Sketches of Men Who Will Uphold Honors of Varsity.

MEET MINNESOTA AT LINCOLN

Other Team Goes to Iowa City to Meet Hawkeye Team—Literary Test for Immigrants in Subject.

LINCOLN, Nov. 29.—(Special.)—The two annual forensic contests in which University of Nebraska students trained in argumentation and debate will compete with teams from other state universities in the Central Debating League (Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin) will this year be held the evening of Friday, December 12, Nebraska's opponents in the eight contests of the league will be Minnesota at the Temple theater, Lincoln, and Iowa at Iowa City. A year ago Nebraska defeated the other two members of the league, Illinois and Wisconsin, on the question of compulsory federal charters, as it did in 1910 on the ship subsidy question.

At Lincoln Nebraska will maintain the affirmative and Iowa City the negative of the following proposition: "Resolved, That immigration into this country should be further restricted by means of a literary test."

The eight students who won the honor of representing the university were selected three weeks ago by Prof. M. M. Fogg, Prof. George N. Foster, Prof. Ed. Maxey and Prof. J. E. Le Rossignol from the members of the Intercollegiate Debate society appointed in October at an open tryout debate.

Team to Oppose Minnesota. Brief sketches of Nebraska's representatives follow: Reed B. Dawson, '14, of Lincoln was a member of the class of 1910 in the Lincoln High school on the scholarship honor roll, of which he was the first two years. He was chairman of the junior "Prom" committee, in captain of Company I or the cadet in attendance and a member of the Silver Lynx. Next year he will enter the Harvard Law school.

Harold A. Prince, '15, law '15, of Grand Island entered the university in 1909, having taken valedictory honors at the Grand Island High school. He received the degree of bachelor of arts last June with high scholarship rank and Phi Beta Kappa honors. Last year he was one of the three Nebraskans awarded the distinction over Wisconsin at Madison on the Federal Incorporation question. Mr. Prince is a member of Delta Tau Delta, Phi Alpha Tau and of Delta Sigma Rho, the intercollegiate debaters' honorary fraternity.

Paul F. Good, '15 (Amherst), law '16, of Lincoln, alternate on the affirmative team, led the class of 1909 at the Wahoo High school and was awarded second honor in the state debate of the Nebraska High School Debating League in 1909. At Amherst he won prizes in English, Latin and in mathematics in which he took final honors and he was graduated magna cum laude, having the highest scholarship in the class. He belongs to Phi Beta Kappa.

Team to Oppose Iowa. Raymond E. Kirk, '15, of Kearney entered the university this fall from the Kearney Normal school, from which he graduated last year and which he entered from Grand Island College academy. He represented Kearney in four debates with Grand Island and with Peru Normal school in 1911, and with Peru in 1912 and 1913.

Otto K. Perrin, '15, of Sargent, was graduated with valedictory honors from the Sargent High school in 1907. He taught English and Latin in that school in 1908-1909 and entered the university in 1910. As a student he has specialized in argumentation and debate, in economics and history. He has made a distinguished scholarship record with 100 hours of "excellent," his rank being 93 per cent.

C. A. Sorenson, '15, law '15, of Loup City, entered the university in 1911 from Grand Island college, where he was a member of the freshman and sophomore debating teams. He took his high school course at Loup City, which he represented in 1908 and 1909 in contests of the Nebraska High School Debating League. He was a member of Nebraska's team that defeated Illinois here last year on the compulsory chartering of interstate commerce corporations. Mr. Sorenson was recently appointed scholar in the department of political science and sociology. He is a member of Delta Chi, Phi Alpha Tau, the honorary public speaking fraternity, and Delta Sigma Rho, the honorary intercollegiate debate fraternity.

Harold J. Schwab, '15, of McCook, alternate on the negative team, in scholarship led the class of 1912 at the McCook High school, which he represented in the contests of the southwestern district of the Nebraska High School Debating League. He was a member of the freshman team last year in the interclass debates. He is taking the six-year law course. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Alpha Tau.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Robert Gilder Delivers Address on Prehistoric Nebraska.

