Quealy, who was complained in the charges against Officer William Hareid, is a locomotive engineer in the South Omaha stock yards and not the proprietor of the Rex hotel, as was mentioned by error in the proceedings which led up to the conclusion of the case. colors and the center piece for the table was a large bouquet of red and white roses. The evening was spent in music and games. The next meeting will be at the home of Alma Johnson December 4. Appeal is Made to Parents to Remind Children to Help In a final effort to provide a happy Thanksgiving for the poor of Omaha, the associated charities has issued an appeal to parents of the city, in which it is urged that they stimulate the interest already aroused on the part of school children in the movement to give cause for thanksgiving to those who might otherwise have little to enjoy. Parents who are able to contribute anything—food, clothing or anything else—have been asked to see to it that their children bring such things to their respective schools not later than Wednesday morning. The rounds of every school building in Omaha will be made Wednesday by wagons, which will be given to the service by the Merchants' Express company, Trimble Brothers and Andrew Murphy & Son. The contributions will be taken to the Associated Charities for distribution. Although three trucks have been promised for the work of calling at the schools Wednesday for the Thanksgiving contributions, others will be required—probably eight in all. There are thirty-seven schools to be visited. Miss Mable Porter of the Associated Charities has asked that any merchant or other person who will lend a wagon for this work call by telephone, Douglas 2287, and give such notice as early as possible. Diarrhoea Quickly Cured. "It was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all druggists.—Advertisement.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Urgent Need of Checking Snobbery in Colleges. WAYS AND MEANS DISCUSSED. Doings of the Week in Nearby State and Private Institutions—News from the Educational Field. One of the liveliest movements of the hour, as noted by the New York Tribune, is the effort to make American colleges more democratic. There is not much agreement as to method, but general agreement on the necessity for attack. As to the right and wrong ways of approaching the problem, John Corbin presents some exceedingly clear-cut ideas in the current Century. Harvard claimed Mr. Corbin's early college years and Oxford his later. So that he speaks from a pretty catholic experience, and he is added, with no perceptible squint toward his own homes of learning. For his text there is the classic tale of the Harvard professor, walking the college yard, who asked a troubled and forlorn youth, "Are you looking for anybody?" "I don't know anybody this side of the Rocky mountains," came the answer. Of such is the wilderness of the "outs" in our large colleges. On the other hand, for those who would be "ins" there is a period of campaigning which Mr. Corbin very accurately compares to the feminine business of social climbing. How avoid all this and permit undergraduates to come together, man to man, on their merits? Mr. Corbin's recipe is frankly based on the Oxford and Cambridge idea. There a man rubs into immediate friendship by reason of his residence in his college. The English college is small enough to be thoroughly individual. It is large enough to give a student the spirit and life of the whole institution. For the men of special distinction there are the clubs which fuse the colleges into one powerful tradition, working in a directly opposite direction from the narrowing American fraternity or society. Just how these principles can be transplanted to America is another matter. Mr. Corbin points out how the Harvard union, modeled after the Oxford union, failed utterly. He also disapproves the quad system which President Wilson adopted for Princeton during a late unpleasantness in that institution. The scheme was too mathematical, too artificial, he seems to hold, permitting none of the natural, sturdy individuality which is the strength of the English college. For a move in the right direction Mr. Corbin chooses the new residential halls at Harvard. Three of these are to house the entire freshman class, each a complete community in itself, with dining hall, athletic teams, etc., of its own. Thus, for one year at any rate, communities more or less in the manner of an English college are to be developed. WAYNE STATE NORMAL. Various Activities of the Week Briefly Noted. All departments of the normal will close Wednesday and the students will be permitted to spend Thursday and Friday at home. The commission form of government will be the question for discussion before the debating club at its next meeting. The art department is at work on a suitable design for the cover page of the December issue of the Goldenrod, which is to be a special foot ball number. Last Monday and Tuesday Dr. House and his class in sociology attended in a body the meeting of charities and correction at Sioux City, and on Friday morning they gave a very excellent report of this convention to students and faculty at convocation. Prof. Lackey has outlined a short course in agriculture to begin after the Thanksgiving recess. The purpose of this course is to meet the needs of young men who enter for the winter term. New registrations this week are: Goldie E. Templeman of Laurel and Lee E. Sellen of Randolph. FREMONT COLLEGE. Brief Mention of Happenings of the Week. Miss Mary Buttoff of Harrisburg, Pa., will continue her study with Prof. Phillips which she began prior to his coming to Fremont. Miss Buttoff has a voice of rare quality. She appeared before the students in chapel Wednesday morning and immediately captivated her audience. Mrs. Gilbert's class in Shakespeare have taken up Henry Eighth. This class is one of the most interesting in the literary department. Miss Clara Chase of Omaha, formerly college librarian, is a guest of Mrs. Clemmons at the college. Mrs. A. F. Mueller entertained her German class Wednesday with sixty present. The evening opened with a grand march and with the exception of a few guests, the German language was the prevailing tongue. Prof. G. H. Mohler is enjoying a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Marion Reed, and children en route to Austin, Tex., where Mr. Reed will assume control of the music department of the university. Prof. Reed was for seven years head of the piano department of the college. PERU STATE NORMAL SCHOOL. Commercial Club Gives Reception to the Faculty. Peru Normal will have but one-day vacation this week and that will be Thanksgiving day. The president went to Fairbury last Thursday to visit the schools and to lecture to the Jefferson county teachers on Saturday. Prof. F. M. Gregg lectured before a young man's organization at Plattsmouth on Monday. The faculty has decided to have a "play." It will be coached by Miss Ferguson of the education department. The "play" will be given in December and is for the purpose of paying the deficit of last year's athletics. The kindergartners have been studying the birds of this community. They have made a number