State Board of Agriculture Makes Careful Estimate, Showing the Extent of the Harvest for Current Year.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 2 .- (Special.) -According to figures compiled by the State Board of Agriculture the farmers of Nebraska harvested 90,299,366 bushels of corn in 1913. Figured at 70 cents a bushel the erop is worth $63,209,558. In 1912 the production was estimated at 164,376,786 bushels. The corn acreage for 1913 exceeds that of any of the preceding years by about 200,000 acres. These figures show that Cheyenne county has the best average yield with thirty-seven bushels to the acre, while Scott's Bluff county has thirty-two bushels to the acre and Carfield goes thirty bushels. Clay county shows but three-tenths bushel 40 the acre. The totals: Keya Paha.. Knox Lancaster Sherman Walley Washington

EXTRA SWATS FOR HORSEFLY

Harvard Scientists Warn Parents Against the Most Deadly of the Species.

The presence of warm weather properly calls attention to infantile paralysis, which is a summer disease. It used to be considered a rather infrequent disvarious parts of the country, and medical attention was concentrated last year on the effort to learn everything possible about the disease and, above all, its cause and mode of distribution.

The affection may be fatal in a com paratively short time. Its favorite victims are children, and they may recover, but they may be sadly crippled for life. Probably no disease in recent years has produced more sadness in families than

The mode of dissemination of the disease has been found, one of its carriers 2.213.875 case has been found, one of its carriers 150,500 at least is recognized, and therefore it the past and eventually entirely eliminated.

The carrier thus far discovered is the stable fly, the stomoxys calcitrans, which 2.595,514 Stable Hy, the stomoxys calculars, which 1641,695 lives on the blood of animals and par-1,649,090 ticularly dwells near stables, but which 5.301,445 eccasionally invades human dwellings and fites particularly children who are not able to protect themselves against it. This seems to be the reason why infantile paralysis only rarely attacks larger children or adults.

For some time it has been known that the monkey is subject to infantile paralysis, and Prof. Rosenau of the Harvard edical school took up the problem of determining by means of this animal the 1,800,001 termining by means of this animal the 411,274 relation of the fly to the distribution of the disease. Monkeys were infected with 197,653 the disease by injection and then allowed to be bitten by stable flies. After an interval these flies were allowed to bits other monkeys. Bitten monkeys exhibited the symptoms of the disease in six 20,050 cases out of twelve.

The stable fly resembles the ordinary housefly in many ways and is indeed closely related to it, but differs from it in a number of important respects. The adult stable fly feeds exclusively on blood, biting particularly the domestic animals, so that the flies are much more common to the country and are often seen in the neighborhood of stables and barns in cities or towns. # EVERY Piece of Clothing SACRIFICED because I'm GOING OUT of BUSINESS

Put yourself in MY place; imagine yourself possessed of a large, unusually magnificent stock of suits and overcoats, all purchased for THIS season's wear; then suddenly find yourself COMPELLED to go out of business, with a lease expiring in a mere matter of weeks. Well, that's the position THIS store is in at THIS moment. It is absolutely NECESSARY to get quick action on the stock now here; it is necessary to SELL even if the clothes must be sold at HALF PRICE. The old adage about "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good" is a true one; this selling is a PHENOMENAL opportunity for YOU.

Even though this store room is small, there is an unusually large stock of garments crowded into it. Pienty of styles, plenty of sixes, plenty of colors to make an unusually attractive selection.

Furnishing Goods Will Be Sacrificed in About 10 Days --- If You Can Stave Off Your Needs Until Then, DO SO

Willing to Sacrifice All Clothes at HALF, but It's Necessary to Choose Quickly.

The sacrifice is hard enough, but a look upon first loss as the best loss, and I am willing to sell clothes at HALF PRICE right in the heart of the season if only sell them QUICKLY. My hasta is due to the fact that my lease will soon expire.

No Other Sale in Recent Years Has Been So Ripe With Real Opportunities. Look back upon the "Sales" of recent years and you will find the percentage of GENUINE GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALES VERY SMALL INDEED. I want to see bare walls here when my lease expires. for there will be no other "Brooks" store to place the left-overs in.
