

By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, January 7, 1914.

SO FAR removed are we practical Omahans from romance and art, that when we find a real romance in our midst we scarcely appreciate it. We delight in seeing it on the stage, but when it is in our own circle, we close our eyes to it. We weep with little Mimi in Puccini's lovely opera, "La Boheme"; we weep with little Cynthia at the partings while watching Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton in the "Rainbow."

The artists' circle in Omaha is so small that it is scarcely known, and those who are accustomed to getting their inspirations from this artistic atmosphere, so well known in Europe and so little known here, do not remain with us long.

The little circle of artists in Omaha were much interested in Monsieur Jean Marie Gislain, noted portrait painter of Brussels, Belgium, who has been in Omaha for two years, and who lost practically all of his possessions in the tornado. Mr. Max Landow, the well known pianist of this city, posed for the last portrait Mr. Gislain painted while here; three other portraits painted by Mr. Gislain the week before his wedding were those of Mr. W. G. Colling, Mrs. Colling and the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Max Landow.

A few intimate friends were present at the wedding of Miss Rose Coffman and Mr. Gislain at St. Philomena's church at 5 o'clock this morning. Rev. D. P. Harrington officiating. The church and altar were lighted with myriads of white candles and palms lined the aisles. Mr. Landow played during the mass.

There were no attendants, and Mr. W. G. Colling and Mrs. J. M. Metcalf, as witnesses, preceded the bride and groom. The bride, who is a beautiful brunette of the Italian type, wore her traveling suit of taupe panne velvet, with bodice of chiffon, embroidered in gold, and small hat to match with shaded plume. Her corsage bouquet was of lilies of the valley and Mrs. Ward roses.

Among those attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Max Landow, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Colling, Mrs. J. M. Metcalf, Mrs. J. I. Woodard, Miss Mary Munchhoff, Miss Margaret Bruce, Miss Hilda Hammer, Mr. Carl Eddy and Mr. W. Farnam Smith.

Mr. Gislain is the son of M. Leon Gislain, the present minister from Belgium to Peru and Ecuador, and with his bride goes to New York, and will sail on the White Star line next week. Their home will be in Brussels, where he will open a studio. Mr. Gislain has painted the portraits of the grandchildren of Jefferson Davis, Joseph Pulitzer and Serrano Calveson, and a number of other prominent people both in America and abroad.

Dwyer-Flanagan Wedding.

One of the largest weddings of the season was celebrated Wednesday morning at St. John's Collegiate church, when Miss Susan Mary Flanagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flanagan, became the bride of Dr. Timothy J. Dwyer. About 3,000 invitations were issued for the ceremony.

An unusual feature was the fact that two of the bride's brothers, Rev. P. A. Flanagan, of North Omaha, and Rev. E. J. Flanagan, of South Omaha, assisted at the nuptial high mass.

Right Rev. Richard Scannell, bishop of Omaha, officiated, and twenty-two priests assisted and took part in the ceremony, probably the largest number of clergy ever assisting at a wedding in this city.

Both the bride and groom are prominent in medical circles. The groom was an honor student at Creighton Medical college and interne at St. Joseph's hospital, and since that has been one of the leading physicians and surgeons at St. Joseph's and St. Catherine's hospitals. The bride was head nurse or superintendent of nurses at St. Catherine's.

Assisting the Right Reverend Richard Scannell was the Very Reverend Father J. J. Jansette of St. Joseph's hospital chapel, acting as assistant priest. The Reverend Father T. J. Smith of St. Patrick's church and the Reverend Father J. McCarthy of St. Peter's church were the deacons of honor. The Reverend Father P. A. Flanagan of Holy Angels parish was the celebrant of the mass. Reverend Father Martin Bromberg, R. J. of St. John's church, acted as deacon, and Reverend Father E. J. Flanagan of St. Patrick's church, was sub-deacon. The masters of ceremonies were Reverend Father James Stenson of St. Philomena's church, and Reverend Father Hugh Gately of St. Peter's church.

