WILSON REDEDICATES HALL

President Speaks at Reopening of Historic Building.

OLD STRUCTURE IS RESTORED

Former Capitol of United States Looks Much Like It Did When Washington Made Farewell Address.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Congress hall, scene of many historic events in the early days of the republic, was rededicated today in the presence of President Wilson and a great crowd. Rain fell intermittently, but did not interfere with the patriotic exercises which were held in the hall where congress met from 1793 to 1800.

The old structure has been restored to almost its original appearance by architects who sought to make the building look as it did when Washington delivered his farewell address within its walls.

President Wilson was given a cordial reception by a great crowd when he arrived. He was welcomed by a reception committee headed by Mayor Blankenship and was driven through crowded streets to Congress hall in Independence square. The president and Speaker Champ Clark were the principal speakers at the exercises. John Wassmaker presided.

President Wilson's plans called for a visit to Swarthmore college to speak at the annual founders' day exercises.

their subjects or citizens in Mexico have investments or industrial enterprises and they naturally desire to see them protected. With them it is not a vital matter who extends that protection. In other words, they are so far removed from the influence of the kind of government which may have authority in Mexico that that feature is not a matter of great vital concern to them. All they wish is protection for their property, subjects and citizens.

"With us it is a vastly greater and more important interest. Our citizens have in the first place more in the way of material interests than all of the other foreigners put together. In addition we have great interests which a neighbor nation must have in the peace and good order of Mexico. These are immediate interests which concern the Mexican situation alone, but we have also the further interest in the promotion and maintenance of governments of law in all countries in this hemisphere, particularly those of Latin America in proximity to us. It is of the utmost importance that whatever is done in Mexico should have a good influence on all the countries on this hemisphere in discouraging revolution and disorder and encouraging governments of law and order. In other words, we should not be recognizing a government in Mexico founded on revolution and violence but a premium on the methods of violence and usurpation of power.

"The sending of warships by other governments is a recognized policy in cases of great disorder where the subjects or citizens of a country have great interests needing protection. I would not dispute the right under ordinary conditions to land marines wherever necessary for the protection of personal property, but I think it would be inadvisable under the present circumstances for them to land marines in Mexico, because that might lead to unfortunate complications. I have no authority to speak for anyone but myself, but I think if the subjects or citizens of any nation need protection in Mexico on account of which, under ordinary circumstances marines will be landed, it would be far better to call on the United States for whatever protection is required, so that whatever may be absolutely necessary may be attended to by American marines. I say this because everyone must recognize that in the present delicate situation it is extremely important to avoid anything that would tend to produce the slightest conflict or friction between the United States and any one of these foreign governments."

TEACHERS COME NEXT MONTH

State Association of Institution of Greatest Value.

IS OLDER THAN THE STATE

Was Born Forty-Seven Years Ago and is Largely Responsible for Small Per Cent of Illiteracy in Nebraska.

expected to teach everyone that stepped through the door, whether the pupil was a kindergarten child or a ninth grade adult. For ten minutes the little teacher was expected to plot patiently along with her first reader class, then for fifteen more she was expected to struggle with the knotty problems of Ray's Higher Arithmetic when the "big boys" who attended after the "corn picking" was over, found trouble in their work. The result was that the instruction was not the best in any one line. While this situation still obtains to some extent in the rural districts, there are coming to be more and more rural schools that have two or more teachers and have the work divided. Besides these there are coming to be more and more schools where the work is graded at least even if there is but one teacher to handle the work. She knows by consulting her course of study just what branches should be studied by her pupil of 11 years and what by her pupil of 8. She knows by consulting her course of study at the end of the year whether any given pupil has made enough progress to make it possible to send him on to the next grade or not. In other words, she is working now by a system worked out by years of work of prominent educators of the country, and not depending wholly upon the experience of her own little 15 years of life.

Association Gets Credit.

In bringing about all the beneficial changes the State Teachers' association has had its hands full and is entitled to due credit. Year after year as the association has met it has concluded by passing resolutions asking for the acquisition of a new plan, a new system, a new method, that has been found beneficial elsewhere. Each year the majority of the body of teachers in the association carried influence with it, and the result was that those in authority sat up and listened when the association made demands for the betterment of the schools of the state. One by one the changes were brought about, until Nebraska's schools, both rural and city, stand out as among the finest in the union.