BOWLERS LEAVE FOR ST. LOUIS

First Shipment of Feeder Hogs, Imported from Cholera, Sent to Stock Raiser in Iowa.

Robert Gilder, archaeologist of the museum of the state of Nebraska, entertained a large audience at the South Omaha High school last night in the interests of the new public museum which President E. O. Mayfield of the library board has inaugurated. Mr. Gilder went into the prehistoric age and dealt at length and with great interest upon the conditions surrounding primitive man in Nebraska and the Missouri valley. He showed a remarkable profundity in the subject to which he has devoted his life and appeared to take much pleasure in urging upon those present the importance of having a museum in their city. T. H. Tibbles of Omaha also spoke on prehistoric man.

President E. O. Mayfield acknowledged the receipt of several checks from citizens interested in the new museum. A number of proffers have been made by citizens who will donate artistic collections of relics as soon as the museum has become an accomplished fact. President Mayfield has taken great interest in the work and is leading the fight for means to make the new addition to the city library.

Bowlers Leave. Off to gather bowling laurels at the St. Louis Mid-west tournament, the South Omaha Merchants bowling team left last evening for the Smoky city over the Wabash. The team consisted of F. M. Lepinski, captain; Jay Lefler, George Kennedy, J. J. Fitzgerald, Ray Cooley and Henry Fritcher. The team will play its five-man event this evening. The singles and doubles will be played Sunday. The team will return next Tuesday.

Feeder Hogs to Iowa. E. F. Peterson, manager of the Great Western Commission company, today will make the first shipment of feeder hogs from the South Omaha stock yards to J. E. Fleming of Walnut, Ia. This is a fine bunch of 100-pound pigs, 215 in number. They were bought up on the local market by the Great Western Commission company three weeks ago and the following day were dipped according to government regulations, under the supervision of the United States government and the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary board, immediately after being vaccinated with cholera serum, and twenty-one days later being re-dipped. After the second dipping the hogs are released for shipment to the country.

This shipment marks the epoch of a new outlet for stock hogs, which formerly go to market and were compelled to go to slaughter in a very thin condition. The hog feeder who is not in a position to raise hogs for feeding is now in a position to go to the local market and place his order for satisfactory stock, the same as the cattle and sheep feeder has been able to do for years past. That the new ruling will prove a popular one to the hog feeders in territory tributary to the South Omaha market is already being evidenced from the fact that practically 1,000 hogs are now being vaccinated and dipped in preparation for shipment to the country.

Improve Besse Theater. George Atkins, manager of the Besse theater, is having extensive repairs and decorations made on the interior of the popular show house. The walls are being frescoed and the stage repainted. The electric work is to be renovated and a $5,000 organ installed at an early date.

Tanner Scores Moorhead. Election Commissioner Harley G. Moorhead is coming in for some keen criticism from the trenchant pen of John M. Tanner, who inveighs mightily against the commissioner because the latter will not keep a man in the city hall at South Omaha for a period of from three to six months in the year. Moorhead has given both Omaha the same opportunity as given any other part of the county—no more and no less, it is maintained. He is said to have promised another local registration some time next spring. Under the circumstances it is claimed by the friends of the commissioner he cannot lend himself to anything which would leave a clerk, however competent, in full control of an office in South Omaha, where it is conceded there have been cast many votes which under the new law would not find their way into the ballot box.

SCOTCH MENU AT BANQUET

Originality Marks Observance of St. Andrew's Day.

GATHERING OF SCOTTISH CLANS

Two Hundred Twenty-Five Sons and Daughters of Land of Heather Partake of Good Things.

Bannocks and scones, oatmeal cake, shortbread and all the other good old dishes of bonnie Scotland, savored with keen Scotch wit and the songs and enthusiasm that typify Clan Gordon, marked St. Andrew's day banquet of the Order of Scottish Clans at the Young Men's Christian association building last night. Observance was made of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the order and of the fact that the day was St. Andrew's day, celebrated by all Scots as the birthday of their patron saint. The dinner was served in the assembly room of the association building at 7 o'clock and the program which followed it was in special celebration of the two events of so much import to all Scotchmen.

