

APPAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Notice to Close Served Upon Saloon Keepers by the Mayor.

THIRTEEN ARE UNDER THE BAN

Men Are Accused of Violation of the Law by Keeping Their Places Open and Doing a Sunday Business.

Mayor Hector yesterday ordered his stenographer to prepare and distribute to the newspapers a copy of the names of thirteen saloon men whose places were ordered closed and who are charged before the extra board with violating the liquor laws. They are: George M. Johnson, 220 Q street; Joe Jerzman, 217 Q street; John Kosiba, 720 North Twenty-seventh street; P. J. McDowd, 271 Q street; Joseph W. Ryan, 273 North Twenty-seventh street; Emil Hanson, 272 Q street; Joe Vold, 282 North Twenty-seventh street; Joseph Stanek, 201 E street; George Laika, 202 E street; Louis Sova, 261 L street; Stanley Zaar, 208 Q street; K. Traynowicz, Thirty-first and Q streets; Louis Stehlik, 2412 Q street.

Chief of Police Briggs, who reported ten of the number, says he is going to keep after the law violators and that it is up to the board to do the rest. There appears to be a sharp line of distinction between the stand taken by Mayor Hector and that adopted by the other two members of the board in administering the law against liquor violators. At least on evidence presented, Hector has voted in favor of revoking the license of erring saloonmen. Just what will be the result of the information filed against the thirteen saloonmen accused of breaking the law last Sunday cannot be said.

The board is still hearing the protests filed against the issuance of a license to James Stockwell to operate a saloon at Twenty-fourth and N streets. It is admittedly a fight between rival brewers. Last night an attempt was made to show that the money for the license was paid by agents of a liquor brewing interest. A South Omaha brewing company is said to have been affected some months ago when the former occupant of the place was ousted from possession by the owner.

After filling their halls and ordering closed thirteen saloons accused of having broken the liquor laws last Sunday, the Fire and Police Board backed up last night and rescinded the closing order. It is understood that the reason for the back-water movement of the board was based upon a protest raised by saloonmen who wanted to remain open at least Saturday. The board graciously consented to hearken to the plea and revoked its previous order.

Charles Weldey Dead.

Charles Weldey, for many years a watchman at the Omaha Packing company, died suddenly yesterday evening of a heart ailment at his home at Twenty-fourth and Q streets. Chief of Police Briggs caught Weldey as he fell, and Chief of Detectives Sheahan, who came to the assistance of Chief Briggs, administered first aid, but Weldey was dead before medical assistance could arrive. Weldey was 51 years of age.

Charles Weldey resided at 228 Q street and for a number of years was employed by the Omaha Packing company as night watchman. A few weeks ago he, with others of the "old employees," was let out by the Morris people. A few days ago he bought a lunch stand at Twenty-fourth and Q streets. Yesterday he complained of a bad cold and visited the office of Dr. William Davis twenty minutes before his death. After his return to the lunch stand he was seized with a fit of coughing. He complained of feeling badly and asked his wife to get a doctor. While Mrs. Weldey was absent seeking a physician, Chief Briggs observed the man fall. He was a heavy man and it is thought that a severe fit of coughing may have caused the rupture of a cerebral blood vessel. Deceased is survived by his wife and three children, two sons and one daughter. Interment will be made in Plattsmouth.

Teachers at Packing Houses.

Twenty cars carrying more than 1,100 teachers of Nebraska visited the packing houses and were entertained by the Union Stock Yards company at luncheon yesterday afternoon. The cars arrived about 3 o'clock and the visitors were quickly divided into squads under sixty-six members of the reception committee. They were escorted through the packing houses and later brought to the Exchange dining room, where luncheon was served under the direction of "Doc" Frye. The teachers were under the escort of South Omaha teachers and committee men from the Exchange and city. Music was furnished by George Green's band. The work of entertaining was in charge of Traffic Manager William Sheiberg of the yards.

The visiting teachers, who to a great extent seemed quite enthusiastic over their visit to the packing center, appeared not only to have enjoyed the trip from an instructive viewpoint, but from a pleasurable one as well. It was noted that the visitors of this year were a class younger and more vivacious than have made the stock yards trip heretofore.

Marvin Killed by Fall. William Marvin, a member of the United States Signal corps, was killed yesterday afternoon when he fell from a telegraph pole at Fort Crook and broke his neck. He was 24 years of age and was a resident of Chicago before enlisting. The body was sent to Chicago last night.

William Fenton Dead.

William Fenton, father of Jere Fenton of South Omaha, and Warden William Fenton of the state penitentiary, is dead at his home in Dawson, according to word received yesterday by South Omaha relatives. With him at the time of his death were the two sons of the deceased and other members of the family.

William Fenton, sr., was 52 years of age. He was known as a substantial citizen and until recently enjoyed good health. One son, William Fenton, jr., is warden of the state penitentiary and the other, Jere Fenton, is one of the foremost citizens and business men of South Omaha and Omaha, where he owns and operates a number of drug stores.

Days Held in Seattle.

John Days, who is alleged to have forged a check for $500 upon the Clay Robinson Commission company some six weeks ago, has been held in Seattle, Wash., on a charge of white slaving, according to a wire in possession of the South Omaha police. Days is said to have represented himself to Clay Robinson of South Omaha as one John Humphreys of Rapid City, S. D. He was able to cash a check for $500 on the strength of his representation. News of his latest escapade came to South Omaha yesterday.

