, waited long enough to see the effect of his remaining stock of French lingo, which was "Le diable," shouted directly at the royal group. The only effect was a hearty laugh.

A Pullman porter who rode the Burlington from Chicago to Omaha with the royal visitors, says that every member speaks English fluently and their denial of that fact is merely their method of refusing interviews.

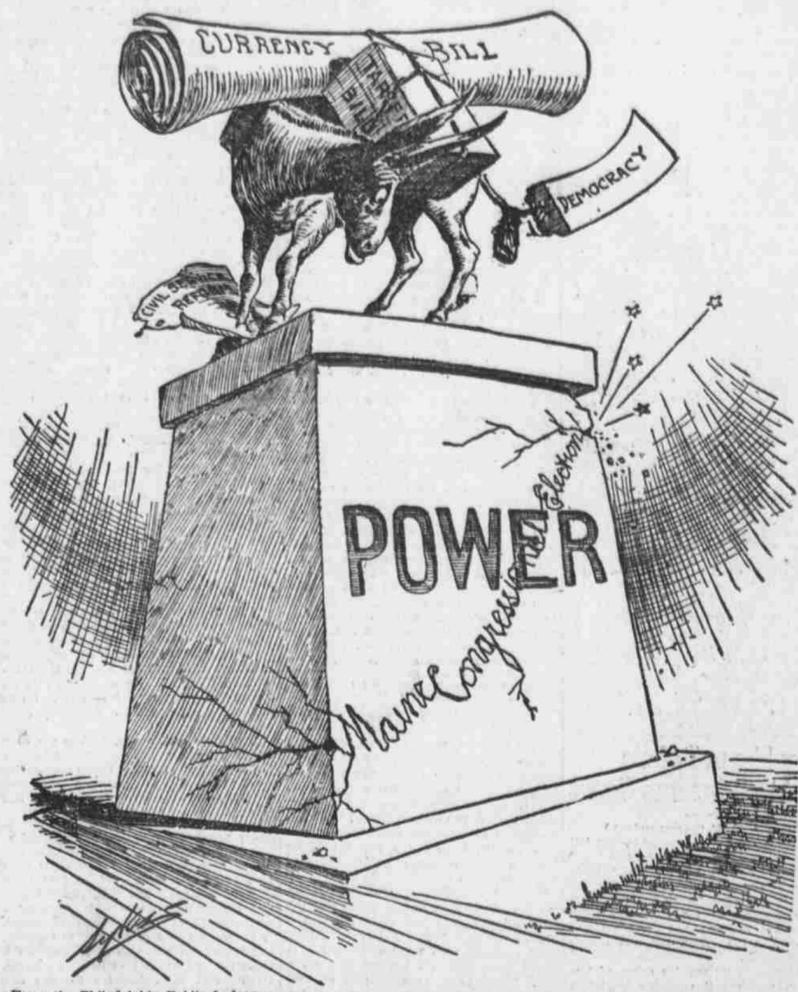

Comes on Hunting Trip. The prince of Monaco, with his party came to America last week for the express purpose of shooting bears near Cody, Wyo., with Buffalo Bill. While in Wyoming the prince will look over some old lands near Moorcroft and Casper, in which he is interested.

A story current around the headquarters of the Burlington, over which the prince and his party traveled, is that a decrepit old bear named the defunct Buffalo Bill West show is being starved in a cage at Cody to make him growl and when the prince comes will be turned loose.

Besides being a ruler of the little principality where the famous Monte Carlo gambling resort is located, the prince of Monaco is also a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Discovery Made by Which Finger Prints Can Be Transferred

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—A discovery that strikes at the entire fabric of the finger print method of identification in use by the police throughout the world was announced today by Theodore Kytko, municipal handwriting expert, who asserts that he is able to transfer finger print from one object to another. By means of Kytko's discovery finger prints invisible to the eye, left on paper or glass, could be transferred to other objects with the object of fastening crimes upon innocent persons.

GAYNOR'S BODY ABOARD SHIP

Liner Lusitania Sails from Liverpool for New York.

SIMPLICITY AT THE FUNERAL

Wife of Late Mayor Says There Will Be No Military Display—Will Be Filled with the Surrrogate in Brooklyn.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 14.—The body of William J. Gaynor is now aboard the steamer Lusitania after receiving honors here seldom paid to any except England's most illustrious dead.

The Lusitania sailed Saturday night for New York and is due there next Friday. In deference to the feelings of the passengers on the Lusitania, which was crowded, the body was taken aboard early in the morning after a brief funeral service at the Liverpool town hall.

