BODY OF SHOON QUIE TO BE SENT TO CHINA

The body of Shoon Quie, a 10-year-old Chinaman, who died at a Chinese grocery store at 115 North Twelfth street Saturday morning in consequence of quitting the opium habit too abruptly, will be sent to Hong Kong, China, next Thursday for burial. In the meantime local Chinese friends will hold nightly prayer services for the soul of the deceased. Shoon Quie is said to leave a widow and several children in China. He was quite well known in Omaha, where he came several years ago. Despite the fact that he was an inveterate opium smoker and spent considerable time indulging his craving for the drug, he was well liked. For this reason services according to Chinese custom will be held for him until the body is sent away. Quie died at about 6 o'clock Friday morning after having complained of the sleeping illness, which is common to opium users who have will power enough to deny themselves indulgence in the stuff.

SPECIAL CLUB COMMITTEE TO REPORT ON NEW ROAD

As a result of the meeting of the transportation traffic committee of the Commercial club with C. W. Baker, promoter of the Nebraska-Sioux City-Omaha electric interurban project, a special committee was appointed consisting of T. Redmond, L. F. Baxter and R. N. Towl, who, on Friday, met with Mr. Baker and some of his men. This committee of three will report the result of its investigation to the general committee on Monday, which will in turn make some kind of a recommendation to the executive committee at its first meeting Tuesday noon.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Sentiment of Employers Against Vocational Training.

EDUCATION AS A WAGE GETTER

Showing of Commercial College Student in Workshops—Doings in Nearby Colleges—Notes.

Vocational training in the public schools is not making progress in St. Louis. Not because St. Louis is unwilling to advance education along lines practical and beneficial. The city hesitates because local employers of labor regard special trade training in the school of no practical value in the workshops. Last spring School Superintendent Ben Blewett addressed 400 letters to employers of labor in St. Louis, asking them if they desired that the boys they employed should have a special trade training for the business to which they (the employers) desired to put them. The replies, summarized in the St. Louis Republic, "were almost unanimously against any particular training in the schools."

"Give the children general training as wide as possible," say the employers in effect. "We will attend to the special training when they come into our employ." Commenting on the views of employers, Superintendent Blewett said in a Republic interview: "That a great majority of local employers of juvenile labor seem to feel that our present system of grade school education is satisfactory and that vocational training in the grade schools is not indispensable, does not mean the end of vocational training discussion in St. Louis. We feel that the subject has not been fully discussed and its virtues or faults thoroughly proven."

"But, until it is decided that vocational training would be of benefit to the children and to society at large we shall not be in a hurry to adopt it. On the other hand, until it is established that vocational training would be injurious we shall not give up the deepest consideration of it."

KEARNEY STATE NORMAL.

Plans of Many Teachers for Fall and Winter Work.

Miss Alice Hawthorn, graduate of the higher course of the state normal school at Kearney, successful teacher of the Lincoln city schools and popular institute instructor, is called to a position as critic teacher in the Kearney State normal. Miss Charlotte Lowe, primary critic in the normal, is taking leave of absence during the present year to pursue her studies in the University of Nebraska. She will return for the opening of the summer school next June.

Miss Marion Smith, the popular art instructor in the normal, is taking a half year's absence, which time she will spend in Woodstock, N. Y., getting the autumn tinting and later will take up her work in the art institute of Philadelphia. Miss Lydia Salgren, director of biological laboratories, takes a year's leave of absence to pursue her studies in science in the University of Nebraska. Dr. Arthur Carey Fieshman, head of the department of education of the normal, received a very flattering call to a similar position in the state normal school at West Chester, Pa., and resigned his position to accept same. Every effort is being made to secure a man of equal ability and preparation to take up the work in education in the normal.

PREMONT COLLEGE.

Various Activities of Classes and Societies.