Some Stormy Periods.

The association has had its little stormy periods. Ever has it been safely piloted through them by calm water. Politics has at times crept into the association and has for a time disrupted the ranks of the leading men in the organization, but ever has it closed with the sentiment "with malice toward none, with charity for all." Scarcely can blame be attached to any one for a little feeling in the elections of the association, for is it not counted an honor to be president of such a body? And so the factions have arisen and have secretly been at each others throats, so far as getting the offices of the association has been concerned, but so far as the welfare of the schools of the state entered into the affair, the hands of the educators snapped together in a link of unity.

To Meet at Omaha.

This year the association is to meet again in Omaha, November 5, 6 and 7. Perhaps never has a greater array of talent been collected for the occasion. President James E. Delsell, who is also state superintendent of public instruction, with his staff of officers and executive committee, has lent every effort to secure from every part of the country talent that is known from coast to coast.

No, the association does not talk shop entirely. They bring in talent that gives them something to think about in a field broader than the mere clinching of ideas in the heads of pupils. Thus, for example, among the talent this year is Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage society. This does not mean that the officers of the association are trying to make suffragists of all the teachers and of all the pupils with whom these teachers are in daily communication. No, the association is in no way bound by any idea that is advanced by any of the speakers that comes before the body. It is at liberty to accept or reject any ideas that are advanced during the sessions. But the idea of the officers is that the teachers should have the great problems of the country today discussed by only the best authorities on the subject, that they may know what problems are first hand and not get their information fifth hand, as is often the case.

Gadski to Sing.

There shall be entertainment also, as well as education. So Madame Johanna Gadski is to give a concert at the Auditorium for the teachers. The teachers are to be the guests of the Board of Publicity of Omaha for this occasion. The concert has been especially arranged in honor of the teachers of the state. The membership badge of the association will be all that will be required for admission.

The following, taken bodily from the printed program of the association, gives some idea of the array of special talent secured for this year:

"Educators of national reputation have been secured for the general sessions of the association, which insures a most interesting and profitable time for teachers and other friends of education.

"State Superintendent M. P. Shawkey of West Virginia, a lecturer and educator of many years' experience, a man who stands high in the national association, will be with us all day Thursday and Thursday evening.

"Miss Katherine D. Blake, former treasurer of the National Education association, a supervisor in the New York City schools, will be present Thursday and Friday. Miss Blake stands out as one of the most prominent women educators of the eastern states.

"Prof. T. P. Giddings, supervisor of music in the Minneapolis city schools, has gained a national reputation as a lecturer on the music problems of the present day. All lovers of music will receive inspiration from him.

"Dr. Alexander Melickjohn, president of Amherst college, has addressed bodies of educators in many parts of the United States. We trust no teacher will fail to hear his valuable and timely address on 'Reaction in College Education.'

"Hon. O. T. Corson, former state commissioner of education in Ohio, now editor of the Ohio Educational Monthly, is well known as a popular lecturer, entertainer and educator.

"Dr. Nathaniel Butler, head of the English department of the University of Chicago, is one of Chicago's highly respected citizens and educators. He also brings a message for his audience. You will be pleased to hear him.

"Prof. E. R. Hedrick, head of the department of mathematics in the University of Missouri, will be with us all day Thursday, and will be of great assistance to the mathematics, high school and grammar school sections. He is well known to all the leading educators of the United States.

"Chancellor Samuel Avery of the University of Nebraska, needs no introduction to the teachers of the state. He will be with us two days to participate in the section meetings, and will address the general session Wednesday evening on 'The Teacher in Public Life.'

"Dr. Anna Howard Shaw of New York City, president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, a popular and practical lecturer, will give the closing address Friday forenoon on 'The National Interpretation of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution of the United States Citizens.' She always pleases her audiences as well as instructs them. Dr. Shaw stands out prominently for equal rights for all citizens of the United States."

MR. METCALFE STIRS THINGS IN PANAMA

straight, or, at any rate, to decide which is which as between the warring officials, and pour oil on the troubled waters. Some of the press correspondents here and the newspapers, have already taken up the matter, and naturally with a predilection in favor of Colonel Goethals because of his prestige as a canal builder with the consequence that "Met" is getting the worst of it.