All night the body lay in state guarded by details of picked port. Cunard officials received the coffin on board the Lusitania, while a White Star tender carried it from the landing stage to the vessel anchored in the stream. Representatives of the lord mayor and several city councilmen were in attendance.

Pile of Lumber Slid Down Boy Thirteen Months Ago While He Was Working in Yards of Transfer Company.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 14.—Lying on a pneumatic cushion in a hammock swung in a compartment, Marion Wasucki, aged 13, tonight is speeding on the first lap of his long journey, which eventually, he hopes, will place him in the arms of his aged mother near Warsaw, Poland. Accompanying him on the journey is Miss Lydia Keller, superintendent of a local hospital, where for many months the lad has been bed-bound, paralyzed below the neck because of a broken back.

Thirteen months ago a pile of lumber slid upon the boy as he was working in the yards of a local transfer company. He was an ignorant lad at that time, knowing practically nothing of the English language. After a hard battle physicians brought him as near back to health as they say he can ever attain, and he had begun his education under the tutelage of Miss Keller. Now he knows English and has a fair general education.

His attorneys finally obtained an award of damages of $12,000. Wasucki expressed the desire that he return to his mother in Polish Russia. By order of the president of the road on which the lad started the trip, the fast train to Chicago was stopped in Merriam park, a suburb in which is the hospital. Miss Keller carries with her a letter from Governor A. O. Eberhart, asking railway, steamship and foreign officials to do all in their power to make the trip possible for the boy.

BOY HAMMERS SHELL OF RAPID FIRE GUN; MAY DIE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Joseph Pazzo, aged 15, found an odd-looking shell in the home of a playmate today and took it to the cellar to find out what it was. He turned it on the pointed end and by placing objects around it got it to stand upright. Then he got a hammer.

In the resultant explosion the boy's right hand was blown off, his face burned, his leg badly lacerated and his shoulder cut. The concrete flooring of the cellar was blown to atoms and the furnace converted into scrap. Young Pazzo probably will die.

UNION VETERANS ARRIVE FOR CHATTANOOGA MEET

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 14.—The dawn of Sunday will find thousands of Grand Army men on the field of the forty-seventh national encampment of the veterans who wore the blue. By the close of Sunday fifty fifty trains will have brought a total of perhaps 20,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic into Chattanooga for the first encampment held in the heart of the south.

Bread Line Broken as Derelicts View Face of "Big Tim"

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The bread line that forms nightly in front of the Bowers mission was broken tonight and many derelicts gave up the chance of getting coffee and rolls to visit the rooms of the Timothy D. Sullivan association and look upon the face of the man who in his life had befriended thousands of the friendless of New York City. The line of persons who passed the coffin of the dead idol of the East Side was still a long one late tonight and the prospects were it would continue all night.

The body of Sullivan lies in state in the rooms of the association. It was identified at a local morgue after it had lain there unidentified thirteen days. Sullivan, who was ill, eluded his nurses on the morning of August 31 and a few hours later was run down and killed by a train. A search had been made for him since he disappeared.

Flyer Hits Vehicle; Two Killed; Six Hurt

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 14.—Two were killed and six injured, two of them probably fatally, near Ashton, Idaho, early today when the Yellowstone flyer on the Oregon Short Line struck a vehicle carrying a party of young people from a dance.

A special train reached Salt Lake City today bringing three of the most seriously injured. The train, traveling about thirty miles an hour, threw the eight occupants of the vehicle high in the air and reduced the vehicle to splinters. The dead:

CLARA MARTINDALE, LEES DRÖLLINGER.

The injured: Hatlie Garrett, Clifford Harris, Claudia Daley, Nettie Daley, Eugene Bowler, Lewis Hendricks.

The first three were brought to Salt Lake City. All seven of the party were between the ages of 17 and 22. They were on the way to their homes at Marysville, Idaho, from Chester, where they had attended an all night dance, when the train hit their buggy at a crossing.

OPTIMISM IN WALL STREET

Underlying Conditions in Securities Market Improve.

WEEK IS FAVORABLE ONE

Passage of Tariff Bill, Breaking of Drouth, Cheerful Trade Reports and Bettering of Investment Demand Help.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Underlying conditions in the securities market improved this week. Passage of the tariff bill by the senate removed uncertainty on that score. The drouth in the southwest was broken. Trade reports in many cases were cheerful. The investment demand was better. In the stock market after an uncertain and checked movement in the fore part of the week a comprehensive and advancing movement set in which developed to striking proportions in many cases.

The advance was fostered by various incidental developments.

An example was the rumor of an intended extra distribution to Union Pacific stockholders out of the proceeds of the Southern Pacific sale.

