MORGAN COMPANY'S CONNECTIONS WITH COMBINES SEVERED

Step Taken in Response to "An Apparent Change in Public Sentiment."

INFLUENCED BY CRITICISMS

General Attitude Toward Interlocking Directorates Felt.

J. P. MAKES A STATEMENT

Officers Resign from Offices with Number of Firms.

TO LEAVE YET OTHER BOARDS

Among the Corporations Affected

Are the New York Central and the New Haven Railroads.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—J. P. Morgan & Co. announced today that it has severed its connection with some of the greatest corporations in the country with which it has long been connected. This step, the firm announced, was taken voluntarily in response to "an apparent change in public sentiment," on account of "some of the problems and criticisms having to do with so-called interlocking directorates."

Among the companies from which they retired are the New York Central and the New Haven railroads.

J. P. Morgan made this statement: "The necessity of attending many board meetings has been so serious a burden on our time that we have long wished to withdraw from the directorates of many corporations. Many of the directorates were accepted with reluctance and only because we felt constrained to keep in touch with properties we had reorganized, or whose securities we had recommended to the public, both here and abroad."

"An apparent change in public sentiment in regard to directorships seems now to warrant us in resigning from some of these connections."

"Indeed, it may be in view of the change in sentiment on the subject that we shall be in a better position to serve such properties and their security holders, if we are not directors. We have already resigned from the companies mentioned and we expect from time to time to withdraw from other boards on which we feel there is no special obligation to remain."

The companies to which Mr. Morgan referred from whose boards members of the firm have already submitted their resignation as directors are:

J. P. Morgan—New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company; West Shore railroad; Lake Shore & Michigan Southern; Michigan Central railroad; New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad; New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; Central New England railroad; New York, Westchester & Boston railroad; Harlem River & Port Chester railroad; Milbrook company; New England Telephone & Telegraph company; Rhode Island company; Rutland Railway company; Hartford & Connecticut Western railroad; New York, New Haven & Hartford Western railroad; Western Union Telegraph company.

Other members of the firm have resigned from the following:

Charles Stebbins—Central railroad; United States Steel corporation.

H. P. Davidson—American Telephone and Telegraph company; Astor Trust company; Guaranty Trust company; New York, Chicago & St. Louis National bank.

W. H. Porter—Bankers' Trust company; Guaranty Trust company; Western Electric and Manufacturing company; Utah Copper company; Astor Trust company; Bankers' Trust company.

By withdrawing from these corporations J. P. Morgan & Co. have cut the strings that have held together many of the country's most important corporations in a community of interests which has been assailed within and without congress.

The house of Morgan feels that it has kept within the law in its complex operations and that no legal necessity or threatened complications with the authorities at Washington has made it necessary to adopt a sweeping change in policy announced today.

Missionaries to Orientals Need the Broadest Culture

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 2.—Ignorance on the part of a missionary will not long hold the intellectual respect of the oriental student, declared Prof. Charles R. Henderson of the University of Chicago, in urging better training of missionaries in social study and actual service before the student volunteer convention for foreign missions, here today.

The object of the movement is to induce college men and women to volunteer for service in foreign fields.

Prof. Henderson declared missionaries today are called on to do much more than preach.

"Many kinds of social services are demanded by various situations," said he, "not only caring for the sick and teaching team work in play, but also translators of scientific literature are needed to act as guides of municipal, provincial and national law makers, who are already aware of the fact that they must learn from western science."

"The young men who are to command attention and hold influence in the mission fields today must have a long and thorough discipline in science and experience. This training should begin in the secondary schools, extend through college and be specialized in graduate studies."

George Sherwood Eddy of New York City, Dr. H. R. F. Horton of London and W. D. Mackenzie of Hartford, Conn., also spoke.

Conferences of delegates and professors from the various churches represented in the convention will occupy the time this afternoon. The conference of Chinese students, of whom 150 are in attendance at the convention, continued.

Three Chinese girls, sisters, are reunited in the convention for the first time in six years. They are Chie Che Wang, who came to the United States six years ago and who is a student at Wellesley college, Cal. Fung Wang, a student in Pomona college, Pomona, Cal., who came to America two years ago, and Chi Nyok Wang, who is attending Mount Holyoke school and who has been in this country a year and a half. The home of the young women is Soo Chow, China.

Works Twenty-Seven Years to Pay Her Husband's Debts

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Andrew Knudson has just filed in this city with County Clerk Stirling a most peculiar paper—one that reveals a story of unusual heart interest, showing how a widow, after a lapse of twenty-seven years, has been enabled to fulfill an ambition to pay in full every debt owed by her husband at the time of his death.