Chief John McTaggart of the local clan presided as toastmaster and made opening remarks. The following program was given: MISA. "The Thirty-fifth Anniversary of the Order of Scottish Clans," Past Chief James Cameron. Piano selection, E. V. Challiner. "St. Andrew, the Patron Saint of Scotland," Chorus, The Young Men's Christian association. Song, Mrs. H. W. Pitt. "The Land We Live In," Chorusman A. J. Jackson. Musical monologue, Otto Bridge. "The Ladies," Chorusman Alexander McNeil. Reply, Mrs. Margaret Parks. Closing remarks, Chief John McTaggart.

"Auld Lang Syne," sung by all present. Favorite Scotch tunes, interspersed with those of America, were played during the evening by Cady's orchestra. Chorusman J. C. Lindsey played an inspiring accompaniment for "Auld Lang Syne."

The menu, as printed on the program folder of the affair, was as follows: Some hot water and a canna eat. And some we eat that want it. But we ha'e meat and we can eat an' see the Lord be thankit. Noo jist dh'ae your han' and help yoursel's. What we'll get for our money: That's something I mak your teeth water I'm thinkin'.

CLAMPIT TATTIES. Arrahrie Champions jist hawkit this mornin'. BRON GRAY. T' drook the ladies wee CREAMED PEAS. Wee roon saft trinitin' things. O' dootif' nationality, supposed to be ane o' the fifty-seven. Hech me, I declare it's jist as thing better than anther. Baked w' rale scoo dook. Guaranteed by ladies' auxiliary. HAUF TIME. HAGGIS—A Pifewire Specimen. Auld Scotland wants me skinkin' ware that jumps in lugies. But if ye wish it grateful prayer, gie it a haggis. CURRIAN DUMPLIN'. Ca' canny freens, it's a gay fillin'. LEMON SAUCE. T' pour over the dumplin' ye ken. OATMEAL CAKE AND CHEESE. Weel, weel, if this is no rale like auld times. SHORTBREID. Thank ye, jist a wee bittie it looks rale guid. BERRLES, JAMS, MARMALADE, an' sic like tasty dainties—a' the road frae Dundee, what think ye. Twa or three kinds 't suit lika ane's taata. TEA. Tammy's ain blend, jist newly maskit. COFFEE. Nae mair than lower cups 't wan buddy. Ma conscience, an' 't that for only a couple o' bob. Wholesale Execution.

Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the larger parties. A strong line of recitations and readings were also given, all of which clearly demonstrated the result of the clear cut discipline and training that is given at the institution. Among other things, Longfellow's "Evangeline," dramatized, was enacted by the pupils with fetching cleverness. The cast of characters follows: Evangeline, Bellefontaine, Acadian Maiden, Margaret, Margaret, Margaret, Gabriel Lajeunesse, son of Basil the Blacksmith, Margaret Greenough, Benedict, Bellefontaine, Evangeline's father, Irene O'Reilly, Collis, Basil Lajeunesse, the Village Blacksmith, Gertrude Smith, Father Fede, Katherine English, Rene Leblanc, Notary Public, Irene O'Reilly, Madeline, Notary's Wife, Madeline, Deborah McLeod, Madeline St. Maur, Friend of Evangeline, Captain Winslow, Commander of Brantish Soldiers, Rose Welsh, Acadian Musician, Misses E. Redman and F. Foley. Acadian Women—Claire May, Agnes Bushman, Vivian Foley, Ruth Wheeler, Blanche Fritchard, Florence McCrann, Kathleen Seale and Loretto Ryan. Guests—Helen Sinclair, Isabelle McDonald, Agnes Madigan, Anna May Bonhoe, Marguerite Bonness, Bessie McCormick, Katherine Krans, Edna Smith, Julia Morrison, Myrtle Bevan, Helen Ferguson, Bessie Kessane and Margaret Gertrude.