The priests assisting in the sanctuary were: Rev. Thomas Walsh of Battle Creek, Neb.; Rev. James Buckley of Norfolk; Rev. Michael Feeney of St. Mary's church of South Omaha; Rev. Stephen Dowd of Holy Family church, Omaha; Rev. James Ronch of St. James' Orphanage chapel; Rev. Daniel Moriarty of Benson, Rev. Cornelius Collins of Sacred Heart church; Rev. William Walen, R. J. of St. John's parish; Rev. Thomas O'Driscoll of Blair; Rev. Bernard Galvin of Spaulding; Rev. Patrick Flanagan of Greeley; Rev. D. P. Harrington of St. Peter's church; Rev. William Kearns of Wayne and Rev. P. Sullivan of Elm Creek.

The bride entered with her father and was charming in her wedding gown of soft white satin made with square court train, the long tulle veil reaching to the bodice and was of tulle and lace draped with the satin. A wreath of orange blossoms held the veil in place in the train. The skirt was draped and she carried a shower of bride's roses.

Miss Della Flanagan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a dainty gown of pink charmeuse slashed in front and elaborately draped. There was a minaret tulle of tulle, and tulle and shadow lace formed the upper part of the bodice draped with the pink charmeuse. In her hair was a bird of paradise and she carried a shower of Mrs. Ward roses.

Dr. Jack Dwyer, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Milton Murphy of Park City, Utah, and Mr. Michael Flanagan, brother of the bride.

St. John's choir sang the Gregorian mass and a quartet including Mrs. Leo Hoffman, Miss Mary McGowan, Mr. John McCreary and Mr. John Jamieson sang.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party, and from 2 to 4 o'clock this afternoon there was a large reception. The rooms were bright with pink carnations and pink roses, ferns and palms. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. B. D. Murphy of O'Neill, Mrs. James Flanagan, Miss Lucy Malony of Kansas and Miss Julia Dwyer.

Dr. and Mrs. Dwyer will take an extended wedding trip to points in Texas, Louisiana and Florida, and will be at home after February 15 at the Henshaw hotel.

Mr. E. A. Mills Dinner Guest. Mr. Enos A. Mills, author and lecturer, was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bateman in Dundee last evening.

Mrs. Bateman, a few years ago, achieved the distinction of being the first woman to climb Long's peak alone, and without a guide, Mr. Mills' famous dog, "Scotch," being her sole companion.

Whist Club. The Mattie Whist club will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. F. W. Greenman as hostess.

The Pantorium can do quick work as well as any cleaner in Omaha, but we do not advise doing it unless it is absolutely necessary.

No first class workman likes to rush a job through, but when necessary he can do it and do better work than the half trained man.

During these days, when there is a great deal of entertaining we will get work out in one day for those who let us have it by 9 a. m.

If the job we give you is not up to Pantorium standard send it back when you can give us more time and we will clean it over free. Douglas 985 brings an auto.

Thursday's Ultra Radical Cuts at Kilpatrick's

After the busy whirl of December we always like to know where we are at. We invoice our stocks on February the first of each year, and take the month of January to close out surplus and unseasonable merchandise. We never fool ourselves, WHAT DOES NOT GO OUT AT ONE PRICE—MUST GO AT SOME PRICE, and this is why we put off invoicing so as to give every department abundant opportunity to transfer their overplus into the cash drawer, for we confess when invoicing we prefer counting cash to counting the merchandise. This, then, will account for the ultra reductions Thursday.

Note, please, the goods advertised herein are not old, but of late style and recent purchase. Worth knowing that when you are thinking of making comparison. By the way, mentioning OLD, reminds us that recently one of the papers referred in one of our ads to our Century of Experience. We admit that we are no longer young and that many winters and summers have passed over our heads in the Dry Goods Business, but not quite a century—should have been about half a century. What pranks the "devil"—(we believe that's the printers' term)—plays with copy sometimes. We were too busy to catch the error and our friends who congratulated us on our youthful appearance had lots of fun at our expense.

Each day during this sale—Very special items displayed on Silk Counter at prices to close them out before inventory. Watch for Saturday sale on silks.

Many of the best lines in Dress Goods are going very rapidly. Soon we'll be down to remnants—AND THEN WATCH OUT.

Thursday will be special—VERY SPECIAL—prices on cloths and napkins. New records have surely been made in this great linen sale. It is worth your while to mix with the crowds and see the genuine confidence and satisfaction shown by them.
