WITH the first signs of cool weather, the Carter Lake club is planning for winter sports for the coming season, and for the first time the club plans to keep open all winter.

It is planned to have ice skating, roller skating and ice boating at the club all winter. The club house will be heated with a large fireplace, and although the table d'hôte dinner dances will close September 30, small parties can be entertained at the club after that.

Many improvements are planned for the club next season; the bathing has been so popular this summer that the bath house at the club will be enlarged to double the present capacity. Many houses and cottages have been built on the club grounds this year and about twenty families intend to have their permanent homes there.

Arrangements have been made to continue the same car service as during the summer.

Fashion Hint

By LA RACONTEUSE.

The Balkan influence is felt in afternoon gowns, as well as in other garments. These gowns are more brilliant in coloring than formerly and of somewhat less filmy materials. The fact is a highly practical one for the woman who finds the frequently necessary cleaning of embroidery and chiffons to be expensive. Nothing could give more pleasing service as an afternoon gown shown by this photograph and developed in embroidered white crepon.

The kimono bodice, fastens in the middle front by a row of tiny buttons of white and cherry silk, with a pointed collar of cherry taffeta, trimmed all round with a small white Bulgarian ornament. At the waist it is trimmed by a broad effect of Bulgarian embroidery in white and cherry. A band of embroidery in the same style runs from each side front to the shoulder, comes down the upper part of the half long sleeve, turns round above the loose cuff of the same material. The skirt, slightly gathered at the waist, is pleated front and back, the middle front being trimmed with the same rows of buttons as at the bodice. The same design of Bulgarian embroidery is repeated under the shape of "panel" or small basques.

Fort School Opens

With Enrollment of Twenty-Five Pupils

Fort school opened yesterday with a morning enrollment of twenty-two boys. Principal E. D. Gerson and Superintendent E. U. Graft worked all morning arranging the work for the boys, who will be given "special treatment" at this school.

Kellom school kindergarten was so crowded yesterday and it was found necessary to institute half day sessions and use the Auditorium for a class room. There were 120 5-year-olds enrolled, according to the principal.

CREIGHTON DENTS VISIT THEIR FORMER PROFESSOR

Although deeply engaged in the mysteries of the study of dentistry, nevertheless the call to the soil is still a very interesting topic to the students of Creighton Dental college. So Sunday morning the senior class met at the college building and hiked to the home of their former teacher and superintendent of clinic, Dr. G. W. Hamilton, who has retired from the active practice of dentistry and is now engaged as manager of Edgewood stock farm.

The start was made at an early hour and cars were taken to the Bluffs, where the transcontinental auto road, known as the white pole road, has its beginning. For five miles this road the dents, hiked to Edgewood, where they were met by Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton. After smoking several boxes of Pittsburgh stories and swapping old stories and experiences a lunch was served. Late in the afternoon the dents began the trip homeward, after giving three cheers for their host.

POCKET PICKED OF MONEY AND VALUABLE PAPERS

E. H. Bjorkman of Lincoln, stopping at 215 North Fifteenth street, reports to the police that he was touched Sunday night for $20 in cash and a number of notes and other valuable papers. High School Band Strikes

All but One Led Votes to Leave the Band at Once

OBJECT TO TRY COLORED BOYS

Vice Principal Reed Censures the Boys for Trying to Stir Up Race Prejudice in the Public Schools.

With the exception of one boy every member of the Central High school cadet band quit the organization Monday afternoon because George Green, band master, had admitted four colored boys to the band. Lee Chestnut was the only member who said he would continue to play when Green called the role on the question. Twenty-three said they had struck.

"This band is dismissed, then," said Green, "and we'll organize another. There will be a meeting Thursday when a new band will be organized."

Vice Principal C. E. Reed of the high school spoke to the boys after the vote had been taken. He said:

"Mr. Green is absolute master of this band. Every school official from the president of the Board of Education to the high school faculty believe he is right and that you boys are wrong."

"Last year Mr. Green organized a new band out of raw material and he will do it again this year, because we need a band. You boys who have not had the four years of drill required will go to your companies and drill."

Most Now Drill.

Playing in the band excused the boys from the drill with the cadets.

Green called the boys to order and they sat apart from the four colored lads. They had not brought their instruments. Some hesitated when the roll was called, but not until the very last name was called was there a vote to remain in the band. Then little Lee Chestnut answered emphatically that he would play.

Reed censured the boys for attempting to stir up race prejudice. He said the Board of Education disapproved such