The teachers, class, under the direction of Prof. Ray, presented themselves in a body in chapel Monday and conducted exercises. They were cordially received by the other classes, all of which are organized and starting out in splendid condition for the year. The class was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Ray Wednesday. The Hibernia and Star literary societies opened on their respective evenings, Friday and Saturday, with an unusual program in the way of music and literary exercises. The male quartet under the direction of Prof. John Phillips was enthusiastically received. Miss Agnes Kirkgard of Scranton, Ia., has been a guest at the college for a week and home to return later to specialize in piano. Mrs. A. M. Reynolds, head of the art department, was pleased to find that she had been awarded the blue ribbon in china painting and also landscape in oil at the agricultural fair.

NEBRASKA WESLEYAN.

First Meeting of the Faculty Held Friday Evening.

The first faculty meeting of the year was held Friday evening. The new faculty members were present, Dr. Howard, who takes the place of Dean McProud of the teachers' college; Miss Swan of the French department, Prof. Shirk of the botany department and Prof. McCree of the conservatory. Extensive repairs are being made on the heating plant. New apparatus has been received in the various departments. The meetings of the Methodist conference will be held in Grace church next week. Arrangements are being made for a great Wesleyan day on Friday, September 19. The members of the conference, numbering nearly 500, will come to the University Place in a body and visit the university, after which they will be entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner in the church basement. Dr. Nicholson will be the speaker of the evening meeting held in the University Place church.

STYLES ON LIVING MODELS

Brandeis Stores to Have Big Fall Opening Three Days This Week.

STAGE IS MORE ELEVATED

Crowds Which Visit the Display Will Have Better Opportunity to See the Gowns Than Last Year.

Promenade des Toilettes at Tableaux Vivants will be seen at the brilliant opening at the Brandeis stores Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The management has taken particular pains this season to make the stage high enough so that the holder and her dress artist models from New York may be seen from any point on the second floor. A large stage has been erected and placed in the center of the main aisle on the second floor. Resting on the stage is a huge gold frame from which the models will be first seen. They will pose for several minutes in this frame and will then step out and walk slowly a beautiful instrument drawing room at one end of the promenade. From the drawing room they will walk to the attractive summer garden at the other end of the promenade. The young women, who will wear the costumes of every kind and description are from New York and have posed for many of the prominent artists of the country. Beautiful blouses and striking bristries each day from 10 until 12 o'clock and 3 of street suits to the very latest evening gowns. Hats will be worn by them showing the latest angle and tilt. As each one appears in the frame a small page will herald the name of the costume.

New Comes the Tango.

The original extreme tango gown, in correct color and cut in character, which has caused so much comment, will make its debut in Omaha. The tango is a brilliant mustard yellow and the front slash is opened above the knee while the slash behind is not so high. This discloses the chiffon pantaloons of the same color which are fastened to the ankle with tiny silver bands. The bodice is of the same material as the pantaloons and trimmed with the same silver trimming. The skirt is artistically draped at the hips which gives the full effect and is very narrow at the ankles. One new feature of this evening gown is that there is no train. In the east where the new dances are quite the rage the skirts are of the round length which allows the dancers to take all the new steps. It will be a season of color and the most delicate shades and combinations are seen. The debutante frock is seen in the chiffons with maribou trimmings, while the gowns for the society matron are of broadcloth, charmeuse and chiffon velvet, trimmed with fur, of which the Fitch is the very latest. Another new feature of the evening and afternoon gown is the hoop effect at the hips, and in many of the new gowns whale bone is used to hold the material at its proper distance. The new colors are seen in the Hague blue, mahogany and Russian green.

Street Suits are Beautiful.

Street suits are more beautiful than ever this season, not only in material, but in color. The materials are softer and more clinging; the broadcloth, velour de laine, pau de cerise and last but not least, pau de pache, which is one of the most popular materials shown in the east. The English translation means skin of the peach and this material is indeed very like it. The coat is quite long in back and cutaway in the front, with a little vest of the same material as the cuffs and collar. The skirt of the street suit is decidedly peg top and narrow at the ankles with the slit of eight inches. There is no more popular hat worn in Paris or New York than the cubist sailor and these will be seen at the opening in the millinery department. It is for semi-dress wear. It is a velvet hat with a soft crown and four distinct corners are most apparent in the brim. The original hat is seen with a silk braid band and a small silk ball at the side and back corners. These are trimmed also and bands of tiny silk roses surround the crown. One notable feature of the hat this year is seen in the trimming, being attached to the brim of the hat and not to the crown. The cubist rose is very popular in the east—it is a square flower in a brilliant red. These are sewed to the brim of the hat in the back and hang down by the stem. The hats are in the soft velvets and very few felts are seen. Parasols combined with French plumes adorn the handsome evening hats.

