WHERE is the "General Rosalie Jones" of Omaha who would head the suffragists on a biking trip to Lincoln carrying the precious petitions with 38,000 signers, which will at least force the next legislature to take action?

The suffragists of Omaha are not lacking in enthusiasm, and the numerous societies in Omaha and nearby suburbs and neighboring cities should be able to recruit quite a large army of hikers who would be willing to go to Lincoln and present the petitions in person to Hon. Addison Wait, secretary of state.

The hikers would undoubtedly find Nebraska weather much more propitious for biking than New York weather. General Rosalie Jones and her band of suffragists are biking 155 miles from New York to Albany, while Omaha is only fifty-five miles from Lincoln. The eastern hikers are averaging from seventeen to twenty miles a day; at that rate the local suffragists should be able to reach Lincoln in three days.

The women are striving to secure the 38,000 signers by March 1, instead of July 1, as was formerly the intention, and have already secured half of the necessary number of names. If they are successful in getting the required number by March 1, this state will share in the national suffrage fund to carry on the work.

Several prominent and influential names have been secured by the women who are circulating the petitions. Mrs. Louis C. Nash has her petition headed with Bishop Scannell, one of the few bishops in America to sign in favor of suffrage.

Luncheon at Loyal.

One of the largest social affairs Tuesday was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Morris Levy and Mrs. William L. Holzman at the Hotel Loyal. Washington pink carnations and shaded lights formed a pretty decoration. Mrs. Ralph Holzman assisted and covers were placed for eighty guests.

Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. Wynn M. Rainbolt and Mrs. Edward Lettens entertained delightfully at an afternoon tea at the home of the former today from 4 to 6 o'clock in compliment to Mrs. N. A. Rainbolt who leaves next week for California, and for Mrs. John C. E. Wells of Osmond, Neb.

The rooms were lighted throughout with candles and decorated mostly with white blossoms and ferns. In the dining room the candles had green shades. About 100 cards were issued, and assisting were:

- Mrs. A. L. Williams, Mrs. Frank Meyer, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Elizabeth Griffith, Mrs. W. H. Nichols, Mrs. Bryant Rogers, Mrs. H. H. Davis, Mrs. Joseph Barker, Mrs. Katherine Grable, Mrs. Ethel Holmquist.

Mrs. H. Marowitz chaperoned a box party of sixteen at the Orpheum Sunday evening, in honor of Miss Esther Epston, the retiring president of the ladies auxiliary to the William McKinley lodge, independent order of B'nai B'rith. The following made up the party:

- Mrs. Esther Epstein, Mrs. Goldy Alprin, Mrs. Sadya Feinstein, Mrs. Jennie Krane, Mrs. Arthur Marowitz, Mrs. Joseph L. Brodkey, Mrs. Ben Foxman, Mrs. Sam Danaky, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Herman D. Marowitz, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jackson.

Collegiate Alumnae.

The music department of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. Savell, leader. Schubert and Schumann were the subjects of papers by Mrs. H. L. Moorman and Mrs. Johnson and were followed by a general discussion of the lives of the great composers. Other numbers on the program were vocal solos by Misses Elizabeth Fry, Alice Fry, Avilla Moore, Margaret Guthrie, and a piano solo by Miss Mabel Kelly.

Attractive Luncheon.

Mrs. Frederick A. Nash was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon today at her home in honor of Mrs. William A. Redick, who leaves next week to sail for an extended trip abroad. Killarney roses formed an attractive decoration of the table and covers were placed for Mesdames W. A. Redick, Hazel Clark, Arthur Remington, W. J. Foye, W. T. Burns, Warren Rogers, Joseph Barker, J. M. Daugherty, F. A. Nash and Miss Martha Sharp.

CONTEST IS A SALES PLAN

The Bee's M. and M. Plan Helps Manufacturers to Sell Goods.

MORE PRIZES IN TWO WEEKS

Second Series Will Be Awarded on January 23—Many Are Now Abreast in the Race for Honors.

The Bee M. & M. voting contest is a clean-cut sales plan. It gets to the consumer and it distributes for the manufacturer and jobber. There are no puzzles to solve, no schemes to unravel, and better still it costs nothing to enter or finish. Like all effective sales methods, it is simple. Instead of spending thousands of dollars in various other kinds of advertising, the manufacturers, jobbers and retailers offer through the Omaha Bee to their patrons the money in hard cold cash and in valuable premiums.

Though the M. & M. contest has been in operation only a month, its popularity is remarkable. Contestants are sending in nomination blanks from districts far and wide. One would-be nominee sent in her name from Van Tassel, Wyo. Of course, the contest department cannot enter contestants who live outside the district covered by this vigorous sales plan, but it is gratifying to know that the interest created by The Bee is so extensive.

On January 23 will be given away the second series of bonus prizes. There has been quite a stir-up in the standing of the many candidates, though the difference in actual rates among the leaders is insignificant. The standing of all contestants will be published in The Bee Sunday, January 25. In Omaha and Council Bluffs "Label Clubs" are being the thing now and a number of them have already been organized. The young women who compose the membership meet once a week. The principal division is to sort wrappers, labels and coupons, then in separate packages and then vote them for their favorite candidate or organization.