Watching a Suspect.

South Omaha police officers, according to Chief of Police Briggs and Chief of Detectives Sheahan, have under surveillance a man who is thought may have some knowledge of the train robbery committed Thursday between Omaha and Council Bluffs. Chief of Detectives Sheahan last night stated that while the man was being shadowed there was not enough evidence to arrest him in connection with the train robbery. The police would not divulge the name or identity of the suspect.

Wanted to Kill.

Following a rumor that he had been declared with Mexico, a number of the younger men of South Omaha began casting about to organize a military company. Assistant City Engineer Jay Lefler called for volunteers to enlist in a company of engineers. The rumor for a time set the Exchange and the town wild. It developed that the rumor was from Chicago and without confirmation.

Sheep Butchers Walk Out.

Considerable interest was manifested yesterday in the walkout of Cudahy's sheep butcher gang because of an alleged infringement by the plant authorities of the rule of seniority in placing men on the full time list. A committee of the men who walked out visited the newspaper offices yesterday and explained their side of the contest. They claim that the walkout affects about 50 men. Officials at the plant say that the walkout does not embrace more than forty or fifty men. It is also said that if the disgruntled do not return this morning their places will be filled by new men. The men who walked out are all members of the American Federation of Labor.

Too Handy with Checks.

B. F. Cook, alias Babcock, was arrested in South Omaha yesterday afternoon by Chief of Detectives Sheahan, who charged the man with drunkenness. An hour later, Cook or Babcock as he calls himself, was identified by Henry Anderson and J. F. Nicholson, saloonmen of Florence, as a check manipulator, who had gotten away with $100 of other people's money within the last few days. Sheahan discovered while searching Babcock that he had $11 in cash on him. He also found two checks aggregating $10 on the Corn Exchange bank of Omaha. Babcock, as he called himself, or Cook, as he was known in Florence, aroused the suspicion of the officers when he was unable to give the number of his residence in the Omaha suburb. Anderson says Cook got $14.25 out of him and Nicholson admits that he lost $44.25 for his share. Marshal John McGreer of Florence will be on hand this morning when Babcock comes up for a hearing.

Recognizing Kansas City House.

M. R. Murphy, general manager of Cudahy's packing house in South Omaha, together with Assistant Superintendent Yocum and John Larkin, head of the yard department, are in Kansas City, following the discovery of a plot to organize a strike in the Kansas City house. It is said that a number of serious conditions have been discovered in the Kansas City branch of Cudahy's and that the South Omaha men have been called there to help in the reorganization of the operating force there.

Malice Baby Dies.

Ruth Mullen, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mullen, died yesterday of infantile paralysis at the home of her parents, 138 North Thirty-sixth street. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock from Brewer's chapel to Graceland Park cemetery.

Victims of Robbers.

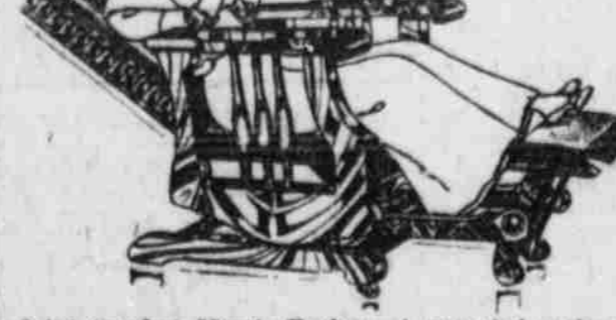

William Miller, and employee in a railroad camp south of town, was knocked down and robbed of his watch in front of the Willow Springs saloon at Washington

HENRY HERCKT, PIONEER, FOLLOWS WIFE TO GRAVE

Henry Herckt, a pioneer citizen of Omaha, died at the home of his daughter at 4122 Saratoga street yesterday after a short illness. Mr. Herckt was 73 years of age and had resided in Omaha ever since 1850. Mr. Herckt was born in Hamburg, Germany, May 27, 1840, and he came to New York in 1851. He engaged in decorating work and fresco painting in New York and came to Omaha in 1860, where he followed the same trade. While here he worked for Henry Lehman, and then later entered business for himself. He was one of the charter members of the Plattenscheuche in this city. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. P. Wieland, of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Laurence Nely and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, both of Omaha, and three sons, Charles, Julian and William, all of whom reside here. Mr. Herckt's wife died on September 2 of this year, and it is thought that her death may have had something to do with Mr. Herckt's sudden demise.

LARGEST LATHE IN WORLD

Huge Size of Machine Needed to Turn and Bore Big Guns. Those who live inland, and, in fact, all who are not fairly familiar with the large guns used for sea coast defense, can hardly appreciate the huge size of lathe necessary to turn and bore them. The lathe being designed and built by the United States Naval Gun shop at Washington, D. C., by the Hilsen-Bement-Pond company, at the Bement works, is the largest made. The lathe is so long that the preparations for its installation include the construction of a tunnel extending out under a highway, as there was not room for it between the walls of the shop. The lathe bed itself is 175 feet long and is made in five sections, but the total overall length, including projections at the end of the bed, brings it up to 185 feet.

On Getting On.

Mr. Horowitz's builder of many New York skyscrapers, is noted for his epigrams. Mr. Horowitz the other day drew a lesson from his own extraordinary success. "A young man, to succeed," he said, "must seize every opportunity as it flits past." He smiled his rather tired smile and added: "The heel of progress always wears the spur of the moment."—New York Globe.
