OMAHA MILK IS MOST PURE

Statistics Show Death Rate of Infants Lowest in Omaha.

GOOD MILK IS THE REASON

Health Commissioner Secures Data from Many Cities and These Give the Best Rating to Omaha.

Of fourteen of the largest cities in the United States Omaha's infant death rate is lowest, according to Health Commissioner R. W. Connell and Dairy In-Claude F. Bossie, who have secured statistics from all over the country

"The fight to decrease the infant death rate has been urged chiefly in the name of pure milk," said Dr. Connell, "and the results secured by Omaha justify the belief that impure milk is largely the cause of the large number of deaths of babies under 1 year of age."

Following is a list of the cities from which statistics have been secured, the figures showing the number of deaths per 100 of infants under 1 year of age:

1912. City. 9.8 10.2 10.9 11.6 12.0 12.0 12.9 13.0 14.0 New Orleans.....

Inspector Bossle have been co-operating in a campaign to still further reduce infant mortality here. Inspector Bossie

"It has been proven that impure milk is the chief cause of the death of bables. Knowing this we are seeking to secure the purest milk possible and we are succeeding. The death rate, I believe, will be still further reduced in 1914."

The Milwaukee record, Dr. Connell said, was undoubtedly caused by germladen milk. In that city is was necessary to employ trained nurses to care for the large number of stricken babies and to safeguard those who still retained

Mother and Wayward Daughter United at the Local Postoffice

For more than three hours a neatly dressed woman who had reached middle age sat in a chair in the lobby of the postoffice with her gaze riveted on the general delivery window.

It was shortly before noon when a tall bruncite girl dressed in a long brown coat and wearing a heavy tan veil approached the window. The woman who had been seated rose with a little cry of joy and rushing across the lobby embraced the girl.

It was the old story-the reunion of the mother and her wayward daughter. More than a year ago the girl, having quit the high school before the completion of the course, became almost incorrigible at home. The family moved to Minneapolis and here the girl continued to go her own way. She left last June, and though her mother has heard from of mother and daughter since that time. The girl aspired to become an actress The parents insisted that she complete education. Then the girl ran away. But seeking a career on the stage wasn't such an easy task, after all. She visited for a time with relatives at Grand Island, her mother said, and then came to Omaha. Her funds exhausted, the girl wrote to her mother for money. The mother instead of sending her money came to Omaha and watched for the girl to call at the general delivery for her mail. They declined to give their names.

Tancock Condemns City Jail as Place Unfit for Any Good

Following an inspection of the city jail, in which prisoners are sent to serve short sentences for petty crimes, Dean Tancock of Trinity cathedral condemned the conditions which existed there and declared that the surroundings were such as to inspire the worst in men rather than to return the prisoner to the world with an inspiration for right living.

"When I called at the jail, it seemed that not a vestige of preparation had been made for the care of the men," sa'd Dean Tancock. "They had no beds and were compelled to lie on the stone floor. There were no tollet conveniences, no chance for them to wash their hands and faces. The atmosphere of the whole thing was disgusting. When I called Mayor Dahlman's attention to the situation, he ordered the release of some thirty or forty men. It seems that a feud exists between the police judge and the prosecuting attorney, the county attorney, as preparation has been made there for the crippled as a result of the accident. care of the prisoners. When the police serving a centence in jail."

County Treasurers

The subject of taxation is to receive considerable attention in the discussion of the county treasurers of the state in their fourth annual convention, which is to be held in Omaha February 10, 11 and 12. A number of the papers and discuswions schoduled have to do with the subject of taxation, its aim, the collection of county secretary, and O. C. Myers of ments of local attorneys. Nuckells county treasurer.