Mrs. Knudson lives south of Randall, in Hamilton county, and is well known. Her husband died in 1886, and when the estate was settled up the creditors were paid just 65 cents on the dollar. Mrs. Knudson then and there became possessed of a determination to some day pay the amount remaining unpaid, which was something over $500. She was not obliged under the law to do this, but her petition filed in court states that it has been her "determination ever since the death of her husband to make payment in full of all his debts."

Under the disposition of the estate, which was not large, Mrs. Knudson, of course, came into possession of a little property. She worked and waited all the intervening twenty-seven years and finally found herself with enough money. So she went through the old records at the court house and got a list of her husband's creditors. So far as she has been able to find, these they have been paid in full, and now Mrs. Knudson has filed a supplementary report so the records will show clearly that all her husband's debts were satisfied in full. So far as is known, this is the first time anything of the kind ever happened in Hamilton county.

Hitchcock to Present Yates' Name for Board

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—(Special Telegram.)—Senator G. M. Hitchcock, on his way to the Chevy Chase club for his afternoon golf, said today that he would present the name of Henry W. Yates of Omaha as a member of the federal reserve board to the president on the latter's return from Pass Christian.

"And it will be no idle or perfunctory presentation, either," remarked Mr. Hitchcock. "In all the middle west there is no man better fitted for a place on the board than Henry W. Yates. He has eminent qualifications for the position. He is first a democrat. He has been a consistent antagonist of the so-called Aldrich plan of a national currency and banking act and having been a successful banker for nearly all his life he is specially fitted for the place."

"The Nebraska delegation, I feel sure, will endorse the position I take about Mr. Yates."

Congressman Lobeck today secured a passport for Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roberts of Omaha, who are in Washington on a few days' visit preparatory to a four months' trip through Europe. Mr. Roberts is an old associate of Mr. Lobeck. They were on the road together.

MURDERS IN CHICAGO AVERAGE ONE EACH DAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Records of the police department show there were thirty-one homicides on an average of one a day in Chicago in December. This is the largest total of murders and killings for a similar period in the history of the city. Two of the murders were listed in police records as "black hand cases."

One case was a patricide. A 15-year-old boy, believed to be insane, killed his father because the "devil told him to," he said.

Chain of Banks Will Make Small Loans

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Confirmation of reports from Berlin that Julius Rosenberg of Chicago, who is at present investigating European banking systems for financing men of small means, would soon establish in this country a chain of banks in an effort to aid small borrowers who are unable to obtain loans from ordinary financial institutions, was given here last night by Dr. Edwin R. Gould, Mr. Rosenberg is co-operating with Andrew Carnegie and Vincent Astor and others. Dr. Gould said. It is probable that Dr. Gould will be head of the system of banks, the first of which is to be established in Chicago with a capital of several hundred thousand dollars.

"I have studied the systems," Dr. Gould said, "and conferred with others as to the practicability of its adoption in America. In reality, it is not a banking system, but a system of credit and loan. There are 15,000 institutions in Germany of this kind and they are controlled by a central institution. The whole idea is to establish credit for the small man on the basis of character. Just as is done in Italy, Austria, Germany and Ireland."

Wife Murder and Suicide.

"PIRATE" BROUGHT TO FRISCO IN IRONS

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE

Rover Enters Cabin Muffled in Towel and Wearing Wig.

CARRIES AUTOMATIC PISTOL

Pulls Trigger of Useless Weapon and Then Draws Revolver.

IS OVERPOWERED BY NUMBERS

Held with Alleged Accomplice in Heavy Ball, charged with Assault on High Seas with Intent to Kill.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—A sea rover and Arctic trader turned "pirate," Andrew B. Nelson, himself a master mariner and one time owner of the schooner Hera, was brought to port today in irons, locked in the brig of the steam lumber schooner Willamette, and turned over to the federal authorities, who held him in $50,000 bail on a charge of assaulting Captain Reiner on the high seas with intent to commit murder.

With him was brought Joseph Laramie, a bricklayer, who says he is from Shelby, Ind., charged with being an accomplice in the crime. He was held in the same bail. Nelson will admit that he knows the other.

Nelson was arrested Wednesday night after a hand-to-hand battle in the captain's cabin, which he had entered muffled in a towel, wearing a brown wig as thick as a thatch and as palpably false, a false mustache and carrying an automatic pistol in his outstretched hand.

