RARELY have so many prominent visitors been in Omaha at one time, and most of them former residents.

Mr. Edward J. Cornish, vice president of the National Lead company of New York, and Mrs. Cornish, have been spending the week in Omaha and were much entertained while here. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cornish are very public-spirited and take a keen interest in the welfare and beautification of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Nicholson have arrived to visit relatives of Mrs. Nicholson, who was formerly Miss Genie Kountze of this city. Mr. Nicholson, author of "The House of a Thousand Candles" and other novels and essays, will be guest of honor, and the speaker at the Palmisest club banquet Wednesday evening at the Omaha club. Wednesday noon Mr. Nicholson will be the special guest of the University club at luncheon. He will probably speak to the college men following the luncheon. Mrs. Nicholson does much settlement and suffrage work. Besides the larger affairs in their honor, several dinner parties will be given. If there is time and opportunity, local members of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity plan to do something for Mr. Nicholson, who is a member of that fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Saxe were much entertained while here and have returned to their home in New York. Mr. Saxe was formerly state senator of New York and is prominent in political circles.

Mrs. Belle Freedman of New York City, cousin of Mrs. Arthur Brandeis, who returned with Mrs. Brandeis and is at the Hotel Loyal with her, is prominent in philanthropic work and in art circles in New York. Mrs. Freedman will speak for the Society of Fine Arts Thursday morning on the Benjamin Altman art collection, recently presented to the city of New York.

A pretty decoration of yellow and white chrysanthemums was used. There are about seventy members of the alumnae residing in Omaha and a number of friends who assisted in the musical benefit for the convent were special guests. About 100 were present for the musicale and tea. The officers of the alumnae are Miss Bertha Baumer, president; Mrs. L. F. FEBRUARY GRADUATES ORGANIZING SEPARATELY

February graduating classes of the Omaha High School of Commerce are organizing separately, and the four-year class has met for organization. The February graduating classes are always small and this one is no exception to the rule, numbering only ten. Those who will complete their course then, are Ruby Davidson, Helen Horton, Olive Brown, Lute Collier, Gladys Ogilby, Ruth Clark, Aubert Dowling, Charles Edmondson, Carl Evans and Elmer Edman. The following class officers were elected: Elmer Edman, president; Helen Horton, vice president; Ruby Davidson, secretary and treasurer; Aubert Dowling, reporter; Carl Evans, sergeant-at-arms; Miss Hoskins and Mr. Wook, class advisers.

The members of the class will be admirably fitted in every way to hold the positions which they will take upon graduating. Besides taking regular stenographic courses, they have had the work in the new model office, where they have been taught to use every device in use in business offices.

LOITERER GIVEN THIRTY DAYS IN THE COUNTY JAIL

C. Daly, who gives his home as Kansas City, was discovered loitering in the lobby of the Merchants National bank building Saturday night by Watchman Reed. Upon Reed's approach to put him out Daly darted up a flight of stairs and disappeared in the upper floors of the building. An hour or so later Special Officer Wolf located the man hiding in a vacant room and brought him to the station. Unable to give a satisfactory account for being in the building, Daly was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Foster on a charge of vagrancy.

WILL RESIST IDIOTIC STYLES

Such Is Prediction of Mrs. McMurphy Before Woman's Club.

NARROW SKIRTS ABOMINABLE

Common Sense and Reason Against Continuance of Wearing Apparel that Hampers Fair Sex in Walking.

"There is bound to be a stand taken against the idiotic mode of dress which is now adopted by the American women," said Mrs. McMurphy at the meeting of the Omaha Woman's club Monday afternoon. "Woman will come to their senses soon and there will be a revolution against these narrow skirts which do not permit women to walk as they should in a free and easy manner."

In speaking of the recognition which is given the women of today, Mrs. McMurphy said that little credit was given to the work of the farm woman. The Department of Agriculture belongs as much to the women as to the men, for they have much to do with farm produce. Miss Euphemia Johnson of Brownell Hall, spoke of the advantage of domestic science in the course of study of young women of today. "It is not wise to give a young girl a course in domestic science which is in her junior year," said Mrs. Johnson, "but sewing may be taught while the girl is still in the grades."

Mrs. Charles S. Lobinger of Manila, president of the woman's club of that city, was the guest of honor and brought greetings from the woman of that far-away club. In a most interesting manner, Mrs. Lobinger told of the work which is being done in the Manila Woman's club and of the effort they are making to save the babies and make them strong and healthy. She told of the day nursery which is maintained by the women of the club for the babies of these women who are employed in the cigar factories.

Help to Boys and Girls.

Mrs. Hostetter of Sheldon, Neb., who was appointed by Governor Monahan as a delegate from Nebraska to the Purty congress at Minneapolis, was another guest at the meeting. She gave a report of the work done at the convention and said that it was the opinion of those at the head of the movement that it was a step toward the preservation of the boys and girls of the country. A single standard was advocated in the judgment of men and women and the opinion was that it was up to the women of the country to set it.

The program was in charge of the Household Economics department of which Mrs. F. C. Burnett is chairman. A talk on the pure foods was given by Mr. F. J. Hale of the Heinz Pickle company and a demonstration of the goods prepared by the firm was given following the program. An informal reception was held after the meeting in honor of Mrs. Lobinger and Mrs. Hostetter.

"Do your Christmas shopping early," is the sentiment of the Omaha Woman's club and club members will use their influence with their friends to assist the clerks at this season of shopping.

Drug Victim Answers Death Call Ahead of Justice

Charlie Buzard, address unknown, was found unconscious Sunday afternoon behind a row of bill boards at Thirteenth and Dodge streets, in a district that is known as "Coke Fiend park."

An overdose of drugs was responsible for the man's condition, and after receiving medical attention at police headquarters he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where late this morning he died. Word of his death did not reach police court, where a complaint charging him with vagrancy, had been filed. Buzard's name was called, and for several moments proceedings were stopped while the missing man was searched for. "He must be out on bond," declared the judge. At this juncture an officer entered the court room and informed the court, "Buzard's out all right, he didn't need a bond, he died ten minutes ago."

SHORT MEASURE PEDDLER FINED; ANOTHER SCOLDED

John Grant Pegg, weight and measure inspector, has furnished his old enemies the lochem, and is now waging a campaign against peddlers who are in the habit of dealing out their wares in fraudulent measures. As the result of Pegg's activities, William Day of Benson, who dispenses potatoes along the thoroughfare, was fined $1 and costs for cheating. M. Robinson, 1511 California street, was given a reprimand for the same offense and allowed to depart with his wallet intact.

From one-fifth to one-third of the business of the bigger Omaha stores comes from out of town. That is the statement made in reply to the question asked ten of our leading merchants. That doctor's wife from Columbus who came to town the other day and spent $85 in our stores—where did she spend it? Why in the stores she knew, of course. But she had never been in an Omaha store before what does she know about Omaha stores? She reads The Bee every day and she knows all about our stores. She knows those that advertise regularly—the others she can't possibly know about. These are not all "big stores either. It's "the regular advertiser that gets this immense volume of out-of-town trade.
