

BANKRUPT STOCK ALL SOLD

Orkin Bros. Buy the Entire Stock of Weindler & Smith. IS TO BE PUT ON SALE SOON. Stock Had Just Been Replenished for the Fall Trade and Contains Much that is New and Up-to-Date.

Orkin Bros. have purchased the bankrupt stock of the Weindler & Smith company, 27 South Sixteenth street, through R. A. Van Orsdel, the trustee in bankruptcy. The stock was purchased by Mr. M. E. Orkin Thursday for approximately 80 cents on the dollar. The stock will be sold at sale prices in the immediate future, the time to be announced definitely within a week or two. The Weindler & Smith stock consists of all kinds of women's furnishings and is complete in fall and winter goods of the latest styles and designs. Weindler & Smith have sustained a wide reputation throughout the entire middle west as one of the most up-to-date and complete women's furnishing stores in this part of the country. Anything in the way of women's furnishings have been kept in stock on the shelves of the store, and it was always possible to secure any article, big or small. The stock was acknowledged to sell the best materials, with absolutely no cheap goods. The stock purchased a few weeks ago was more expensive and of better grade material than any other stock ever purchased by that store. The stock was more complete this year, including as it did every style, both conservative and radical.

Patrons Get Benefit. Mr. Orkin considered the worth of the stock and, although it was agreed that it might be a little difficult to move the entire stock quickly, he believed that as the patrons of the Orkin store would get the additional advantage of expensive materials at a lower cost, it would prove profitable to his store in the long run. Although the stock was secured at a ridiculously low cost, the Orkin store does not intend to make money on the sale. In fact, Mr. Orkin says the purchase was not a financial proposition, but merely a matter of accommodation for the patrons of the store. Prices on the bankrupt stock will be very low. As far as can be ascertained, as the stock was bought, not by pieces, but as a whole, prices on individual pieces will be about the same as the price paid by Mr. Orkin. Some profit will be made, however, as the Orkin store does not intend to become philanthropists, and because of the necessity of taking into consideration overhead.

Fixtures Bought, Too. The fixtures were also purchased by Mr. Orkin in order to secure the stock. It was because other bidders did not wish to have the fixtures on their hands that Mr. Orkin was able to get as low a price as he did. The fixtures are being sold now at a price slightly above the cost price. No specific arrangements have been made regarding the sale of the bankrupt stock and it is not definitely known whether Mr. Orkin will hold the sale at the Weindler & Smith location at 27 South Sixteenth street, or remove the stock to the Orkin store, although it is probable that the sale will be held in the Orkin store. It is held in the Orkin store it may be sold exclusively or with the Orkin stock. No announcement has been made, but will probably be made before many days. A representative of Mr. Orkin when questioned concerning the stock said that he believed the sale would be the most satisfactory one ever held in Omaha. "In the first place," said the representative, "the sale is unusual. The ordinary sale is either of closing stock or of bankrupt stock of an unstable firm which has no goods on its shelves that were not of inferior grade. The goods that will be sold at this sale are standard goods and of the highest quality. Weindler & Smith have always had irreproachable credit until this fall, and their stock includes every manner of high priced articles. Therefore, when our patrons, and even those who have not been our patrons in the past, learn that we are offering, for reasonable prices, goods that have heretofore been of prices beyond the means of the ordinary buyer, it is certain that they will take the stock off our hands before we get it fairly recorded on our books. By this sale we intend to make little profit, but we do expect to secure the good wishes of the buying public for our trouble and time in accommodating the Omaha public and we expect our business to increase accordingly."

Information Bureau is in Need of More Rooms. More rooms are needed to house the many visitors who are coming to Omaha to attend the fall festivities in honor of King Ak-Sar-Bon. From a reliable source comes the information that several of the largest hotels in the city are already pretty well filled. The information bureau, being conducted by E. V. Parrish, manager of the Commercial club, is one of the busiest spots in Omaha and all day long several clerks are kept busy answering questions and providing lodging places for the hundreds of visitors who daily come to the city. Mr. Parrish says more rooms are needed and urges all persons having spare rooms for rent to list them with the information bureau. The telephone numbers of the information bureau are Tyler 1283 and 1284.

LINCOLN WAY BEING MARKED

Poles Along Farnam Street to Bear Insignia of the Route. FLAG AND SIGN ON THE BRIDGE. Maps Are to Be Prepared Showing Not Only the Lincoln Highway, but the Other Routes as Well. Members of the good roads' committee of the Commercial club, and the entire club itself are highly excited and worked up over the planing of Omaha on the first transcontinental automobile road through the country, the official title of which is the Lincoln Highway. Some of the members go so far as to say that this highway will mean more to the cities it passes through than the Panama canal will. It is the first transcontinental route and passes through the state of Nebraska from one end to the other. Not only does it do this, but it follows the scenic route of the Union Pacific through the richest section of the state. The Commercial club is doing all in its power to show the Lincoln Highway association that Omaha appreciates the honor bestowed on it. The good roads committee of the club is busily engaged marking the route through the city. A large flag and board describing the route through Omaha will be placed on the east end of the Douglas street bridge. The route follows Douglas street to Tenth, thence south to Farnam and west on Farnam to Forty-ninth and through Dundee. The first paint in the marking of this route has been placed on the poles by the Commercial club. The mark will be red, white and blue with the letter "L" in the center on the white background. H. E. Fredrickson, who has done more for Omaha in laying out automobile routes, is in the city and superintending the marking of the poles. Mr. Fredrickson will represent Omaha at the American Roads congress meeting at Detroit Monday and Tuesday. Maps are being prepared now by the good roads committee and which will be put out in the near future, showing the route of the Lincoln highway with Omaha marked as the "Crossroads of America." There will be an inset in these maps showing the state of Nebraska and neighboring states and all the auto routes running out of this city.

The fellow was forced to maintain this position while Miles telephoned headquarters

THE NATIONAL VACUUM WASHER

This washer washes much more quickly, does the work cleaner and with less work to the operator. The rapid action of the dasher, driving the hot water and suds through the soiled clothes forces out the dirt. The agitation of the hot water makes the dirt respond immediately. Two to six minutes will remove the dirt from any fabric that can be cleaned with soap and water. By the vacuum principle the dirt is all forced OUT instead of rubbing part of it into the fabric. The wear on the fabric is greatly eliminated. The price of the National Vacuum Washer is $11
