POWER PROJECTS UNITED?

Ross Granted Extension of Time on His Water Power Plan.

MAY BE TIEUP WITH DOHERTY

Governor Morehead Gives His Reasons for Granting Release of Jay O'Herne from State Penitentiary.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the State Board of Irrigation held late yesterday afternoon, C. P. Ross was granted an extension of time on his water-power project on the Platte and Elkhorn rivers, which makes the completion of the same two and a half years distant.

Just what the extension of time will mean is not known. It is said that the Ross interests are tied up with the Doherty combination through W. J. McEachron, chief engineer of the Babcock-Doherty project on the Loup river. It is thought the New York people may put in the efforts in the future behind the Ross project as it is nearer Omaha and Lincoln and would look like a better bet. In this case it is a problem as to what will happen to the Loup river propositions.

Reasons in O'Herne Case.

In talking with Governor Morehead this morning on the furlough granted to Jay

O'Hearn, the Douglas county murderer, he told newspaper men that he had investigated the proposition very thoroughly. He said that he had discovered that the other men who were implicated with O'Herne in the matter were all older men and that they had from time to time been pardoned from the penitentiary or paroled. He felt that O'Herne, who had been an exemplary prisoner while at the pen and who had a wife and mother to support, who appeared to be nice people, had as much right to his liberty as those convicted with him for the crime. "He was not afflicted with tuberculosis," said the governor, "as one user stated, but was in good, healthy condition, and as a good job had been secured for him in Omaha, where he could look after his family, I considered I would give him a chance to make good. I don't like to use the pardoning power any more than I can help, and so I thought I would let O'Herne out for a little while and see if it would not do him good and at the same time give him a chance to support his family."

Anti-'Jay' Laws.

The capital city of Nebraska now has a joy walking ordinance, the same going into effect yesterday. When the gentleman representing the twenty-seventh legislative district arrives from the sandhills at the next session, he can "cut across cattly corner" in his efforts to reach the state house in time to answer the roll call or he will find himself facing the police judge instead of the chaplain. Another reform which the new city fathers hope to bring about is to have the Rock Island ring its bells on its locomotives instead of blowing its whistles when engines come in sight of the city, so that people may sleep. The greatest kick comes on the train which reaches Lincoln about 9 o'clock in the morning.

Kearney is to Start Paving Its Streets

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—A petition for paving having presented by the property owners along two of the main blocks of this city, the council has decided to contract for the laying of the same this fall. New water mains will be laid at once by the water department.

It has not been decided of what material the pavement will be.

While this initial street paving is not very extensive, there is a feeling that the streets should all be paved as soon as possible; especially has this feeling been strong since the establishment of the Lincoln highway through the city. The citizens believing the paving will add a great deal to any advertisement the city might get from the many tourists.

BOND PREMIUM SQUABBLE IS SETTLED BY AGREEMENT

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The controversy between State Auditor Howard and the State Insurance board under the new insurance law, over the payment of the premium on the bond of Insurance Commissioner Brian which the auditor refused to pay because the constitutional-ity of the law which created the office head by Mr. Brian was being contested in the courts and therefore should the premium be paid for the full term and the courts decide against Mr. Brian the state would be out the amount of the premium paid, was finally settled this morning, the board coming to an agreement with Mr. Howard that in case the courts decided the law unconstitutional the bonding company should refund to the state the amount of the unearned premium. This agreement was acquiesced in by the agent of the bonding company an da stipulation written to that effect in the bond.

AUTOS ESCAPE TAXATION

Many Machines Not Listed by the Assessors.

LAW NEEDS TO BE FIXED UP

State Board of Control Receives Lemon for Hospital for Insane at Hastings—Light Question Taken Up.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The records of the office of the secretary of state show that there were 23,904 automobiles registered up to April 1, 1912. The records of the secretary of the State Board of Assessment show that but 15,078 automobiles were listed for taxation on the same date. Of this number 1,322 were listed from Douglas county and 869 from Lancaster county.

