

LOVETT SEES THE TEACHERS

Head of the Union Pacific Spends the Day Here.

WESTERN CONDITIONS GOOD

Says that the Business of the Union Pacific Shows a Decided Gain—Is Reticent on the Tariff Question.

Returning from a month spent on the Pacific coast, Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Union Pacific Railroad system, spent the afternoon in the city, on his way to New York. He was accompanied by E. L. Winchell, director of traffic; President Mohler and Vice President Munroe, who accompanied him from the coast, all traveling on a special train.

Judge Lovett had planned to go east without making any extended stop in the city, but when told that there were 5,000 Nebraska school teachers here and that they were to visit the Union Pacific headquarters building, he quickly and smilingly replied:

"I'll stay over until evening and meet the teachers." The reports that have been current throughout the railway circles that on the first of the year the Union Pacific is to take over the San Pedro line were put to rest by Judge Lovett, when he said: "There is nothing in the story. We own 50 per cent of the San Pedro stock and the Clark interests. The relations as they have existed for a long time are perfectly satisfactory to all parties concerned and there has been no thought of a change."

Trade Conditions Good. Speaking of business conditions throughout the west, the judge asserted that the coast country had harvested a very good crop, and that with the exception of the lumber industry, everything appears to be prosperous. As to the lumber trade, it is dull, but the cause, the judge said that he had not analyzed.

Asked what part the Union Pacific would take in the possibility of action looking to the unmerging of the Southern and the Central Pacific roads, Judge Lovett responded: "That is a matter between the government and the two roads and one with which we have nothing to do. It is not our affair and we do not propose to take a hand in it."

Union Pacific Business Good. As to the business of the Union Pacific the judge is well pleased and in discussing the matter remarked that it is ahead of last year. He smiled when asked relative to the tariff and what effect it might have upon business, though he remarked that in California he had heard farmers say that they feared for the sugar beet industry and that these same farmers appeared to be of the opinion that the tariff would result in a reduction of sugar prices, which would ultimately result in cutting down the acreage of beets and a corresponding reduction in the output of sugar.

The judge is authority for the statement that the Union Pacific is not contemplating anything in the way of building new lines of road, or making extensive improvements. However, the present condition of excellence all along the system will be maintained.

Averill Harriman, director of the Union Pacific and a son of the late Edward Harriman, was on the coast trip with the Lovett party, but remained in Los Angeles and will not go east until some time later.

schools; Miss Kate McHugh, principal of the Omaha high school, and C. E. Yost, president of the telephone company.

Assisting in the rooms were Mrs. Charles T. Kountze, Mrs. F. A. Brogham, Miss Jeanette McDonald, Mrs. James C. Dahlman, Mrs. Frank Haller, the ex-president of the Woman's club; board of directors and executive committee of the Woman's club.

THOMAS FORCES ARE SPEEDILY ROUTED ON CONVENTION FLOOR

plea for keeping the matter out of the association, saying he was disappointed to learn that into the association should be injected matters of this kind which tend to unharmonize, rather than harmonize, the affairs of the teachers of the state. "This," he said, "is a criticism of one member of the Board of Education. Most of you know of the affair as I myself do, only by what we have seen in the newspapers. A court of law or a judge would demand more evidence than that before giving judgment."

Plea for Resolutions.

R. D. Morris followed with a plea for the resolutions. "The question," he said, "is broader than the case of you and I. There is a principle involved. This is not the first time that a school man has been kicked out summarily that way. I want the teachers to go on record to effect that they do not approve any such action of the board."

A. H. Gongdon followed with his attempt to lay the resolution on the table and was ruled out of order.

Willard T. Davis of McCook flew to the floor and denounced what he called the "ring." He said ten years ago when he became a member of the association he used to think such a thing as a ring was impossible in the affairs of the association. But later he found that it is here and that it is perpetually active in the school affairs. We have politics in the school affairs of the state, pernicious politics, and now that we are about to be submerged by such influences, now that the waters are beginning to wash over us, we have men get up here and say, 'Let us not have politics.' I say we have the politics, and now that we have to have them, let us have them clean and decent."

See a "Ring."

Earl Cline of Geneva wanted to know where there was a greater ring than the "ring" that met at the Paxton hotel Thursday night. He referred to the Thomas leaders who framed their resolution at that place. In the course of his remarks someone hissed him. He stopped and faced in the direction of the sound.

"I hear a snake's hiss," he said, "and the people who are doing it are comparable only to that reptile."

When J. F. Wolery of Omaha asked that the matter be laid on the table for one year in order to give the personal prejudice time to die out, he presented a new phase of the matter to the teachers, and it took well, judging from the large vote.

Leading educators believe the matter will not again be brought up next year.

Want Less Publicity.

The regular resolutions of the association among other things sought to lay the blame on the newspapers for having represented the association as engaged in political warfare, and requested that the newspapers give less space to this phase of the association and more to the actual serious business of the association. They also condemned the "political and commercial activities in and out of the association which militate against the welfare of the association," and condemned these activities as unbecoming to the dignity and profession of a body of teachers or educators.

Regulations of thanks to Omaha for the entertainment were also adopted. At the suggestion of Supervisor Katherine Blake of New York, the association voted to request President Wilson to incorporate in his next regular message to congress a request for a new cabinet department known as the department of education.