Nelson overpowered. Though a smaller, lighter man Captain Reiner fought the pistol away from the grotesque pirate, who immediately drew a double-action revolver. He was getting the better of the captain when two sailors and a waiter rushed into the room, overpowered Nelson and ironed him. Laramie was standing outside the door while the fight was in progress.

The Willamette carried $1,500 in cash to pay its crew of twenty-five and there were twenty-five passengers quartered aft. A launch followed the vessel, keeping distant about half a mile for Salem and Captain Reiner believes the pirate intended to rob the safe and hold up the passengers for their cash and valuables and make his escape to shore in the launch. Elaborate notations of possible landing places, giving distances and compass bearings were found in his clothing.

Puts Out to Sea Again.

After turning over his prisoner and telling his tale Captain Reiner put out to sea again for Seattle. He would not be alive tonight if it were not for the fighting for possession of the automatic pistol he was lucky enough to put the mechanism out of order. The pirate was pulling the trigger constantly until he realized the weapon was useless, when he threw it to the floor and drew his revolver.

So terrifying an apparition did he make in his black and wig that the captain's nephew, a lad of 17, burst from the room headlong to the forecastle, where he huddled with fright, he fell in a faint before he could make known his uncle's plight. It was the noise of the scuffle that finally drew the crew to the captain's aid.

Van Wagenen of Sioux City as attorney for the northern district of Iowa. Mr. O'Connor took the oath of office before Clerk McNeely and entered upon his duties today.

Securities Worth Hundred Thousand Dollars Stolen

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—A suitcase containing bonds valued at $100,000 was stolen today in the Union station from Paul Reich of Bloomington, Ill. Reich, who is a sandy manufacturer, left the suitcase in charge of his son, Otto C. 21 years old, while he purchased railroad tickets. The young man missed the suitcase and at the same moment noticed that a one-armed man who had been sitting beside him had left the station.

Pellagra is Not Caused by Corn

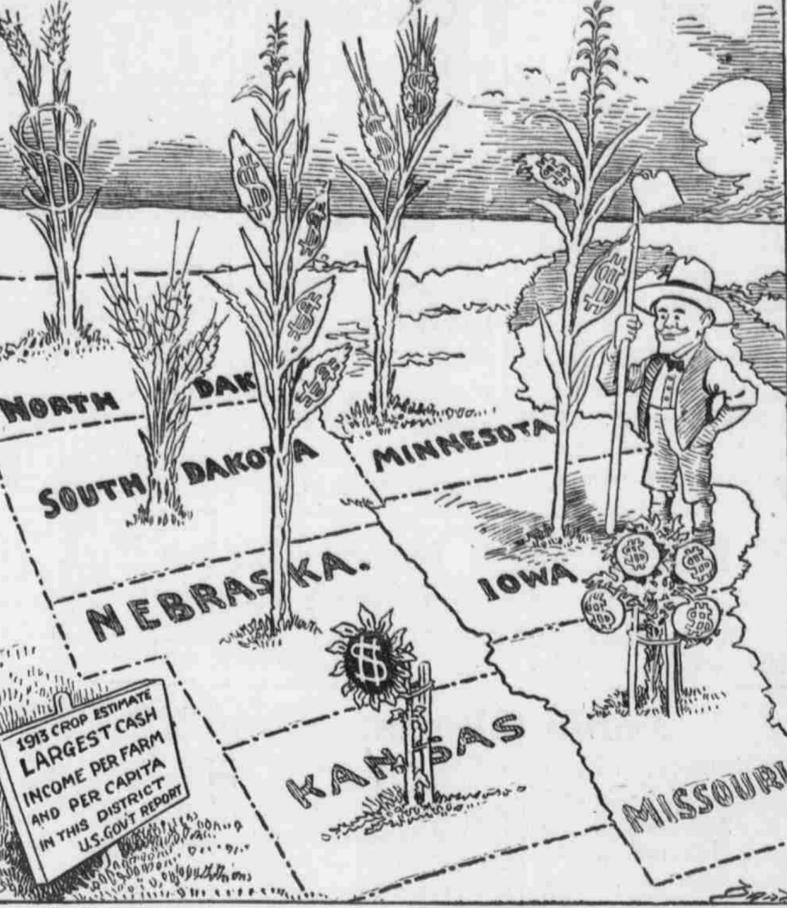

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 2.—That pellagra is not due to corn and that the disease is by no means as dangerous as the public may believe were two important conclusions reported by the Thompson-McFadden commission today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

GENERAL'S WIDOW SHOTS MAN WHO KILLED SPOUSE

CORO, Venezuela, Jan. 2.—A family tragedy resulted in the death yesterday of the leaders of Chiriana Castro's unsuccessful revolutionary army, General Lazaro Gonzalez and General Urbina, who had been erroneously reported among the killed on August 18 last in a battle with the government troops here.