Last year the automobiles averaged a valuation, given at one-fifth of actual value, of $44.18 in the state. Douglas county automobiles averaged $102 and Lancaster county $111.40.

This year the assessment reports show 23,547 automobiles in Nebraska on April 1, while the secretary of state shows a registration of 35,877 up to April 1. The average valuation of the machines over the state were placed at $57.70. Douglas county had 1,047 automobiles, valued at $112 each, while Lancaster county machines were valued at $111.11.

In some state, notably Massachusetts, the owner of a machine is required to take out a new license each year. He cannot have the same number used the year previous. The number on his machine must always show the year so that there is no chance for any driver running on an old number. In this way the secretary of state's office shows exactly how many automobiles are in use and the name of every man who owns them. The tax commissioner can then quickly tell by a comparison of the records of the assessors and the records of the secretary of state whether all machines have been listed for taxation or not and who are the delinquents.

Under the Nebraska law thousands of machines might escape taxation and there is no way of discovering the delinquent owners.

Lemon for State Board.

The State Board of Control was handed a lemon today which weighed nearly two pounds. It was raised at Ingleside in the hothouse of the insane asylum and came in a box containing eleven other lemons ranging in weight from seventeen to thirty ounces, the dozen weighing seventeen and one-half pounds.

Takes Up Light Question.

Senator Crawford Kennedy of the Lincoln Gas company, with several other officials, appeared before the Board of Control this afternoon with a proposition to furnish electricity and power for the statehouse, which is short on light since the elevator was put in commission, the plant at the penitentiary, which is connected with the state house, being too light to carry the load.

The board is rather undecided what to do to meet the situation and told the gas people that they could make an offer on the cost per kilowatt to the state and after the board had found the cost of furnishing its own light would take up the matter with them.

Winkler in Vat of Boiling Water

(Special.)

HUMPHREY, Neb., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Lawrence Winkler, son of William Winkler of Lindsey, in company with Joseph Bender, was killing hogs. His foot slipped and he fell into a vat of boiling water. When he was removed from the water he was found to be very badly burned, the flesh adhering to the clothing. Dr. Koory, the physician in attendance, states that the chances of the patient surviving are not good.

Jack Rabbits Bring Two Dollars Each

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The Wymora business men who were in charge of the counting meet held at that place recently, Tuesday disposed of 10 Kansas Jack rabbits, left over from the meet, to parties in Odell for $200 cash. It is planned to hold a meet at Odell in a few days.

C. L. Sherwood, master mechanic for the Union Pacific at this point, was called to Southport, Conn., Tuesday by the death of his father, E. H. Sherwood, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. M. Lambertson. Mr. Sherwood formerly resided here.

Bert Borland, who has been in charge of the station of De Witt for the Rock Island for some time, has been transferred to Ellis. He will be succeeded by Joseph Bowers of Chicago.

Roscoe Cook, former ticket agent and cashier at the Rock Island station here, who recently attempted suicide by cutting his throat on an interurban car near his home at Laporte, Ind., writes to friends in this city that he has recovered from his injuries and will soon leave for Maryland, where he expects to regain his health. He says he is suffering from a nervous breakdown.

H. O. Alderman of the Blue-Gas company of Omaha arrived in the city Tuesday and took over the company's business in this territory, which has been handled by E. D. Wheelock of this city for the last year. A local company, headed by Mr. Wheelock, was organized to sell gas systems for farm houses and in places where city gas was not available. The gas is manufactured at the Omaha plant and shipped out in tanks.

Omega Oil

FOR RHEUMATISM and LUMBAGO

The first thing to do, if you suffer from Rheumatism or Lumbago, is to rub the aching parts with Omega Oil; then soak a piece of flannel with the oil, lay it over the place that hurts and cover with a piece of oiled silk. This treatment usually gives relief and is worth trying. Trial bottle 10c.
