Brakeman Suat—George B. Williams, a brakeman, has brought suit in district court against the Illinois Central and Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroads for $4,000 damages for injuries suffered by him March 15 of this year.

Bakers Meet Here This Month—The annual convention of the Nebraska Master Bakers' association will be held in Omaha this year on October 21, 22 and 23. The local men are expecting in the neighborhood of 300 master bakers from all parts of the state to attend.

Makes Expensive Acquaintance—Ed Veyard, Dundas, Neb., fell into the company of a stranger at the King theater Tuesday evening and after the performance accompanied the man to Ninth and Dodge streets, where he was strong-armed by three negroes and relieved of his hat, shoes and coat. His "friend" disappeared while the holdup was being carried on.

Filbert Quits Burlington—N. H. Filbert, for nine years connected with the Burlington passenger department and for the last three or four years assistant chief clerk, has resigned to go into business for himself at Council Bluffs. He takes an interest in one of the oldest clothing stores in Council Bluffs. At Burlington headquarters, Mr. Filbert is succeeded by Henry Christensen, formerly a passenger rate clerk.

Tip Knap Over in Fight—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane, colored, living at 1518 Burr street, engaged in a family battle Tuesday evening. In the course of which a lighted kerosene lamp was tipped over, setting the room on fire. The department was called and after working a short time managed to extinguish the blaze. Mrs. Kane was arrested by Officer French, but her husband managed to escape. She was discharged by Judge Foster.

Walnut Crop Pays—J. C. Chisam of the Great Western has gone to California, where he will superintend the harvesting of the walnut crop on his ranch near Los Angeles. The business of the ranch has become so profitable this year that Mr. Chisam's son, who for a number of years has been private secretary to the president of the Great Western, has resigned and in the future will manage the ranch for his father. Off ten acres this year Mr. Chisam expects to gather $3,000 worth of walnuts, besides a large quantity of citrus fruits.

Actors Playing as Turks Have Exciting Evening in Cetinje

CETINJE, Montenegro, Oct. 1.—Riotous scenes, almost culminating in the lynching of the actors who represented Turks, marked the first performance to-night of King Nicholas' play, "The Siege of Scutari."

When the actor, who played the role of Essad Pasha, came on the stage, the tumult became deafening. A youth sprang on the platform, revolver in hand, and with difficulty was restrained from shooting the actor. When a member of the cast, before the battle scene, began to describe the assault on Tarabosch several veterans in the audience arose and denounced him as a liar.

When the third act showed the Turks in full retreat, the audience made a rush for the stage with the intention of lynching the wearers of the fez. The police were compelled to use force to restrain the frantic audience.

What Judge Foster Might See After Hours in Omaha

"A drink? Stop this way. I'll get it for you." These joy-laden words spoken thousands of times in Omaha in the late hours of the night, re-echoed, serve as a scornful funeral dirge for the 8 o'clock and Sunday closing law. When Police Judge Foster not long since announced that he was convinced of this fact he uttered a great truth, but he has not located any particular place where he who possesses a nocturnal thirst may cure it.

Only he might have accompanied an Omaha Bee reporter about the city. For the scribbler found it possible to drink where he would, was urged to drink more and never experienced in the slightest degree such difficulties as are met by public officials charged with enforcement of the law.

The Bee man started with the large hotels. He entered the Rome vineyard at about 9 o'clock in the evening and sat down in a little booth. When he asked for beer a waiter brought in a teapot and with it teacup. For this he paid 15 cents. In an adjoining booth a man and woman were drinking beer and the man had his arm about the woman.

Had to Be Careful. At the tier Grand hotel the drinker was asked some questions, but he secured a pint bottle of beer in a booth in the rear of the cafe for which he was charged 20 cents.

"We have to be pretty careful," said the "barkeeper," because the church people and the Anti-Saloon League are always making trouble and they come in and buy beer to get evidence. The police nor the city commissioners never bother us. We are not much afraid of the anti-saloon crowd, though, because they have never accomplished anything."

The Henshaw hotel cater to the refined and quiet drinker, and the reporter late at night enjoyed a drink of beer here served in a milk-white glass by a negro waiter. The waiter said it could not be purchased in bottles or pots after hours. "This is a nice way to serve it." Two couples were quietly drinking beer at another table. Ten cents a glass is the price.

At the Paxton hotel a pint bottle of beer was secured in the grill room. A colored waiter was working after hours here also.

Served by a Girl. When the Bee man patronized the Millard hotel he was directed to the north end of the cafe, where the lights were low. "I'll get it for you," said a girl waiter and she served a pint bottle at a cost of 15 cents.

At the Horsemen's hotel, 1421 Dodge street, upstairs, he found a place which is run "wide open."

Fifty cents for a quart bottle was charged for beer and girls every few minutes urged customers to "buy another." A large number of girls make their headquarters here and men and women were dancing, singing and swearing.

Saloon Men Said Beyond Control of Fire and Police Board. PASTOR SCORES CONDITIONS

Head of Lithuanian Church Says Number of Drunken People on Streets Sunday Disgrace to City.

It begins to appear as if the saloon keepers had gone beyond the control of the Fire and Police board. Reports from different parts of the city say that the closing law is a joke. In consequence the number of drunks on the streets has increased to such an extent as to draw down the denunciation of different clergymen in the city.

Rev. George Joanitta, pastor of St. Anthony's Lithuanian Catholic church, said yesterday that respectable people in the neighborhood of Thirty-third and Q were outraged by the number of drunks on the street on Sunday last. "This condition of affairs is shameful," said Rev. Joanitta, and you can use my name if you wish to."

No further orders have been issued by the board since the "order" of Saturday last. No one is paying any special attention to the saloon keepers it appears, and some of the policemen say they don't dare start anything, not knowing "where they are at."

It is certain that evidence has been gathered in regard to the non-enforcement of the law in South Omaha. Private citizens have actually offered to pay the expenses of any court proceedings that may be necessary to enforce the law in South Omaha.

Sheep Record Made. A new record in sheep receipts closed the month of September yesterday at the Union stock yards. The total sheep receipts for September amounted to 465,000 head, or more than 225,000 head above last September's record.

Cattle receipts despite the repeated warnings that help boost the price of meat were better this month than they were in September in 1911 and 1912. The run was 31,000 short of the cattle record run of 1910, but it was more than 12,000 above the cattle run a year ago.

Passing of Frisco's Underworld Celebrated with Giant Revel. HUNDREDS OF WOMEN STRANDED

Thrown on Their Own Resources, Afford Problem to Reform Forces. Bringing About Closing of Resorts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The Barbary coast of San Francisco, known to tourists the world over, celebrated its final passing tonight with a revel that packed its resorts to suffocation and thronged its streets with hundreds of lookers-on.

Promptly at midnight the police commission's ruling, preventing the further sale of liquor by women, went into effect, and in a last effort to prolong the night that has made the "coast" notorious since the pioneer days there was a sudden switch from cocktails to grape juice.

The police permitted this subterfuge to-night, but the word went forth that hereafter only "straight saloons," from which women will be barred, either as entertainers or visitors, are to be permitted, regardless of the nature of the drinks served.

Between 800 and 550 their own weak resources, afford a problem that the reform forces that forced the closing of Barbary coast are striving to meet. Club women today petitioned the police commission to postpone the execution of its order until work could be provided for this army of unemployed, but the petition was denied.
