Col. Wm. Anderson is Boosted by Clerks

At the regular meeting of the Nebraskalowa Hotel Clerks' association at Hotel Harney Wednesday evening Colonel William Anderson was heartily endorsed by the assembly as a candidate for the association's presidency. The annual convention will he held at Sloux City December 15 and 16 and his election will then be boosted vigorously

Raymond Patrick Philpin, clerk at the Schlitz hotel, was joshed a good deal at the meeting and resultingly more or less embarrassed by the fullness of feeling that comes over a man when he becomes papa for the first time. Young Philpin s 4 days old and besides being presented with a list of nicknames he was also given the very useful articles of a gocart and a milk container. The banquet was well attended.

COMMERCE SCHOOL GIRLS PLAN A JOINT MEETING

The girls' Social Culture club of the commercial High school met Wednesday. The club has decided to treat its meetings as regular recitation hours, that is, not to allow tardiness or unnecessary absence, and to require every member to do her share of the club work.

Mildred McCrann was appoitned doorkeeper and Genevera McCune. Dina Gross and Marie McCoy were chosen by the president, upon request of the club, to attend to the printing of a club constitution. The aim of this club is to help girls both socially and mentally. Many suggestions for work for the coming year were given by the girls, but nothing definite decided upon. However, a program committee was appointed to arrange for the discussion of current topics at the next meeting of the club.

Upon the auggestion of Mr. Rusmisel, three girls were asked to help a committee from the Junior Commercial club in planning for a joint club meeting, to be held at some future assembly of the

MRS. DELLA THOMPSON IS SUING FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Della Thompson, who alleges that she is the common law wife of Charles N. Thompson, prosperous ranch owner of Wheeler county and well known in Omaha, is suing Mr. Thompson, his C. Thompson, and Byron Clow for $25,000 damages in Judge Sears' district court, charging conspiracy to coarce her into consenting to a divorce without allmony and to prevent her from securing work in Omaha. She also asks damages for alienation of her husband's

She alleges that she was the wife of Charles N. Thompson for more than five years and that in that time he carned and saved more than $50,000. Attorneys Yelser and Stanley Rosewater in questioning jurymen were careful to ascertain whether each was married. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants secured her discharge from local department stores and from a restaurant where she was employed.

Here's How the Story Struck One Man!

A man said to us a day or so ago: "I was looking over the ads on Sunday and I counted more than 70,000-seventy thousand pairs of blankets advertised for sale on Monday! And wife and I did a little figuring. We concluded that would supply every home in Omaha with three pairs each and then some-and we wondered, and still our wonder grew.

We replied, "Yes, that was sure some blankets, and you must remember several other counties still to be heard from-we have a few ourselves to sell"-and we wondered, and still our wonder grew also.

We sold some blankets—lots of 'em-on Monday, and every day since. Now, don't be misled. IF the admen told the truth there'll be blankets on hand for many a long day, and there'll be need for a plenteous supply of moth balls to protect them.

For Friday, we offer a beautiful plaid Beacon Blanket, 66x80, at $2.48 instead of $3.00; colors, pink, blue, gray and tan.

Extra Large Size Cotton Blanket, quite heavy, plain grays, white, tan and plaids in pink, blue, gray and tan, $2.98 instead of $3.00 a pair.

70x80 White Wool Blankets, $5.25 instead

Comforters, 72x84, $2.19 instead of $2.50.

Every pair clean, perfect, made of good materials. We are compelled to confess that we don't know just where the wool was grown, but we do know who made the blankets, and they are reliable.

Now let's change the subject and talk of suits

We have on hand a lot of Suits-broadcloths, serges and poplins - colors, Russian, green, navy, blue, brown, wistaria, taupe and rose-Suits which sold (that is, similar grades) at $25 and $35-

We bought (luckily for us and you) a lot of Black Broadcloth Coats, full length, Skinner satin lined, Persian Near Lamb collar and cuffs, fastened nobbily with one large silk frog, Friday, $20.00. Might ask $30 and still give you fair value.

Here's Something Unique in Stockings

Now on sale, a late purchase of stockings made from wood fibre, silky in appearance and touch, blacks and whites; 35c pair for boots, and 50c for others.

The writer experimented with socks made from same fibre and can testify that to the touch they are delightful, and for wear they beat silk all to pieces. Indeed, one pair will wear as long as three pairs of silk. Try them on our recommendation.
