JACOBSON ASKS FOR DAMAGES

Man Struck by Officer at Lincoln to Sue City.

FIGHT ON KING WARMS UP

Game Law's Interpretation Causes Some Difficulty in Western Nebraska Where the Chickens Are Especially Numerous.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Another gun was fired today in the recall campaign being conducted in Lincoln against Commissioner King, coming as a protest against his management of his department when a claim against the city was filed by Hans Jacobson for $10,000.

Jacobson was pulled from his motor-cycle by Officer Webb last Sunday afternoon and struck over the head with a club in the hands of the officer. The officer claims that he was justified in the action while witnesses state otherwise.

Friends of Jacobson have taken the matter up and T. J. Doyle, a prominent attorney of the city, has volunteered to act as his attorney in the prosecution for a claim for damages. It is said that the officer will also be prosecuted for assault.

Zahn Resists Application. The application before Governor Morehead this morning of E. E. Zahn, resisting return to Kansas on requisition of the governor of that state, was taken under advisement today.

Zahn is wanted in Cloud county in the sunflower state for selling liquor without a license and also for keeping it on his premises. He is under arrest at Nelson. Two attorneys, D. S. Simms and H. N. Marshall appeared at the hearing in behalf of Zahn while Sheriff Carl Moore and County Attorney M. V. E. Van De Marks of Cloud county appeared for the state of Kansas.

Ackerman Turns in Fees. Hotel Commissioner Ackerman turned into the state treasury this morning fees received by him in the amount of $588. Colonel Ackerman has been in Missouri and Kansas since last Friday attending to some matters of vital importance in connection with the state and otherwise.

Interpreting Game Law. Notwithstanding the law seems to be plain on the matter, it is pretty hard work to convince hunting parties from out of the state that they cannot take more than ten prairie chickens out of the state at one time and not more than fifty during the season. A letter from the county clerk at Hyannis to Game Warden Rutenbeck this morning again brings up the question, a party there insisting that fifty birds could be taken at one time. As far as that is concerned, fifty birds may be taken out of the state at one time, but not more than ten of them can be prairie chickens. The law says:

Except as otherwise provided in this act, the right given by this section to take or kill game and fish is limited to food purposes and to ten wild geese or brants and ten quail and ten prairie chickens or grouse and twenty-five game birds of any other variety and ten squirrels and twenty-five fish for each person in any one season.

It is further provided that any person having in his possession at any one time more than ten wild geese or brants, ten prairie chickens or grouse, fifty other game birds or twenty-five squirrels, nor more than fifty fish.

Complain About Crossing. The people of Belmont, in Dawes county, have made complaint to the railway commission regarding the dangerous crossing over the Burlington railway near that town and ask the commission to compel the company to build a viaduct over the track which passes through a cut, so it is understood. The company claims that the commission has no authority to order the construction of viaducts and also that as the town of Belmont is not incorporated and as the crossing mentioned is not on a street the town has no authority.

Culebra Cut is Filling Up Rapidly; Four Laborers Drown

PANAMA, Oct. 4.—Four West Indian laborers at Miraflores locks were drowned here by the giving way of the barrier. Although only twenty-four hours have elapsed since the water entered the Culebra cut, it is filling so rapidly that previous calculations have been upset, indicating that the cut will be filled to the level of Gatun lake by October 10, the date fixed for the destruction of the dike by dynamite.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Official assurance of the complete immunity of the Panama canal from damage by Wednesday's earthquake came to the Isthmian canal officers here today in the following cablegram from Colonel Goethals:

"Earthquake caused no damage to any canal structures nor did it create or increase any old slides."

The reference to slides is understood to arise from the report of a large movement of earth into Culebra cut at Cucharacha, which almost filled the canal prism at that point. This movement, however, has been in progress for some time and doubtless was facilitated by the admission of water into the cut through the twenty-inch pipes in Gamboa dike.

The purpose of admitting the water into the cut in advance of the blowing up of the dike about October 10 was to add to the efficiency of the dynamite charge by the tampering effect of the fifteen feet of water which will be admitted. It is probable that this water has acted as a lubricant and softened the earth at Cucharacha, thus hastening the sliding action.

Chancellor Fulmer Gives Opening Talk

UNIVERSITY PLACE, Neb., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Yesterday morning at Nebraska Wesleyan in the chapel hour, Chancellor Fulmer delivered his annual address, his subject being, "The Problem of Waste." The chancellor called attention to the needless loss of life and property due to careless and inefficient methods in the industrial world, also to the loss due to impaired health caused by intemperance in food and drink.

He emphasized the necessity of students having always in reserve sufficient strength to enable them to meet the emergencies of life and to this end advised the economy of time and money. The address was largely attended by citizens as well as students.

In the evening Chancellor and Mrs. Fulmer attended a reception to the faculty and students in the educational council rooms of the C. C. White building.

STATE TREASURER ADVISES MONTHLY SETALEMENTS

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the tax commission this afternoon State Treasurer George talked on the proposition of the enactment of a law requiring county treasurers to remit to the state treasurer on the tenth of each month and urged the commission to incorporate in their draft of a new revenue law that provision.

