GAMBOA DIKE BLOWN AS WILSON RELEASES ELECTRIC CURRENT

(Continued from Page One.) Gen. Twenty-four miles to the north the mighty Gatun dam, which to the uninitiated appears to be nothing more than a low, mountain range stretched across a valley, keeps the waters of Gatun lake from overflowing to the sea. These two barriers, on the greatest man-made dam in history, and the other a low ridge of earth and rock, which would ordinarily pass unnoticed, have kept in check the rising waters of Gatun lake. Today there is only one, and the waters of the lake now extend from Pedro Miguel lock on the south to Gatun locks on the north, a distance of about thirty-three miles, approximately two-thirds of the canal's length. Drills were at work on the dike nearly the whole month of September and it was mined with over 1,500 holes charged with dynamite. The barrier contained about 10,000 cubic yards of material, or the same number of two-horse wagon loads. Only one since it was built had it failed in its purpose. This was during the big freshet in the Chagres river of November, 1902, when the water came so close to the top, that at seventy-one feet above sea level, that it was deemed advisable to open the sluice gates and fill the cut with water, in order to avoid danger of heavy washing. This was done and for several days all work was suspended and only the tops of the steam shovels were sticking out of the water. Since that time the overtopping of the dike was never seriously threatened. When Gatun lake rose to a height of fifty feet in the latter part of 1911, the dike was widened to an average of fifty feet by dumping clay on the side toward the cut and raised to 78.1 feet above the sea level.

FACTS ABOUT THE PANAMA CANAL

World's Greatest Wonder Pen-Picured in Paragraphs. Time required to go through the canal, from ten to twelve hours. Freight will be shared $1.50 a ton, passengers are free. American coast-wise ships may pass through free of all charges. The canal will save 5,000 miles between New York and San Francisco. New York is brought 5,000 miles nearer Valparaiso and the west coast of South America. The distance to the Philippines Islands is not reduced materially. Bulk products like wheat, lumber, minerals, wool, hides and wines will get lower freight rates through the canal from Pacific ports. Eastern machinery, textiles, manufactures and finished products will enjoy cheaper rates to Pacific ports. Staple products of the south, cotton, iron, coal, lumber and ship supplies will have similar advantages to the orient and Pacific ports. Immigration will be deflected in large numbers from New York to Pacific ports. The cost of operating the canal will exceed $4,000,000 annually. About 2,500 employees will be required. To pay interest on the investment and operating expenses approximately $16,000,000 revenue per annum will be needed. Traffic experts estimate that for the first few years the average annual tonnage will be 10,000,000 tons, not enough at the $1.50 rate to make the canal self-supporting. The rates charged vessels are the same as those at Suez. The government will monopolize the business of supplying coal and provisions and operating repair facilities. Great drydocks, wharves, warehouses, repair shops and other facilities to cost $30,000,000 are under construction. All permanent buildings will be of the Italian Renaissance style of architecture. The route of the canal will be beautified with trees, etc. Storage for 600,000 tons of coal, maximum capacity, is provided. Normal storage capacity, 37,000 tons. Oil, 100,000 barrels. Monster 30-ton floating cranes will handle wrecks or accidents in the canal or locks. Warships of all nations may pass through the canal, but cannot linger more than twenty-four hours at either end, in time of war. The Interstate Commerce commission has jurisdiction over canal traffic—Leslie's Weekly.

Gas Plant at Iowa Falls Wrecked by a Runaway Engine

IOWA FALLS, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special).—Four hundred patrons of the city gas plant say without gas service today and probably will be for at least thirty days, as the result of the demolition of the gas plant by a runaway switch engine in the Rock Island yards here. A big locomotive in the upper yards suddenly started down the track, gaining headway with wonderful rapidity. It dashed onto a loading track and struck two box cars, which were carried to the end of the track, here the bumper was crushed like an eggshell and the cars carried across the street and into the gas plant. The two outer walls of the plant and an inner wall were demolished and the plant's machinery wrecked. The two cars were badly injured, but the engine escaped with little damage, as it did not leave the track. One of the box cars was pushed nearly through the plant and tumbled all about it was debris of the walls and the wrecked machinery. The gas plant has been in litigation for some time and is in the hands of a receiver. It was purchased last fall by E. H. Landy of Eldora, the attorney who acquired the Park Dam company and the Eldorado Electric Light plant. At the last term of court the plant was involved in a case in which George Forest of Portland, Ore., Minneapolis bond holder, E. H. Landy and others were represented. The gas plant was located on land belonging to the Rock Island road and it is stated that over a year ago the gas company was ordered to vacate the property, but had failed to do so. The question was raised today as to whether or not the railroad company is liable for damages for wrecking the plant, in view of the order of long standing to vacate the railroad company's property. The gas company has acquired a site east of the old Rock Island depot and it is stated a new plant will be erected thereon this fall.

