GRIEF FOR THE SALOON MEN

Suits in District Court Are Brought Against a Dozen Proprietors.

MAY BE A MOVE BY BREWERS

Tall Young Man Claims to Have Evidence of Numerous Violations of Iowa Liquor Laws.

The attack on Council Bluffs saloons forecasted in The Bee yesterday morning developed as indicated when original notices in a dozen suits were placed in the hands of Sheriff Lindsey at 9 o'clock for service.

From information secured yesterday which is reasonably correct, the present onslaught is a fight between rival breweries, the Miller, Storz, Metz, Pabst, Schlitz, Anheuser-Busch and others.

It was learned yesterday that the present raid was contemplated and being arranged for by other parties and that the breweries stepped in at the last moment.

The Tall Young Man. The appeal for injunctions against the saloonmen is based upon the allegation that they have been selling to minors and habitual drunkards.

It is said that the young man can show he is not 21 years old and the proof that he bought liquors is substantiated. It may put every saloonman in Council Bluffs out of business and prevent the property in each instance ever again being used for saloon purposes.

In each case temporary and permanent injunctions are asked against the saloonmen and the property they occupy. If a temporary injunction is issued the saloonmen cannot again enter the business at any point within the Fifteenth judicial district for a period of five years.

It is said the periodical or rather regular attacks upon the Council Bluffs saloons have been intensive employment of a certain class of attorneys, but who found it ultimately very unprofitable.

MOOSERS DISAPPOINTED AT MEETING'S OUTCOME

There was not a large and enthusiastic response last night to the call for a bull moose banquet at the Grand hotel. It was expected that there would be at least twenty-five large and ambitious bull moose from various parts of the country, but the expectation was far from being realized.

Discussions of party policy were mostly held behind closed doors, and these discussions seemed to take so wide a range that final decisions were not available at 11 o'clock. No organization had been effected up to that hour.

Federals of Laredo Send Beast Across Plain with Prisoner.

BESIEGERS ARE FALLING BACK

Run Short of Ammunition and Are Obligated to Wait Until Fresh Supply Arrives from Chihuahua.

LAREDO, Tex., Jan. 2.—While the desultory firing today was indicative whatever advantage there was at the end of the second day's battle in the siege of Nuevo Laredo, Mex., seemed with the federal defenders tonight.

Seven constitutionalists were summarily hanged by federals today "as a warning." It also was reported but not confirmed, that the federals had put to death wounded constitutionalists left lying on the field.

One account of barbarism was witnessed from the American side of the river. A captured constitutionalist was trussed up with a rope to the tail of a wild horse which then was sent plunging across the plain dragging the body behind.

Rebels Fall Back. PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 2.—After driving a terrific cannon fire into the federal army at Ojinaga, Mex., for four days, General Ortega's rebel army today fell back.

The most impressive position of the 4,000 federals, entrenched in the heights of the village from which they command a sweeping range on the advancing rebels, enabled them to hold out against superior numbers.

Deliberately Draw Fire. It appeared that General Ortega's rebels were drawing the federal fire merely to exhaust it. The plan of driving out the federal force by skirmish would be in line with the usual guerrilla tactics of the rebels, who seldom make aggressive charges.

So far the losses have been heaviest on the rebel side, due to the federal's superior range. Federal deserters reported that they had fewer than 100 killed, with an unknown number of wounded, while the rebel losses would exceed that number.
