CLUB WOMEN ENTER PROTEST

Say Civic Conditions Are Deploable and Some Action is Needed.
PRESENT TWO LITTLE PLAYS
Players Locked in Room Cause Brief Pause When They Discover the Fact that the Key to Dressing Room is Gone.

An urgent protest against civic and social conditions in Omaha was voiced by the Omaha Woman's club yesterday afternoon. The meeting, one of the largest held, unanimously approved the following statement:
'In view of the terrible state of our social life as revealed in the terrible murder of one of the young men of our city in a vile resort last Thursday, of which our police department says it has no knowledge, or if that means no desire to know of it, we, the Omaha Woman's club, ask our city officials to take some action at once which will remedy these social vices and make Omaha a safe place in which to live and rear our families; and also we, as citizens of Omaha, protest against the incompetence or ignorance of some of our city officials. Further, that we, the members of this club, pledge our hearty support to any plan for the bettering of our city life which they may adopt.

Chicago Will Copy After Omaha Low Living Cost Show

Officers of the Omaha Retail Grocers' association are considerably exercised over the action of the Chicago retail grocers in announcing that they will put on a "Low-Cost-of-Living" show, but they do not give credit to the Omaha grocers for making the initiative move along these lines. They are going to have exhibits and demonstrations in Chicago and an active campaign, declaring that the people should be taught to reduce prices through saving and wastage, the proper preparation of foods, etc., and not blame the retail grocer all the time for the "high cost of living." The American Society for Thrift has sent to President Wise of the Omaha Retail Grocers' association a bulletin and a letter, setting forth that there are great opportunities in this "Low Cost of Living" movement. Omaha's Low Cost of Living show, from April 15 to 25, has furnished the better known as the Hearst papers, with an idea that the show is of very great importance to the public, and especially the women of this country just now. Secretary Hansen has received word from the service that it will run some advance matter, if it is available, in regard to the "Low Cost of Living" exposition to be held in Omaha. So advance copies of the important speeches on reports to be delivered at the exposition will be sent out, subject to release. The entire exposition has assumed, in this way, a national scope and as many of the exhibitors come from all over the United States, the Omaha retail grocers quite naturally feel elated over the outcome of their first attempt along these lines. Space is selling very rapidly for the exposition and the demand locally may soon exceed the supply.

HASTINGS BANKER HERE STUDYING INCOME TAX LAW

The banker is called on every day by his customers to explain various financial matters, and that is why I am down here trying to find out the correct method of filling out the income tax law," declared J. P. A. Black of the German National bank at Hastings. Mr. Black said that he had been besieged with requests from his customers for information on the income tax law, and being unable to solve the mysteries of the act, decided to make a trip to Omaha for the express purpose of gaining the desired information. He spent nearly the entire forenoon in the office of Ross L. Hammond, collector of internal revenue for the district of Nebraska, studying the blanks and the laws governing the administration of the income tax.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER SHOPLIFTERS ARRESTED

Through the keen observation of Thomas Flynn, manager of the cloak and suit department of Hayden Bros., two shoplifters were arrested. At police headquarters they gave their names as Mrs. E. and Elsie Brown, Missouri Valley, Ia., and say they are mother and daughter. Each has a large grip and after taking several valuable goods at the Brandeis store, they went to the Hayden Bros. store, where they were "pocketing" several more, when Mr. Flynn saw them and notified the police. They were arrested and locked up.