GREAT CROWD GATHERS TO SEE GOWNS ON MODELS

Employees of Orkin Bros' store and half a dozen policemen did not take the trouble to determine whether it was the display of remarkable gowns or the pretty models that wore them last night that caused an enormous influx of men to the store, but nevertheless, the crowd was so great that it required the services of a cordon of officers to prevent possible accidents and injuries. Early in the evening men began to come to the store. In some cases they were alone, and in others they were accompanied by companions of the opposite sex. The milling and rushing was caused by the public trying to get the good vantage points of the display.

SICK WIFE IS EXCUSE GIVEN FOR ROBBERY

A sick wife who is in need of necessities of life is the cause of the theft of $50 from C. E. Schley of Schuyler, according to Frank Hilliges of Columbus, in a confession made to the police last night. He was arrested by Detectives Fleming and Pasanowski just as he was leaving the city. With Schley he engaged a room at the Dressal hotel Friday night, and while Schley was out for a few minutes, the Columbus man took $50 and left. The police are investigating the sick wife story, and if it is found true, efforts for judicial clemency will be made.

GETS HUFFY WHEN CHAUFFEUR IS ARRESTED

When Motorcyclist Policemen Somery and Wheeler arrested a chauffeur for T. W. Hazen, a local real estate dealer, the latter, who was in the car, after seeing the officers steadily for several minutes, said he would file formal charges against them with the commissioners. The officers accused the chauffeur of reckless driving and also of operating a machine without a tall light, as required by an ordinance. "I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Va. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a bit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 125 pounds. I can eat what I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." WHY DON'T THE HORSES GO? Motor Power Falls to Decrease Their Number or Usefulness. "The passing of the horse" was duly announced in the public prints even before the pleasure automobile was a pronounced success. A few years later, when motor cars became plenty, the horse again had a period of being "passed," and when the motor truck became a practical reality his obituary was once more read into the "Facts for the Family" section of thousands of daily and weekly papers. But apparently he doesn't go, in fact, in some cities there are more of him today than ever before. Whether our noble friend prefers city life to a home in the country, or whether our street traffic is growing so rapidly that the addition of thousands of tons capacity of motor trucks barely keeps up with the growth, we leave for our readers to decide. It will, however, be a surprise to anyone who takes the trouble to study into the matter to discover how slowly the horse is retreating from our large cities. In Chicago, for instance, there are now 72,939 horses employed, or only 227 less than one year ago. In Boston there are more than 100,000 horses, or only 10,000 less than ten years ago; only fifty horses less than ten years ago; only 100 less than twenty years ago; only 150 less than twenty-five years ago; only 200 less than thirty years ago, while Minneapolis has actually 158 and St. Louis 720 more than ten years ago. It should be noted, however, that the city carriage horse has practically gone; in fact, the cartmen are already going, the occasional driving horse as a curiosity, and he is now relegated to the omnibus and funeral work, in which he is gradually losing ground. The riding horse will remain for a time, but hangs on a slender thread, for some new exercise fad is likely to displace him at short notice. The farmer is rapidly reducing the number of horses on his place, going to town in an automobile and plowing more and more with mechanical power. Nevertheless the price of Drinking Men and Women Thousands of men drink to excess. Thousands of women—wives and mothers of families—are also slaves to the appetite for alcoholic liquors. The regular use of alcoholic liquors means ruin to both men and women, and when they have drunk until self-control is lost, they need medical treatment—the Neal Drink Habit Treatment, which is a safe, sure, and stable remedy that removes the craving and necessity for drink in three days, without the use of hypodermic injections.