Deputy Treasurer Danielson gave the commission some ideas on the best methods to handle accrued state taxes which so uncollected every year.

The commission then adjourned to the offices of the legislative reference bureau at the university where they began a study of "History of Taxation in Nebraska," prepared by Assistant Director Hannan of the reference bureau.

TEACHERS PLAN TO COME TO THE STATE MEETING

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—State Superintendent Dezell is feeling good over the prospects for a big meeting of the State Teachers' association at Omaha. The program is the best ever arranged.

Superintendent C. A. Mohrman of Ne-light writes: "Your array of talent for the Omaha meeting looks good to me. We will be there with every teacher."

Superintendent C. B. Moore of Osceola says: "The Board of Education here took the initiative this year and arranged for our teachers to attend the state association on full pay and the district to pay their railroad fare besides. They cut it a good investment."

AUDITOR FILES REPLY TO ANSWER OF BOARD

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—State Auditor Howard, through his attorneys, Comstock, Stout, Bass & Wells, filed in the supreme court this afternoon a reply to the answer filed by Attorney General Martin in the quo warranto proceedings brought by the auditor to have the state insurance department placed back in the auditor's office, from which it was taken by a peremptory writ of mandamus from the supreme court.

The reply of the auditor is a general denial of the claim by the attorney general in his answer and a reiteration of his stand that he had never been served with any notice of any action involving his rights to the jurisdiction of the state insurance department.

WORKMEN BAND SERENADES OMAHA BUSINESS PLACES

The band of lodge No. 17, Ancient Order of United Workmen, serenaded a number of business houses last night. During the evening the band played a number of excellent selections in front of the bus business. There are twenty-two pieces in the organization and all of the instruments are in charge of accomplished musicians.

MELLOR TALKS OF PASSES

Says Would Welcome Better Way to Handle Situation.

CHILDREN INCLUDED IN LIST

Of 39,000 Issued, Nearly 16,000 Were to School Pupils and Rest to Old Soldiers and Exhibitors.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The controversy over the number of passes issued this year by the state fair board had Secretary Mellor to make a few additional statements on the subject. To newspaper men this morning he said that in the statement made a few days ago on the number of passes given out he neglected to say that of the 39,000 issued, 15,777 were to school children under 12 years of age and about 400 to members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who were admitted on old soldiers' day free. About 200 members who entered tables in the Better Bibles contest, were also in the list.

"When it comes down to 'free' passes," said the secretary, "the only free passes given were to the children and the old soldiers. Other passes given were to horsemen, exhibitors, concessionists, etc. I do not consider the passes given to newspaper men in the line of 'free' passes. The editors paid for their passes many times over in the publication of state fair announcements and a general boosting of the fair."

World Welcome Better Way. "The state fair board will hail with delight any investigation tending to throw light on the pass proposition as handled by the board. In fact, if anyone can invent any better method of handling the pass proposition the board will be mighty glad to consider it. We cannot expect the people who add to the interest of the fair by bringing their stuff here to exhibit to pay their way into the grounds, neither can we charge the people who run eating places and other places where staff is sold to pay their way every time they pass in and out, as they have to do in conducting their business."

"If we had to pay the newspapers for the space they give to advertising the fair, it would cost the management a great deal of money. Of course, we do not know whether the editors use the passes themselves or not. That is something we cannot follow up. If a newspaper man receives pay for his advertising for the fair and takes it as a pass, he has probably the same right to give the pass to a member of his office force or a friend, or sell it, if he wants to, the same as he would have to take the pass in money and buy tickets. If we paid him in money we certainly would have no right to say what he should do with the money. He has no better right to say what he shall do with a pass taken in place of money."

Struck in Face by U. S. Senator Reed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The senate judiciary committee room where the recent lobby investigation was held was the scene today of a personal encounter between Senator Reed of Missouri, one of the leading members of the investigating committee, and John McIntyre, said to be a former officer of the National Typothetae, whose name figured in the correspondence of Martin M. Mulhall, the legislative agent for the National Association of Manufacturers. There were few witnesses to the episode, but it is said Senator Reed struck McIntyre in the face, accompanying his action with an emphatic statement as to the falsity of certain allegations contained in an affidavit, which McIntyre was supposed to have in his possession. The controversy is understood to have arisen over this affidavit, which it was said, bore on Senator Reed's action in not putting on the witness stand one of the men subpoenaed during the lobby inquiry.

When questioned about the affair tonight Senator Reed smiled, but declined to confirm or deny the story. "You don't see any scratches on me," he said.

McIntyre left tonight for Philadelphia. He is alleged to have borne evidence of his encounter with the Missouri senator.

FORMER EAST ST. LOUIS OFFICIAL UNDER INDICTMENT

EAST ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—John D. Young, former deputy building commissioner, was indicted today on a charge of embezzlement. The indictment charges that Young secreted $500 for the purpose of defrauding the city. A few hours after the indictment was returned Young walked into the sheriff's office and surrendered. He was accompanied by two men who signed the $500 bond for his release. He refused to make a statement concerning the charges.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Leonard A. Holtenreid, a wall paper merchant, was indicted by the St. Louis grand jury this afternoon on a charge of attempting to bribe Henry Klug, a member of the lower house of the municipal assembly, to vote to override Mayor Kirt's veto of a tax increase bill.