Two Questions. A club of eccentric young men had for one of their rules that on Tuesday evenings any man who asked a question in the club room which he was unable to answer himself should pay a fine of $10. One evening McLoughlin asked the following: "Why doesn't a ground squirrel leave any dirt around the top of his hole when he digs it?" After some deliberation McLoughlin was called upon to answer his own question. "That's easy," said he. "The squirrel starts at the bottom and digs up." "All very nice," suggested a member. "But how does he get to the bottom?" "Well," answered McLoughlin, "that's your question."—Everybody's Magazine.

MEMORIES OF OLD REVIVED

Douglas Pioneers Hear Lecture by Mrs. A. C. Troup.

PICTURES THROWN ON SCREEN

Early Buildings and Scenes in Omaha Are Reproduced to Excellent Enjoyment of Large Audience.

Memories of the old days, when as young and sturdy pioneers they or their fathers and mothers struggled and suffered to build up what is now the great commonwealth of Nebraska, were recalled by over 100 men and women who heard Mrs. A. C. Troup, wife of District Judge Troup, deliver an illustrated lecture before the Douglas County Pioneers' association in their rooms in the new court house last evening.

Baldheaded, graybearded men and tender, careworn women, many of whom went through the first decade of the historic efforts that resulted in the placing of Omaha and Nebraska upon what was once a mere wilderness of barren wastes, buffaloes trails and Indian hunting grounds, felt with keen appreciation the tributes paid by Mrs. Troup to the hardihood and bravery, as well as to the industry and ultimate achievement of the frontier settlers.

A thrill of pleasure over a task well done, touched their hearts as the speaker told of the wonderful change that has resulted from their long ago efforts to make a home and build up a great city and state, of which they once found only the "great American prairie." The pictures of scenes and places fifty years ago proved so interesting to those who had actually been there, that the meeting did not break up till many early experiences and memories had been retold by little groups which lingered after the lecture was concluded.

Spanish Invasion. Beginning with a narrative of the early explorations of De Vaca, Mendoza and Coronado, Mrs. Troup took how the visit of the latter to "Quivera" in 1541 was really a Spanish invasion of what is now the Nebraska and Kansas region. After tracing the French explorations also, she recited the later activities of Lewis and Clark, Whitney and the early American furtraders, which led to the settlement of Nebraska and the organization of the territorial government.

The second part of the lecture was a comparison of the early days with those of the present, and the story of how the change had been brought about by stalwart pioneers, some of whom were in the audience. Pictures of the old Herndon house, the first court house, and the capitol building on the present site of the high school, brought personal recollections to the minds of those attending the meeting. The illustrated history of such institutions as the high school, the university, the old "Herald" and The Bee, with the founders of the latter two, Dr. George L. Miller and Edward Rosewater, respectively, aroused applause and cheers from Mrs. Troup's auditors.

Augustus Lockner presided at the meeting and at the close, President "Uncle Joe" Redman of the association tendered Mrs. Troup a vote of thanks for the members. Mrs. Charles H. Fiealte had charge of the music, which was rendered by Mrs. Redman's granddaughter, Miss Hazel Haucall, and Miss Ellen De Bolt. Mrs. Troup appeared as a representative of the Nebraska State Historical society and explained that her lecture had been prepared originally for presentation to public school children in a campaign to acquaint them with the influence of the pioneers in their state's development.

St. Berchman School Pupils in Song and Longfellow Sketch

A musical and entertainment was given last night by the pupil body of St. Berchman's academy. This was the first time that the kindergarten department participated in the work, although these entertainments and musicals are given once or twice a year at the academy. The kindergarten children, although this was their first appearance, made an excellent showing, and were repeatedly applauded, especially in their clever little song and dance, in which eight little couples participated.

Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the larger parties. A strong line of recitations and readings were also given, all of which clearly demonstrated the result of the clear cut discipline and training that is given at the institution.
