BRANTLEY IN COUNTY JAIL
In Toils of Federal Courts on Numerous Fraud Charges.
THINK WITTMAN IS STILL ALIVE
Woman Who Posed as the Wife of Wittman is Now in Omaha Under Bond to Appear in Court Here.

In charge of United States Marshal Johnson, Dr. E. D. Brantley, under federal indictment here was brought to Omaha Tuesday from Memphis, Tenn., where he was arrested November 2 to appear in the United States district court on a charge of fraud. The date for a hearing has not been set. Brantley, in default of $5,000 bail, is held at the county jail.

The September grand jury brought an indictment against Brantley, N. W. Wittman, and the woman who posed as Mrs. Wittman, jointly. Their fraudulent acts are alleged to have been in connection with the operations of the Electro-Oxygen company, which last spring had offices at 2317 National Fidelity building, and of which Wittman is said to have been the real head. The federal authorities believe that, although he has sought to give the impression that he was drowned, Wittman is alive. Mrs. Wittman, at liberty on $4,000 bonds, came to Omaha Monday from Louisville, Ky., to appear in court.

Second Arrest.
This is the second time that Brantley, who has been a practicing physician at Memphis, has been arrested, having been taken into custody upon a warrant issued last May by the United States commissioner at Omaha. He was released by the Memphis court on the ground that he had acted only as an employe of the alleged defrauding concern. His arrest at this time comes as the result of a certified copy of the indictment sent to Memphis by United States Attorney F. S. Howell.

At the time that a warrant was issued for his arrest, Wittman evaded the authorities here, but was later apprehended at Colorado Springs. He there furnished bonds to appear in court here. He then went to New York City. A little later clothing, identified as belonging to him, was found on the banks of the Hudson river, tending to give the impression that Wittman had drowned. The authorities here are sceptical as to this.

Indictment in Three Counts.
The indictment against the alleged swindlers is in three counts. It cites the names of three persons who claim to have been defrauded because of misrepresentations of the Electro-Oxygen company. These are W. M. Harrison, Mrs.

M. Shafer and M. P. Jordan. Reference is made to "divers other persons" alleged to have been swindled.

The first count, including the charges of the second and third, sets forth the allegation that it was represented through advertisements in daily papers of Omaha that electro-oxygen was the "latest and greatest discovery of the twentieth century," and that it was a balm for almost every physical ailment to which a human being is heir; that the president of the company, a New York nerve specialist, was then—April 1, 1913—in Omaha arranging for the opening of permanent offices; that it was claimed that the company was "prepared to give patients the greatest treatment the world has ever known;" that all of these claims were false.

Advertised Serum.
The indictment further charges that the company advertised a "Fredman" serum, in an effort to give the impression that the serum discovered by Dr. Friedman was being referred to. Also that the company was going to install a $5,000 machine for giving treatments and that an expert bacteriologist had been retained by the company.

It is charged that these representations induced patients to come to the company's offices; that the patients were inveigled into signing an agreement to pay large sums of money in consideration of treatment to be given them until they were cured; that they never received such treatment.

Specifically charging use of the mails to defraud, the indictment says that a copy of a daily paper, containing the advertisements objected to, was mailed here April 30, 1912.

ORAL DAYS SET APART AT THE COMMERCIAL HIGH
The teachers of English in the High School of Commerce are laying stress especially on the development of oral ability in the English students. So-called oral days have been put into use, when oral reports and oral exercises of various sorts are assigned as lessons. In the exposition classes current events are discussed in class and editorials written thereon. In the twelfth grade classes a study is being made of extemporaneous speeches. These oral drills, it is thought, will be excellent preparation for those who expect to take a place in the commercial world, and in helping the boys and girls to express their thoughts in the best manner possible.

ASKS THAT BEQUEATHMENT OF COHN WILL BE PAID
Emile M. F. Leflang has filed a suit against Mrs. Sarah Cohn in the district court asking that she be compelled to pay over $5,000 to Mrs. N. L. Rogers, sister of the late Herman Cohn, and her son Lester, both of whom were to receive that amount by virtue of a bequeathment in the last will of the deceased.

L. J. PROEBSTING DIES AT HOME OF PARENTS
L. J. Proebsting, aged 42 years, manager of the furnishings department of Byrne & Hammer Dry Goods company for the last thirteen years died yesterday morning at the home of his parents in Chicago. He resided at 4116 Lafayette avenue, this city.

Mr. Proebsting had been in ill health for about two years. During the early part of July, this year, he withdrew from the active pursuit of his duties and went to Chicago for treatment of his ailments. His condition, however, steadily grew worse until the end.

Besides his wife and his parents, he is survived by a brother, Will Proebsting, 412 South Forty-fourth avenue. He was a member of the Field club.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago, where the burial will also take place, Saturday.