WANTED, AT ONCE, HEIR TO HALF MILLION ESTATE

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 4.—Unless a missing heir is found, the $500,000 estate of Alexander E. Duvall, a pioneer of California, will revert to the state tomorrow and be sold at public auction. Duvall left a daughter, who had been disinherited after her elopement fifteen years ago with Thaddeus Stevens. No recent trace of the woman has been found by the public officials and it is believed she is dead. Tomorrow the public administrator will make his last call for an heir or a claimant to the estate.

BREWER URGES MORE PEOPLE DRINK BEER

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 4.—Before the fifty-third annual convention of the United States Brewers' association here today, President Jacob Ruppert of New York urged all brewers to realize the importance of allying themselves with the national body in order to oppose the inroads of prohibition.

"The object we are seeking to attain," he said, "is not to get people to drink more beer, but to get more people to drink beer."

Clabby Wins Decision

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., won a decision tonight over "Baldy" Ed Fitzpatrick of this city in a twenty-round fight. It was Clabby's fight all the way. In the first round he had the taller all but out.

TELLS OF REFORMS IN BOSTON

Mayor of Hub Addresses Omaha Central Labor Union.

OPINION ON MINIMUM WAGE

Believes the Children Should Enjoy Same Rights as Those of the Man Who Has an Abundance of Wealth.

Mayor John Fitzgerald of Boston, who addressed the members of the Commercial club at noon, visited the Central Labor union last night in tow of Mayor Dahlman. The Boston mayor spoke to the delegates for fifteen minutes, shook hands with every man in the house and proceeded on his way to the coronation of the king of Ak-Sar-Ben, with the labor representation cheering frantically.

"No wonder he can keep on being a democratic mayor in a republican city; he's some campaigner," said the delegates, not forgetting that Mayor Dahlman himself has a record along that line.

Mayor Fitzgerald recounted some of the reforms he had helped to institute in Boston and in Massachusetts—a widows' pension bill, a minimum wage of $15 a week, pensions for employees over 65 years of age, commonwealth and city appropriations for the support of the children of widows and of the poor.

He took his stand emphatically for a minimum wage and said a $15 minimum was essential to the bare support of a family now.

"Every boy should have a show in this world," said Mayor Fitzgerald, "whether he is rich or poor. There is no reason why the son of a rich man, and I speak in no restricted sense, should have greater educational advantages in this country than the son of a poor man."

Taking Care of Children. "In Boston we found it was somebody's business to take care of the children of widows who could not give their boys and girls proper advantages. Somebody had to take the place of the father, so the city and the state is doing it."

The mayor said he was a friend of the labor unions because they are usually reasonable in their requests, sane fellows willing to listen to argument, and usually right. He said it would take him all night to recount the good things organized labor has done in this country.

President Removes Judge C. D. Murane

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—President Wilson today removed Judge Cornelius D. Murane, United States district judge at Nome, Alaska. Attorney General McReynolds requested the resignation of Judge Murane several weeks ago and the latter refused to resign until next June. This resulted in the president's summary action.

It is said at the Department of Justice that the removal was made for the good of the service. There was a general dissatisfaction, it was declared, but no charges had been filed against the judge. Judge Murane's four-year term would have expired in December, 1914.

U. S. Roder, several days ago, resigned at the request of the attorney general as United States attorney at Nome.

A Bas the Tango and Like Dances at K. U.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 4.—The tango and other similar dances are prohibited in the University of Kansas in an order issued today by the board of administration of the institution.

The order is a result of a recent agitation over the latest forms of dancing, which resulted in two university students being suspended from the school after they had sent out a newspaper story of the organization of a tango club by university sororities and fraternities.

Evangelists Have a Right to Pick Up Little Extra Change. FREEPORT, Ill., Oct. 4.—Conference evangelists have a perfect right to "pick up a little extra change" by lecturing at chautauques and filling other "outside" engagements. This was the scene of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church as expressed today when a motion was made to limit activities of the evangelists to duties prescribed by the church discipline. Several ministers fought the motion determinedly, declaring it was a slur on evangelists. Bishop McDowell settled the matter by declaring the motion out of order. "Should evangelists demand guarantee of $500 or $1,000 before accepting an engagement with any pastor for evangelistic work? Is an evangelist doing just the right thing and is he showing just the right spirit when he hobbles only with richer classes, owns a big flashy automobile and in a general way conducts himself as though he were one of the elect?" These were questions that arose on a sharp debate on the question of proper equipment for evangelists. Rev. J. C. Yaker, Lake Bliss, complained that E. Honeywell, general evangelist, did not seem to care to go to less important churches and rode around in a big automobile. "Should evangelists demand guarantee of $500 or $1,000 before accepting an engagement with any pastor for evangelistic work? Is an evangelist doing just the right thing and is he showing just the right spirit when he hobbles only with richer classes, owns a big flashy automobile and in a general way conducts himself as though he were one of the elect?"