The sag in prices preceding publication of the government crop report and the hardening afterwards was an example of how corn crop damage had been discounted in the previous action of the market. The figures even of the estimate had been accurately predicted. There was the further consideration that the promise of a bumper wheat crop offset the effect of the corn showing. Then there were reports of soaking rains in the recent drouth district. The influence of the corn damage is modified by the large reserves from the preceding year's crops and by the high ruling prices.

Current consumption of steel products is maintained and the rate of decrease in New Orleans is lessening as shown by the United States Steel corporation's statement of unfilled orders. The copper producers' report disclosed the smallest surplus of refined copper in years.

The seasonable movement of currency from the reserve centers to the agricultural interior threatens to supply a natural check to the speculative use of funds. Interior demands on New York for cash at this season usually run from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000, and the movement has barely begun. Discount rates are hardening abroad, although the banking position there continues almost unprecedently strong.

Miller Files Brief in Labor Dynamite Cases

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 14.—United District Attorney Miller today sent to the United States court at Chicago a brief covering the government's reasons why a new trial should not be granted thirty-one of thirty-three men convicted in the dynamite conspiracy trials here last winter. The document is believed to be the longest of its kind ever filed in this country and contains 78 printed pages.

Ad Reading Economies

Among your friends and neighbors do you know of one who does not avail himself or herself of the help of any of the many economical constantly set forth in the advertising columns of The Bee?

We like to feel, and as a matter of fact, it is almost true, that "everyone reads the advertisements nowadays."

But if you know of one who shops carelessly or runs his affairs independent of the helpful and economical suggestions found in the advertising of this or other good newspapers, tell him what you have found to be a fact—that the best way to practice economy in our day-in and day-out expenditures, whether large or small, is to cultivate the helpful habit of ad-reading.

Induce him to read thoughtfully the advertisements in today's newspaper and he cannot help being convinced.

NOTED PERSONAGES WILL VISIT OMAHA IN EARLY NOVEMBER

Well Known Men and Women to Address Teachers at Convention This Fall.

DR. ANNA SHAW WILL BE GUEST

Famous Suffragist Leader Slated to Speak Here.

SUBJECT OF CHIEF LECTURE

She Will Talk on "The Importance of American History."

EASTERN SCHOOL HEAD COMING

President Alexander Mellickejohn of Amherst College and Dr. Butler of Chicago University Are Among Orators.

Dr. Anna Shaw of New York, most noted American suffragist and several other persons of national prominence will come to Omaha the first week in November to address the Nebraska State Teachers' association as the result of arrangements made by the executive committee of the association at a meeting held in this city yesterday afternoon.

President Alexander Mellickejohn of Amherst college, Massachusetts; Dr. Nathaniel Butler of Chicago university, O. T. Corson, editor of the Ohio School Journal; Prof. Giddings of Minneapolis, lecturer on musical subjects, and Catherine Blake of New York, an expert in clay modeling, are other noted men and women whom the 5,000 delegates to the teachers' convention will be privileged to hear.

Dr. Shaw's subject for her principal lecture will be "The Importance of American History." Local suffragists already have indicated that they desire to entertain her. She visited in Omaha last year.

The following members of the executive committee of the Nebraska State Teachers' association attended the meeting held yesterday at the office of Superintendent Graff of the Omaha schools: State Superintendent Delsell of Lincoln, chairman; Charles Arnot of Schuyler, W. O. Bishop of University Place, E. Clippinger of Sutton, Joseph R. Pulk of Seward, E. U. Graff of Omaha, W. T. Stockdale of Chadron and J. F. Mathews of Grand Island.

The teachers' association last year broke a precedent by deciding to come to Omaha for two consecutive conventions because they were highly pleased with the hospitality which they met in this city. "The attendance at the convention last year was 5,000 persons," said Superintendent Graff, "and this year it probably will not be smaller."

Son Who Switched and Spanked Papa Forgives; Forgiven

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 14.—President Frank A. Hanley of Franklin college, his mother, his brother, Oakley Hanley, and Mrs. Oakley Hanley and Miss Hanley, a sister, will be called before the grand jury here Monday to tell of an assault said to have been made by President Hanley upon his father, Calvin Hanley, of Middletown.

Dr. Hanley and his father were reconciled tonight when the son motored to his father's home. In the presence of all the members of the family the two embraced and asked mutual forgiveness. According to a friend who witnessed the meeting, the father declared that he had been spoiled by being allowed to dictate to other members of his family.

The Franklin president made the trip to Middletown after he had received word that his father wished to see him.

What effect the reconciliation will have upon the grand jury investigation, officials would not predict tonight, though friends of the Hanley family declared the action probably marked the close of the incident.