of excursions to observe them in the woods. They had canaries at school and later visited one of the homes where there are two parrots. Tuesday evening W. S. Batts, an impersonator of Dickens, gave an entertainment, which was well received. Robert Graham of Alliance, visited his daughter last week. Miss Hestia Graham is secretary to the president of the normal. All of the trees which are to be removed from the Peru park have been marked and students are to be given the opportunity of earning money by cutting them down. Miss Nemaha Clark, county superintendent, visited in Peru Thursday. Miss Bowen lectured on German life last Friday evening. The exhibit made by C. A. Sommers of the German-American Alliance has drawn hundreds of visitors and Miss Bowen thinks that an understanding of German people and their customs will be bettered. The furtherance of good will among the German societies and German loving people will certainly be the result. The Commercial club gave a reception to the faculty Wednesday night. The president passed out cards, on which were ten questions, the answers to which were later read by him. It developed that in the year 1912 36,000 barrels of cider had been made; that the receipts of the local freight amounted to $40,000; that students come from eleven states, and from seventy-two countries of Nebraska. There are 25,000 telephone calls daily. Nearly 700,000 pieces of mail are handled annually at the postoffice. HASTINGS COLLEGE. Much Needed Improvements in Equipment and Campus. Some improvements have been made about the college recently. A cement walk has been placed from the girls' dormitory to the north side of the campus, thus giving us a splendid walk to all points northwest of the campus. The large grand piano which was moved about from place to place since the college owned it has finally been placed in the conservatory studio. This gives us a couple of splendid grand pianos for our studios. Our music department has now more than 100 enrolled, against fifty-three last year. Prof. Fuhr and Miss Johnson are proving themselves strong teachers in their respective lines. A nice collection of birds was added to our museum through gift of W. M. Lowman. The week just closed was observed by the Christian associations as the week of prayer. A short prayer service was conducted each noon by both associations. We now have two young women's literary societies, as a second one has recently been organized with about a dozen members. More will come in later. This means an improvement in our literary work, as there will be contests between our women's societies as well as the men's. Hastings college has now five flourishing literary societies. Among the visitors last week were Miss Elizabeth Lehr and Miss Frances Plison, who are teaching this year; Miss Gladys Work, who has charge of the primary work of Giltner; Miss Mattie Theobald, '18, who is teaching in the high school of Giltner, and Helen Ingrams Turner, '08. We expect all old students back at the homecoming at commencement time. DOANE COLLEGE NOTES. College Club Elects New President and Secretary. Herbert Hosford was elected president of the College club at a special meeting held last Wednesday. Miss Ethel Houglie was elected secretary. The club will have six meetings this year, each class to be responsible for one meeting and the officers and faculty one meeting each. The first meeting of the club will be held on December 19, and the program will be presented by the sophomore class. On Thursday evening occurred the second of the student recital series. Ten students from the various departments of the conservatory and the school of expression appeared on the program. C. W. Mitchell, '08, and Mrs. Mitchell of Chadron, visited friends at the college Wednesday. The Young Women's Christian association meeting last week was conducted by four young women from the Wesleyan University association, Verna Stebbins, their president, led the meeting. Bees Gilbert gave readings, Ethel Garten sang, and Beck was pianist. College will close at 11:30 Wednesday for the Thanksgiving recess. Miss Bernice Nelson of Ogallala has been the guest of her sister, Pauline, this week. F. H. Korab, '12, who was assistant secretary of the Fremont Young Women's Christian association last year, has gone to Spring Lake, Mont., where he has taken a homestead. The annual foot ball banquet will be given on December 5. Educational Notes. Atlanta Sunday schools this year show a gain of over 400 scholars over last year. Stockpans schools are to have special classes for particularly good, bright boys scholars. Springfield (Mo.) Normal school is providing for the use of students and as grammatical text books. President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell university has announced that $4,800,000 had been given to the Cornell university medical school by an anonymous giver. A gift of $25,000 from Charles H. Pine of Ansonia had been given to the Cornell university medical school by an anonymous giver. The late Mrs. J. W. B. B. collection of 600 British tracts, dating from 1634 to 1640, was given by Otto T. Banhard of New York. Prof. Lynch of the Springfield (Mo.) State Normal has subscribed to 100 newspapers from all over the country, which he is planning to use as text books in the Missouri schools, of which he is superintendent. He has said that "the newspapers and the public schools are the universities of the world." The penny lunch counter in schools is of comparatively recent date, but it has attained wide popularity. Some figures read before the Buffalo International Congress on School Hygiene showed that the children in the New York City schools last year spent $1,500,000 pennies for food. The children of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago and Baltimore spent $1,640,000 during the nine months from September to June. Chadron Normal School. Miss Frazier is back after a week's absence on account of illness. Miss Lenine was elected secretary of the room during Miss Frazier's absence. The girls' basket ball teams have organized and have held a short meeting in which they elected Miss Ermina Carriveau business manager. The Alice Freeman Palmer society held its meeting Friday afternoon at 12:30. Miss Clark, who had attended the teachers meeting in Omaha, gave a report of the convention. The work on the new dormitory is progressing rapidly. A great deal of interest is being taken in the construction of this building by the town people. A number of people visited the grounds on Sunday. Last Saturday evening one of the most enjoyable functions of the season took place at the Carman home, where President and Mrs. Sparks, Dean and Mrs. Stockdale, and Miss Faine met with the senior and sophomore classes for their first social gathering. CONDUCTOR A. C. DUGAY TO BE BURIED THIS AFTERNOON. A. C. Dugay, for twenty-five years a resident of Omaha and at one time a conductor for the Missouri Pacific, died Friday in a local hospital of pulmonary tuberculosis. He lived at 1515 Cass street. Funeral services will be held today at the chapel of John A. Gentlemen, 1814 Chicago street, at 2:30 p. m., and interment will be at West Lawn cemetery. The New Munsey Magazine