Bryan's Managing Editor. Here is what the Philadelphia Ledger has to say:

It is extraordinary how well this country does some things and it is more extraordinary how well it does others as important. One of its failures is to provide a new machinery of government for the canal zone, and among the incidents of the trouble were the appointment of Secretary Bryan's managing editor to a position for which he had no training, and the sending to the same week of Secretary Garrison on a mission of harmony to the scene of difficulty.

Mr. Hearst's New York paper refers to Governor Metcalfe as a mediocre amateur who has ability to attain great executive achievement has never been demonstrated, and insists that his recommendations have been turned down.

Cautious Comment of Free Press. Along the same line comes some caustic comment from the Detroit Free Press, which thus unburdens itself with the suggestion that Metcalfe is "beyond his depth."

The announcement that Commissioner Richard L. Metcalfe has begun trouble by undertaking to inaugurate some "reforms" in the canal zone is about what might have been expected from the man in no way known as Bryan would select to represent the interests of the State department and "The Commoner" at Panama. According to a report from Washington, Metcalfe now wants the zone transformed into an American colony in the hands of a commission. Presumably he chafes under the restraint of the military regime and sees opportunities for the creation of new patronage if he can alter things to suit his ideas.

The American people are long suffering, but they will not endure any more which will tend to impair the high efficiency of the present canal zone administration. If there were no other reason they would favor the Metcalfe scheme because it meets with the unqualified disapproval of Colonel Goethals. Colonel Goethals contends that common prudence demands a continuation of military control, and he knows more about the necessities of the case than half a million fly-by-night political appointees. Moreover, his services to the state entitle him to have his views on anything which concerns the canal to the highest consideration. If Metcalfe has begun to meddle with matters beyond his competence, it is time for him to be called home.

So far as can be learned from official sources at the department, Governor Metcalfe is still in good with the administration, but may need a few more instructions from higher up.

EPISCOPALIANS IN DEADLOCK

Convention Closes with Two Big Problems Unsolved.

NEGRO QUESTION GOES OVER

Proposition to Use Unfermented Grape Juice Instead of Wine in Communion Service is Not Considered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The general convention of 1913 of the Protestant Episcopal church passed into history this afternoon in hopeless deadlock on two important resolutions, with the most far-reaching topic of legislation before it unconsidered by one house because of an error in the other, and with a positive refusal to consider a request of the Women's Christian Temperance union that unfermented grape juice be substituted for wine in the communion service.

On the proposal to establish a separate bishopric for negroes in the south and on the proposed elimination of the words "Jews, Turks, Infidels and heretics" from the Good Friday Collect, the house of bishops and the house of deputies were deadlocked.

On the proposal to require a two-thirds vote to change the name of the church, adopted by the deputies, the bishops refused to act because the resolution was sent to them only yesterday, while it was adopted by the lower house more than two weeks ago. The original draft of the resolution was mislaid.

MONSIGNOR MONTAGNINI IS DEAD AT BERLIN

ROME, Oct. 25.—The death of Monsignor Montagnini, reported to the pope today from Berlin, has caused great grief at the Vatican. He had been suffering from an affection of the throat and was operated on a few days ago. Monsignor Montagnini was very popular at the Vatican. At the time of the rupture between France and the Vatican

When You Catch Cold

Showings is nature's device for restoring impeded circulation, and the condition of the system, which favors taking cold is not one of perfect health. The circulation at the time is feeble and the blood itself is not in a perfectly healthy state—it being for too long a time exposed to cooling influence, perhaps of a draught of cold air. At length an influence on the nerves is exerted and then ensues the chilliness and other symptoms due to derangement of the action of many tissues and organs of the body which mark the invasion of illness. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey not only obviates the danger of taking cold, but acts as a general systematic tonic which has lasting benefit. If every man and woman would only appreciate what this great family medicine does toward building up the system by strengthening the digestive organs and quickening the circulation so as to prevent a cold or other form of congestion from becoming deep rooted, ninety per cent. of the illness could be avoided. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is very wholesome, appetizing and strengthening, especially in fever and chills in stormy and blustery weather. Prompt action at such times will ward off serious and oftentimes fatal attacks of bronchitis and pneumonia, as well as irritating coughs and colds. Be prepared, get Duffy's today. At most druggists, grocers and dealers, $1.00 a large bottle.