Largest Flour Mill in Kansas Destroyed

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—Fire that spread almost like a flash through the six-story main building of the Southwestern Milling company at Eighteenth street and Kansas avenue, Kansas City, Kan., early today destroyed that structure and the mill's power plant a short distance away. It was thought several men working on the upper floors of the mill had been trapped by the flames, but the officers of the concern and firemen were inclined to doubt that there had been loss of life. All the men had not been accounted for a short time after the big structure collapsed, but the fire officials said only a search of the ruins when the heat subsided would confirm rumors many of the employees had not escaped. The loss was estimated at $2,000,000. The mill had a capacity of 3,000 barrels of flour a day and was Kansas' largest milling concern. Four hundred men were employed at the plant.

Mr. McLaughlin for a number of years had been making his home with Judge and Mrs. Snyder. He enjoyed excellent health until quite recently. Mr. McLaughlin lived in western Pennsylvania, where he was born, until 1885, when he removed with his family to Hayes county, Nebraska, where Mrs. McLaughlin died in 1897. In 1904 he closed out his western Nebraska interests and came to Council Bluffs to reside in the home of Judge Snyder. Mr. McLaughlin is survived by his two daughters in this city and one son, H. F. McLaughlin, residing at Scott's Bluff, Neb. Three sisters and two brothers reside in Pennsylvania. Service in Regiment For Physical Training

Captain F. G. Stritzinger, commandant of the cadet regiment at the high school, met yesterday with the majors and company captains and outlined plans for discipline this year. A number of suggestions for changes among the cadets were laid before the officers. Chief among these will be an attempt to inculcate in the minds of the cadets and the public at large the idea that the regiment is not an organization for the purpose of preparing the high school lads for warfare, but nothing more nor less than a course of physical training in addition to the pleasure derived from the drill. The commandant said all too many people are of the opinion that the drill at the school is for the purpose of transforming the lads into bristling, pugnaeous warriors, whereas the true effort is to build up the bodies, and resultantly the minds, of the students. Captain Stritzinger urged the company officer to encourage the men to partake of exercise apart from drill and to form a habit of going through a regular series of calisthenics every day. A strict system of noting the personal cleanliness of the men in the regiment was advocated and will constitute a part of the plan of raising the physical standard of the cadet corps. Regular officers' meetings will be held during the year for the study of infantry drill regulations and for furthering plans for the betterment of the battalions, recommendations for second lieutenancies, sergeantancies and corporalancies were called for Thursday, and promotions to fill these offices will be made in the near future. The Cadet Officers club will meet directly after the promotions are out for the election of officers. Cadet suits and full uniform must be worn after November first on all drill days.

Jurors Find Wilson Stole Team of Horses

After deliberating for more than thirty hours the district court jury which heard the evidence in the trial of George Wilson, returned a verdict at an early hour yesterday morning finding him guilty of the theft of a team of horses from the George W. Young farm near Manawa, and which were found in Omaha in his possession. If County Attorney Capell had failed to secure a conviction yesterday Wilson would have been immediately arrested on another charge of horse stealing. Only one of the horses was identified and the man would have been tried for the theft of the other. DR. JONES MAKES TALK ON SAGE OF CONCORD

REAL ESTATE BY MAIL ORDER

Water-Logged Sections of New Jersey Swamp Unloaded Here and There. The federal grand jury at St. Louis has indicted a number of land sharks on the technical charge of using the mails to defraud. The gravamen of the offense consisted in selling worthless town lots in New Jersey by the mail order process. It would seem to be no easy matter to conduct a mail order real estate business, but the sharks in question had no difficulty in disposing of swamp lands at remunerative prices. In the beginning they bought 1,000 lots for $3.50 apiece. They sold these at prices ranging from $20 to $50. The contract of sale guaranteed that the lots would be resold for the purchasers by a certain date at prices not less than $250. Plenty of purchasers were found and, strange to say, they were persons who might be presumed ordinarily to know enough to steer clear of such transactions. Physicians and clergymen, it is stated in a dispatch from St. Louis, were the principal victims. It had been represented that the lots were on the Pennsylvania railroad, ten miles from New York. When the purchasers began to investigate they found the subdivision, which had been exploited under the impressive name of "Spottswood Manor," was thirty-five miles from New York and was located in what was locally known as Buckleberry swamp. The lots were under water for all, or nearly all, the year. The lots, of course, are practically worthless and the purchasers are out the money they paid for them. In this instance the losses are distributed among a class of people better able to bear them than is usually the case when a get-rich-quick land scheme is put through. The lesson conveyed is that no one should be induced to invest in real estate without a personal inspection of the property. And it is a lesson that the American people are slow to learn.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
