TELLS OF THE PANAMA EXPO

Builder of Yellowstone Park Exhibit of Union Pacific Talks.

SAYS WORK IS MARVELOUS

Wonderful Transformation Has Been Wrought in Short Space of Time—Hotels Are Not to Raise Rates.

All of the general agents of the Union Pacific system met last week in Chicago. This meeting was presided over by B. L. Winchell, director of traffic. This year's meeting was one of the largest attended and most successful gatherings the representatives ever had. Especially for this occasion Mr. Kathrens, who is building the Yellowstone park exhibit for the Union Pacific system at the Panama-Pacific exposition, was invited to come. Chicago and tell the general agents of the progress of the exposition in general and of the Yellowstone park exhibit of the Union Pacific in particular. With reference to the actual conditions of the exposition up to the date of his departure from San Francisco, Mr. Kathrens said:

As to its physical progress, it is difficult for one who has not seen the site with his own eyes to realize the extraordinary amount of work that has been done. It is easy to say that a tract of land a little more than two miles long and half a mile wide had been, within a space of nine months, transformed from marsh and open water to the beginning of a wonderfully beautiful site that merges the impression that a glance at the land would give. In that short space of time about one square mile of land has been reclaimed from a condition little better than a marsh, leveled, drained and sewered, with water pipes, fire service pipes, gas and water conduits installed, roads laid out and partially built, vast spaces planted to lawns which are now general and green and much progress made in setting out forests of trees and thousands upon thousands of plants.

In addition to this building, which only started five months ago, has now progressed so far that the general outlines and vast sizes of the exhibit palaces are plain to see, one building—the Machinery Palace, the largest building ever constructed of wood—has been completed and three others are approaching completion. It is impossible for me to give you any idea of the gigantic scale upon which these buildings are being constructed. One is deeply impressed, almost to the point of awe, by their size, even in their present condition.

All building work is being carried on on a carefully prepared schedule which calls for the completion of all the exhibit palaces on July 1, 1914. I am informed that this schedule has been a little better than kept, the entire work being between 5 per cent and 8 per cent ahead of the fixed dates. There is no reason whatever to doubt the statements made to me by the officials in charge of these exhibit palaces will be finished and ready for the installation of exhibits even before July 1, about the same time the landscape gardening will be finished, as will also the work upon the mile track, which is a feature of the live stock department.

I have been given certain facts which seem significant to me and which I will repeat as they were told.

A comparison is made with the work of getting the St. Louis exposition ready. At a corresponding time in the preparations for that exposition—that is, about one year before the gates opened—the St. Louis exposition had received applications for a little less than 5 per cent of their available exhibit space. Every square foot of available space at the Panama-Pacific International exposition was, in December 1, 1913, 100 per cent applied for. One year before the St. Louis exposition opened its management had received but one application for the sixty-three acres of the Panama-Pacific site devoted to amusements and concessions. One year before the St. Louis exposition opened it had received assurances of participation from but twelve American states and from one foreign nation. At this time the Panama-Pacific International exposition has received assurances of participation from thirty-five American states and from thirty-two foreign nations.

The estimates of the amount of money which will be required inside the exposition grounds on the date that the gates open range within narrow limits, the lowest being $7,000,000 and the highest $30,000,000. This covers the cost of putting up the exhibit palaces and the work on the grounds—about $12,000,000. The investment of the concessionaires, between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000, the cost of erecting some sixty-five state and national pavilions and the cost of producing and installing exhibits.

A main feature which I should not omit to mention is that within the last two weeks the exposition management has come to a satisfactory understanding with the San Francisco hotels, an overwhelming majority of which have united in an agreement not to increase their rates for 1914 and will clinch this agreement by issuing through the exposition bureau of information a hotel rate schedule. This schedule will be printed within the next few weeks and will contain the rates that will be charged in 1914 by about 80 per cent of the hotels in the city.