The boys and girls are much elated over the ruling of the contest manager which permits them to compete for the piano and diamond ring in their respective districts.

Save the Labels.

Organizations are taking hold in a vigorous manner. The members of the various lodges, hospitals and societies are using every effort to persuade their friends to lend assistance. "Don't throw away your labels, vote them for some worthy organization," is a sign posted in a conspicuous place in the store of an enterprising retailer in South Omaha. The demand created for articles, the labels of which are going for votes, keeps steadily increasing. The contest manager is beginning to realize that the money spent for these products is well spent. Many of the articles listed are made in Omaha. All of them are distributed by Omaha jobbers. The money spent for these goods stays at home where it belongs.

The M. & M. contest, as conducted by The Bee, is a real thrice to the mall order houses that enter into competition with the local merchants. What is true of Omaha is true of the other towns organized in the campaign. The M. & M. voting contest is keeping the local trade at home.

There are so many opportunities to collect votes in large numbers, and the names will make no mistake when they send in their nomination blanks at this time. The contest has yet three months to run. There are many prizes, therefore the opportunities are manifold. The contest manager will go into the details of the contest with you if you will call at the contest department, 224 Bee building. The phone number is Douglas 3119.

Hitchcock Calls Howard's Plan for Packers Practical

That the packers of South Omaha should pay the $3,000,000 in salaries that are now paid by the federal government to the experts in the bureau of animal industry for meat inspection at the slaughter houses is a "practical suggestion" in the mind of Senator G. M. Hitchcock. At least so he says in a letter he has written to Jerry Howard.

Howard has been "pounding him on the back" through correspondence for some time on this subject. He wrote the senator a long letter in which he referred to the inspection as being done by "horse doctors." Also he suggested that the packers be required to pay the $3,000,000 that it now costs the government to keep up this inspection. The $3,000,000, Howard suggested, could then be used to reclaim arid lands, and to make the Missouri river navigable, all of which he suggested would give much employment and solve to a large extent the industrial unrest problem. Howard sent a similar letter to David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture. Howard has a reply from Senator Hitchcock as follows: "I have your long letter and notice the practical suggestion at its close that the packers should be required to pay the amount now expended for the inspection of meat under the supervision of the bureau of animal industry for the reason, as stated by you, that the inspection is for their benefit. I shall look into this matter and give it careful attention."

Would Have Park to Preserve Birds and Natural Forest

For the education of the public in natural history and archeology citizens of Omaha and vicinity have incorporated the Fontenelle Forest association. They will hold a meeting January 12 to effect a permanent organization and plan to acquire land along the Missouri river bluffs in Douglas and Sarpy counties, to establish a museum of archeology and natural history and to preserve and renew the natural forest growth and native bird and animal life.

The idea was originated several years ago by Prof. Anson A. Tyler, Ph. D., dean of Bellevue college. The articles of incorporation filed in Lincoln Monday are the result of his endeavors to preserve for future generations a public forest park, where the trees, birds, historic and prehistoric remains would be preserved in their present condition of wild naturalness. The incorporators of the association are Dr. Tyler, T. R. Kimball, C. M. Willhoit, Fred J. Adams, Roy Towle, C. J. Ernst, Henry W. Yates, Alfred C. Kennedy, Howard H. Baldrick, C. C. Belden, Dr. A. F. Jonas, C. F. McGrew, Dr. Harold Gifford, C. N. Dietz, Dr. Susan R. Towne and Rev. Stephen Stookley, retiring president of Bellevue college.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

Nemo DUPLEX SELF-REDUCING CORSETS

TRIPLE-STRIP

THE 1914 NEMO CORSET

1896 SELF-REDUCING (original) WITH TAPE STRAPS 1898 WITH HOSE-SUPPORTERS 1904 WITH LASTIKOPS WEBBING 1909

SALE NOW IN PROGRESS in All the Leading Stores of the United States and Canada

NEMO CORSETS are the product of over a hundred patented inventions, covering many years of constant study. Each model represents not ONE but SEVERAL of these original inventions.

Therefore, it is ABSURD to expect to find a SUBSTITUTE for Nemo Corsets among the many IMITATIONS that have sprung up in the wake of Nemo success.

Some Nemo features are VISIBLE and can be copied closely enough in APPEARANCE to deceive an incautious buyer. Others—the Nemo "bridge," for instance—are beyond the skill of any imitator.

The New "Duplex" Self-Reducing Corsets

Called "duplex," because they render a double service—absolute control in the back, and perfect support in the front. Extending below the back steels are bands of semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing, detached from the corset-body at the lacing ends (Fig. 1). This permits the close lacing of the lower part of the bands, to make them curve in under the body (Fig. 2), without interfering with the lacing of the corset proper.

The effect is a perfect, smooth incurve (see large picture), which prevents corset-edge or bones from showing through, keeps corset from sliding up, and insures ease when you're seated. ABSOLUTELY NEW!

Improved Self-Reducing front, with its curved steels and flattening straps, gives excellent abdominal support and reduces both the abdomen and the upper limbs.

No. 327—with low bust } $3.00
No. 328—medium bust }

FINE WHITE COTTON, SIZES 20 to 30

In style, fit, durability, comfort and special features, this is the GREATEST VALUE ever crowded into a $3.00 corset.
