EXPERTS ATTACK MONEY BILL

Currency Measure is Called Unscientific and Dangerous.

TOO MUCH POLITICS IN IT

Prof. Seligman Says No Attempt Has Been Made to Follow the Teachings of Sound Theory.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Glass-Owen currency bill now before congress was attacked as dangerous and unscientific at today's session of the national conference on currency reform. Prof. E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia university, Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank of New York and Prof. Joseph Frank Johnson, dean of the New York University School of Commerce, led the assault at the morning session of the conference, held at Columbia university.

Prof. Seligman said that the great banking systems of Europe were not framed by politicians, but by the joint efforts of bankers and theorists and for that reason Germany, France and England were a generation ahead of this country in these matters.

"We cannot refrain from expressing regret," said Prof. Seligman, "that in this country alone the question should be approached, not from the point of view of the interests of the whole country, but from the point of view of one political party. We have not been able to rise above party."

Vanderlip for Central Bank

Mr. Vanderlip defended the principle of a central bank, as opposed to the twelve regional reserve associations contemplated in the Glass-Owen bill. He said the best minds in congress know that were it not for a party platform they should provide for a central bank.

"We heard Senator Owen say yesterday," Mr. Vanderlip continued, "that the functions of the twelve regional reserve banks will include the responsibility of rediscouinting for member banks. That's a very alluring proposition for bankers. If this measure will do this consistently it is a marvel that any banker is opposed to it. It means that commercial paper will become the most liquid asset in a bank's portfolio."

Cells Bill Dangerous

Prof. Johnson characterized the bill as dangerous. "I see no escape from the conclusion," said he, "that the Glass-Owen bill, if it becomes a law, will soon bring this country into a period of dangerous credit extension. Banks will either lend more freely in their respective districts, thus causing local or regional inflation, or they will send their idle money to New York to be loaned in Wall street, thus stimulating speculative prices."

DIPLOMATIC CORPS IN MEXICO CALLED TO DISCUSS SITUATION

existing would have none of the animosity with which law surrounds the ballot, and that the result therefore could not be regarded as representing the will of the people.

"The president would not feel justified in accepting the results of such an election or in recognizing the president so chosen."

O'Shaughnessy Says Minister. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, was requested by telephone to call at the Mexican Foreign office late last night immediately after the conclusion of the cabinet meeting which had discussed the two recent communications from the United States.

It is regarded as extremely probable today that the Mexican government will make no reply to the Washington memorandum. At any rate the United States embassy here is not looking for one to be returned immediately, as was apparently the intention yesterday. It is regarded as likely, in view of the influence brought to bear through the American embassy, to cause the withholding of the communication—which Foreign Minister Madero worked over night to prepare and which, judged by the language to him respecting the American memorandum, was to have been very much to the point—that Mexico now will make no reply.

The Mexican press today accepted Foreign Minister Madero's statement that his words had been badly interpreted when he was said to have referred to the inopportune character of the Washington memorandum and the newspapers sought to minimize the exchange of notes as being of little importance. One of the larger daily papers entirely omitted reference to the subject.

General Maas Arrested in Texas. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 15.—Mexican Federal General Joaquin Maas, enroute across American territory from Piedras Negras to Nuevo Laredo, was arrested by United States authorities here today. He was in a special train.

Maas, traveling under permission from the War department, was arrested on a warrant based on a complaint sworn to by William L. Hanson, who is known here at present simply as a "contractor from Mexico." The complaint charged that Maas was setting on foot a military expedition from the United States against the Mexican constitutionalists.

It is said to be the first of its kind ever served in the United States. General Maas was taken from his special train here and made to appear before United States Commissioner Edwards. Maas was released under $5,000 bonds. Late this afternoon he left with his staff of eighteen officers for Laredo, Tex., where he intends to recross into Mexico.

Secretary of State Bryan is said to have asked the War department to permit Maas' passage through American territory.

LOOKS LIKE INTERVENTION

Former Ambassador Wilson Gives Out Hint for Huerta. EPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 15.—The developments of the day look like intervention, declared Henry Lane Wilson of Spokane, former United States ambassador to Mexico, who arrived today on a brief visit to his home town.

"There cannot possibly be any question of withdrawing recognition of the president of the Mexican administration by any government. Recognition of a government cannot be withdrawn, according to well established principles and precedents, once recognition has been accorded. All governments accredited in Mexico have recognized the present administration and are in full sympathy with it."

"The election on October 28 will be just as free as any other Mexican election ever held, but it might be well to understand that no free election has ever been held in Mexico. Madero received 19,987 votes out of a population of 15,000,000. This could hardly be called a free and definite expression of the national will."

"The Associated Press today carries a Mexico City dispatch to the effect that the Spanish minister has called a meeting of the diplomatic corps. When I retired the Spanish minister automatically became dean of the diplomatic corps. It is customary for the dean to call a meeting of the corps when two or three make a request for such a meeting and no special significance should be attached to the call at this time."

"Nor should any significance be attached to the presence of a German warship in Mexican waters at this time. The German government yearly sends a warship to Mexican waters, as do the British and French governments. They are simply calls and absolutely no significance attaches to their visit at this time."

Notes from Peru

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy

If you should meet anyone varnishing a sign with greasy ointment, your best advice would be to quit such things unless attended to the blood.

To successfully fight any blood trouble, some eruptive skin disease—call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scrofula, or what you will—there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood, for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to carry into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a living animal anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to the Swift Specific Co., 215 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into some useless compound they put up as a substitute for S. S. S. No honest druggist will do this.