General Urbina shot General Gonzalez dead after a quarrel. Later in the day General Gonzalez assisted by a friend, shot and killed General Urbina.

The Garden Plot of the United States

HENCHMEN WAITING SIGNAL

Governor Morehead's Boosters Ready for Big Campaign.

SCHEME IS PRACTICALLY SET

Friends of the Executive Will Solicit His Entering the Race for Re-Election to the Present Office.

The henchmen have been properly coached and are now ready to begin the circulation of a petition placing Governor John H. Morehead in nomination for re-election as governor of Nebraska. Yes, they have been properly coached to start the petition in Omaha and several parts of the state at practically the same time.

The governor knows about the coaching, and he is just sitting back in the executive chair waiting for his "friends to bring him out for the nomination."

Of course, when "friends bring one out" and insist, one cannot without showing gross ingratitude, graciously decline.

There are several distinct reasons why it is necessary for "friends to bring the governor out." The big, stinging, flaming reason is that in his campaign for re-election as governor Mr. Morehead repeatedly announced that he would ask only one term, and that under no consideration would he ask to be re-elected.

That promise is easy to make during campaign. Likewise is it hard to live up to, when one once gets a taste of the joys of being a chief executive. It is so nice to be a man.

Different Than Roosevelt.

But Governor Morehead dislikes to do the Roosevelt act and deliberately seek the office after he has publicly said he would never do such a thing. It is much nicer to have "friends urge one to come out." So the friends have been coached to do the urging.

Then, too, there is a burning, stinging reason why the governor must look for re-election if he is to be in politics at all. His other plans for his future are not materializing.

These other plans were to land himself in congress in the place of Congressman John A. Maguire of the First district. "From governor to representative in congress," that was Mr. Morehead's original program. What happened to it? The sentiment of the leading democrats of the First district will give some clue to what happened to it. The leading democrats there will not stand for shoving John A. Maguire in favor of Governor Morehead. The leading newspapers of Cass, Richardson, Nemaha, Otoe, Lancaster, Johnson and Pawnee counties have made it clear that they are not in favor of shoving Maguire aside to make a place for Morehead in congress.

So the governor took counsel with himself, and incidentally a few of his friends, and the result is that his friends are primed to begin the circulation of petitions to place him in nomination for re-election as governor.

This will likely mean that he will have to beat George W. Berge of Lincoln at the primaries, and many political prophets doubt his ability to do that in view of the good race Berge made for governor in 1904.

Eighty-Mile Gale Endangers Ships Off Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Jan. 2.—Gales sprang up today with the sea already full of foam for miles out of the Golden Gate. Due to previous disturbances, making navigation of the channels yet more difficult. At dawn the steamers Willamette, Klamath, Speedwell and Columbia were awaiting better weather before attempting to make port.

The water-logged lumber schooner Poms, which has been lying in tow of the steamer Adeline Smith outside the bar, waiting for the weather to moderate sufficiently to permit it to pass in, broke loose last night and capsized. Its six passengers had all been transferred to the Adeline Smith, which is still standing by.

Excepting for a few hours yesterday northern and central California have experienced a whole week of rainy weather. The weather bureau predicted more rain for tonight and tomorrow. Traffic on the Shasta route was blocked again today by landslides at Eagle Point, Cal., and it was reported that trains would be held at Dunsmuir and Red Bluff, Cal.

More drift wood was brought down in the Sacramento river today, indicating a continuance of the flood conditions in the valley which have verged on dangerous the last two days. The precipitation this morning in some of the valley towns was as high as two inches. All levees are holding, but the water stands at some points within less than two feet of the flood stage.

Some towns in the Santa Clara valley are isolated with wires down. Many bridges are covered with water. Traffic of all kinds is demoralized over a wide area of the state.

Gypsies Fighting for Girl

Lynka Marks Tries to Kill Self Rather Than Go to Jail.

GRANDMOTHER WANTS HER

Girl is Said to Be More Valuable Than When First Sold and Her Relatives Would Get More Money for Her.

Lynka Thomas, 15-year-old gypsy girl, for whose possession Mitchell Marks, the local spy king, and her grandmother, Mrs. May Thomas, are fighting in court, tried to kill herself when Sheriff McShane and deputies attempted to separate her from Marks' wife to take her to jail.

