Rome Miller Finds Eastern Hotel

Men Contrary to His Campaign. MAKING STEADY PROGRESS

In Spite of Opposition from Man; the Crusade is Gathering Imperus and More Are Falling in Line Every Day.

Rome Miller, who has been great strides toward the elimination of the old-fashioned finger bowl in cafes and dining cars, is having troubles these days with the eastern hotel managers who are unwilling to abandon the timehonored custom, principally because it was suggested by Mr. Miller, who ig a western man. The cast always has been backward about accepting western ideas until the west has so educated the public that it was impossible to forego the change any longer. Such is the case with Mr. Miller and his finger bowl crusade. but Mr. Miller rather cherishes the eastern opposition and is becoming more enthusiastic as a result.

Several hotel men of the larger cities, who first advocated the elimination of the finger bowl, have recently manifested what Mr. Mil'er calls a "yellow streak" and have changed their minds about the sanitation of the finger bowl. Most of the big hotels have in their stock a large number of imported brass finger bowls and they are unwilling to spend the money to secure sanitary bowls, that an impression of excellent culsine.

Until paper manufacturers can design a saniattractiveness to the table. Mr. Miller believes it expedient to only furnish the ordinary finger bowls when requested, Westerners Adopt Plan. Many of the hotels in the west have adopted Mr. Miller's policy of serving finger bowls only on request, while two great railroad systems, the New York Central lines and the Northern Pacific have adopted the same policy in their dining cars and at the company hotels.

Mr. Miller spends a lot of his time cormagazines with regard to it and he has proved make some comment in his magazine.

The campaign is attracting interest be- | sacred!" cause all the hotels in the middle west are favorable to the movement and it continued for the better part of half is only a question of time before eastern an hour, growing continually louder and hotels will adopt sanitary finger bowls, the wearied ones, gathering courage in The campaign has been in effect but little | the strength of their pajamas and bath over a month and already Mr. Miller has roles, hied themselves to their front doors received hundreds of communications extolling his campaign and stepping in line. Mr. Miller expects that as soon as the public realizes that finger bowls are conducive to disease germs the hotels and cafes will be demanded to install senitary finger bowls, and that is what his object is in the end.

Bids for Several Paving Jobs Are Rejected by City

Because bids for paving with vertical fiber brick were not included in the specifications submitted by City Engineer Watson Townsend, City Corporation Counsel Ben S. Baker has ruled that bids received for several large paving jobs must be rejected. The objection to Townsend's specifications was raised by Charles E. Fanning.

"It is better to reject all bids and receive new bids than to have a legal battle over the question," said Judge Baker, speaking of his opinion.