A radical overturning of old theories in magazine making. A complete book-length novel takes the place of the serial story. A $1.50 book and a standard illustrated magazine all in one. No longer any "Continued in Our Next" in Munsey's Magazine. Everything complete in each issue.

I HAVE made this sweeping change in Munsey's Magazine, cutting out all serial stories, for the reason that magazines built on old lines have lost their grip on the public. The day for the serialization of novels in monthly periodicals is gone, and gone forever.

The public is no longer willing to wait from month to month for fragments of a novel, the whole story dragging through six or eight or ten months. And the novel is the great pulling force in periodical publications. Without it, magazine circulation as a whole, that is, normal, spontaneous circulation, not bargain-counter circulation, would drop perhaps eighty-five per cent.

Weekly publications, Sunday supplements of the daily press and the dailies themselves have usurped the place of the monthly in the presentation of serial stories.

But the monthly magazine has its place. It can do what the dailies and weeklies cannot do. It can publish a complete book-length novel in a single issue, and this "puts it all over" the serialized novel, however ideally presented.

This new move of Munsey's Magazine opens up a new field of wider usefulness and wider popularity for magazines. It gives them a definite work to do and solves the problem of furnishing new books to the public at a price well within the reach of all.

In initiating this broad policy in magazine making, Munsey's Magazine has given the public something new and something big. The complete novel in Munsey's for December (Christmas issue) is

by George Barr McCutcheon

It is as good a novel as McCutcheon has ever written, and McCutcheon stands with the very first in popularity among the novel writers of the present time. A gauge of his popularity is found in the fact that in book form, at $1.50 a copy, his novels sell up into the hundreds of thousands.

In Munsey's Magazine "Black is White" will cost you 15c; in book form it will cost you $1.50, and in Munsey's Magazine you will get it first—get it before it has ever appeared elsewhere.

The complete novels in Munsey's Magazine are not mere novelettes, but full-length book novels. Make no mistake about this. Of course, the publication of a book-length novel complete in one issue of a magazine means a mammoth magazine in reading pages. Munsey's Magazine is a mammoth magazine in reading pages—228 pages this month. Magazines running along on old lines give, on an average, say three serialized novels a year. Munsey's Magazine will now give twelve complete novels, which means $18.00 worth of books a year.

Quite apart from the complete McCutcheon novel in the December Munsey, it is a very splendid Christmas magazine, rich in illustrations and generous in short stories, articles, and such miscellany as goes to make complete a standard illustrated magazine. Get the December number of Munsey's Magazine and see the kind of a magazine it is. Seeing for yourself means something.