Aided by some of the other gypsies who professed willingness to obey the representatives of the law, the sheriff succeeded in dragging the screaming girl from his office into a marble corridor on the way to the jail. In a frenzy of fear and excitement Lynka threw herself down attempting to strike her head against the marble wall and stone floor.

Other gypsies then angrily protested against further coercing the girl and the sheriff's office was a scene of pandemonium. She was finally allowed to remain in an adjoining room with her friends until she became composed, and it was agreed that Mrs. Mitchell Marks should remain in jail with her over night.

Because charged of kidnapping and white slavery had been made in the case, Judge Sutton refused to allow Marks' hand to take the girl under bond pending hearing Saturday morning. The grandmother, who came from Sacramento, Cal., is a gypsy. She asserts that the girl was stolen from her seventeen months ago.

Brings Band with Him.

Marks and his wife, accompanied by about twenty-five members of his band, came to court to answer a writ of habeas corpus secured by the grandmother Thursday. Their stories as to how the girl came to be with them do not agree, but the one generally believed is that

Cardiff Giant is Back in Fort Dodge

FORT DODGE, Ia., Jan. 2.—Unhappily, the Cardiff giant was returned to its native home here late yesterday. The big fellow, weighing 2,900 pounds, is in good condition. He was immediately placed in a fireproof warehouse, where he will be kept until other quarters can be obtained for him. J. R. Muirney, the new owner of the giant, is as yet undecided what to do with the big statue. He probably will be exhibited to citizens of Fort Dodge.

The giant left Fort Dodge in 1868 as a rough piece of gypsum rock, quarried a few miles south of here. He was transported by wagon to Boone and thence to Chicago, where he was carved. He was then taken to New York state, buried and later "discovered."

Many scientists were fooled and its owners made a fortune displaying the "fossilized man."

REID'S ESTATE IS LESS THAN MILLION AND HALF

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The estate left by Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to Great Britain and editor and part owner of the New York Tribune, was valued at $1,386,884 in a report filed at White Plains today by the tax appraiser. With the exception of $5,560 the estate consists of personal property. The inheritance of Mrs. Reid, the widow and principal beneficiary, is appraised at $1,389,988.

FIGHT CONTINUES AT OJINAGA

Huerta Troops Ready to Flee Into United States.

TELEGRAPH WIRE GOES DOWN

Six Thousand Rebels Resume Battle in Close Quarters at Daybreak—Fight Lasts All Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the Texas border forces, has been instructed by Secretary Garrison to permit Mexican refugees to cross into Texas from Ojinaga if that is necessary to save their lives. The latest order to General Bliss, which reiterates former orders on the same subject, follows:

"With reference to possible situation at Ojinaga incident to people crossing the river, you will have to meet demands of the situation which cannot be foreseen at present. Extend such aid to wounded as humanity dictates and permit refugees to cross the river if crossing is necessary to save life. In other words, it is not expected to force people back to the Mexican side if they are liable to be shot or otherwise injured on their return. Co-operate fully with Red Cross. You are not expected to turn supplies over to Red Cross, but to co-operate with them in their work to such an extent as may be necessary to meet urgent needs of the situation with reference to caring for the wounded."

Statement by Garrison.

Discussing conditions at Ojinaga, Secretary Garrison today said:

"When the fighting first took place on the Mexican side and the soldiers of the defeated party began coming across the border, we without regard to technical questions of law, and in the interest of humanity, took in as refugees all those who came unarmed. We kept them so long as conditions on the other side were such that we felt it would be inhuman to turn them back. In a general way we kept them until they could be safely allowed to filter back across the border into their own country. Those orders have never been changed, and if properly interpreted, the men who have been fighting on the other side of the border, and who come over unarmed, are treated as refugees and are allowed to stay on our side of the line rather than be turned back to practically certain death. Armed men who come over are, of course, disarmed; the arms are held by our people and the men themselves received as other refugees."

"With regard to what will happen if a very large number attempt to come over, I can only say that unless the orders are changed (which, of course, they may be if an exigency calls for a change) these men will be treated as I have stated; that is, they will be treated as refugees. How long they will be permitted to stay, and all other hypothetical questions, I am unable to answer."

Warfare Continues.

MARFA, Tex., Jan. 2.—General Ortega's 6,000 rebels besieging the Mexican federal army at Ojinaga, Mex., with a heavy column of fire and gone into closer quarters on the federal before daylight today, continuing all day.