The constitution was amended to the effect that hereafter amendments may be made by a majority vote of those in the association voting by a referendum ballot on the same ballot on which the officers and place of meeting are selected. One hundred names shall be required to a petition to bring an amendment to such a vote.

The ballots for the nomination of officers were counted last evening. The five highest will be the candidates to be placed on the ballots that are to be sent through the mail to the members for their vote within thirty days.

Heard at the Convention.

State Superintendent James E. Delsell, first birthday celebration last Sunday. He was born in Carroll county, Indiana, and lived there until he was 20. When he was 20 years old he boarded a freight train, the first train on which he had ever ridden, and he remained at Gothenburg. When he was 23 he married a Nebraska girl. After he was 27 he decided to go in for an education. "All the education I have," he said, "I secured after I was 27 years old, from the Army through school, supporting a family meanwhile."

Wilson Delsell, son of the state superintendent, a student of schools in a small town in the state last year, attended all the meetings of the convention. He is now a law student at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Doris Goethe, secretary to E. V. Parrish of the Omaha publicity bureau, worked at the registration desk throughout the convention. When the tickets for the Madame Gadski concert gave out and several hundred teachers were turned down, she was put on the firing line to make explanation and hear complaints.

Miss Edith Lathrop, superintendent of the Clay county schools, declares she was blind to all "politics" in the convention.

Miss Belle M. Ryan, assistant superintendent of Omaha schools, who tolled day and night at the registration desk, was busy enrolling teachers Friday morning when she was summoned to the teleforum, said: "Tell Dr. Shaw we are ready for him. He'll have to hurry up."

Miss Alice Florer, county superintendent of York, was lauded by her friends for presiding at the teleforum. She took no part in the campaigning and did not greatly interest herself in the candidacy.

Miss Emma Burritt is probably the youngest superintendent of county schools in the state. She has been elected for two years to the superintendency of Brown county. She attended the convention with several of her teachers.

MUSIC IS IMPORTANT STUDY

T. P. Giddings of Minneapolis declares it a Needed Subject. IS ESSENTIAL TO HAPPINESS Pursuit of Melody Should Be a Part of the Training and Preparation for All School Children.

Music is the most important subject in the public schools, according to T. P. Giddings, supervisor of music in the Minneapolis public schools, who addressed members of the teachers' association at the Auditorium yesterday. His subject was "What Music Should Accomplish and a Few Practical Hints on How to Do It." "Music in the public schools as a whole has not been a success thus far, because of lack of ability and appreciation on the part of supervisors. There must be good supervisors and in addition there must be time and material."

Dr. Giddings said that he believed that what he termed a course in "appreciation of music" should not be an elective subject in the public schools, but one required to be taken by every student. "President Eliot has said that more time should be given in the public schools to such 'practical' subjects as music and drawing and less to reading and arithmetic," he continued. "I am heartily in accord with this view. Music, although few seem to realize this, affords a great mental training, and a knowledge of it is always a source of constant pleasure. One must necessarily have a great deal of music. Why not be able to understand and appreciate it?

Not Hard to Master.

"There is sometimes advanced the objection that many cannot learn music. As a matter of fact there are fewer who cannot master music than who fail to grasp mathematics."

Mr. Giddings said that the graduate of a grade school should be able to read music readily at sight, and that one finishing high school should have advanced in proportion.

Following the speaker from Minneapolis, Supervisor Katherine D. Blake of New York City spoke on "The Spirit of Play in School."

Is a Crime.

"One writer has said that the great crime in taking children from school is work in the factory and elsewhere does not consist so much in depriving them of knowledge as in taking from them the many happy hours of play," Miss Blake said. "That writer had analyzed the case as it should be."

"Have any of you ever looked up a dictionary definition of the words 'work' and 'play' I have, and so far as I am able to judge there is little difference. Both are effort. One is solemn and usually unpleasant, while the other is enjoyable and pleasant."

"A fact to be noted is that there are fourteen synonyms for work and none for play. This is significant, as it shows that play is indulged in so few forms that one word will cover the ground. This should

MASONS PRESENT JUDGE SEARS WITH GOLD WATCH

TEKAMAH, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Judge Sears was invited up from Omaha last evening to attend the regular meeting of the Royal Arch chapter of the Masonic lodge last evening. As it was the night for the selection of officers, they wanted him to be present, and they had a fine luncheon prepared for the occasion. The judge expected that much, but he was rather taken in when the lodge called him up and presented him with a handsome gold watch, appropriately engraved. The judge has been a member many years, and the fact that he has removed to Omaha and will be unable to meet with the membership as frequently as formerly, caused them to wish to give him a memento of their past fellowship together. It is a more token of the friendly feeling everyone bears towards the judge in this, his home town.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT AT MINDEN UNVEILED

MINDEN, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The soldiers' monument was dedicated and unveiled yesterday with appropriate ceremonies. Business houses were closed, the schools took part, and an all afternoon program was carried out to the minutest detail. A long parade, led by the veterans, first took place, and which was made unusually touching by the fact that the parade was taken three blocks from News Notes from York.

YORK, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The new city directory of York, just off the press, contains 2,928 names. Using the multiple of 2 1/2 to each name gives the city a population of 7,320. Fred Barham of Brayton, Ia., and Hazel Barham of Spokane, Wash., were married Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Titman, Judge A. G. Wray officiating. The local fire fighters have arranged to play a Thanksgiving foot ball contest with the fire fighters of Seward.

If Backachy or Kidneys Bother

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful after-dinner lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.
