School Board May Buy Vacant Lots for Playgrounds

Whether the Board of Education shall begin an active campaign to acquire sufficient vacant land to provide all youngsters with playgrounds is being discussed by the buildings and grounds committee, which will probably recommend to the board that several lots offered for sale be purchased and improved at once.

The school yards, while being used to good advantage for playgrounds, are not large enough and some of the schools have no land adjacent on which pupils may play.

Gradually the school board has been acquiring a few lots near the schools, the majority for playgrounds and a few as future building sites.

Some of the board members believe several thousand dollars could be profitably spent for playgrounds, not only for school children, but for all children, young men and old, who enjoy outdoor recreation.

HUTCHINSON TALKS OF MEN

Says Bulk of Great Men Come from Common People.

DOCTORS ARE NOW TALKING

Speaker Says Falling in Love is One of Leading Reasons for Feeble Getting Married—Millennium is Near.

"The bulk of our great men still spring from the common people and not from any branch of codfish aristocracy at the top," was Dr. Woods Hutchinson's summing up of his opinions on the eugenic marriage movement, when he discussed the "Manufacturer of Men" before the mercantile club at noon yesterday.

"Yes, the eugenic movement is a very simple matter, since it involved nothing more difficult than the selection of one's ancestors. But the young people somehow do not take to the eugenic idea. It seems to take all the romance and glamour off matchmaking, and after all, we can find no better reason for getting married than falling in love.

"Besides, since the bulk of the great men come from the ranks of the common people anyway, we can find no better way than to just let marriage take care of themselves and then skim the intelligent and capable off the surface as they arrive.

Give the Child a Chance.

"Far more important than looking after eugenic marriages seems to me to be the matter of seeing that every child born into the world will have a fair and square white man's chance to get his share in the world before anybody's child is allowed to have too much.

"The first thing to do then is to look after health and sanitary conditions so as to save the able children born into the world. See that they are allowed to survive instead of being crushed out by poor food and poor sanitary conditions. We have learned that the body is an engine and that the effective running of that engine depends on feeding the furnace. The three meals a day are nothing but the three convenient coaling stations where the body may take on its supply to continue with its burden.

Plenty of Fresh Air.

"Another important factor is fresh air. Throw up the windows so we may have some of it here."

Several of the audience sprang to the windows and raised them.

"Of course," he continued, "it is a little embarrassing when I speak in churches, for I can't ask to have the windows raised there. The churches were built for the next world and not for this."

"It has been found that the working power of the so-called inferior races can be raised to equal that of the American laborer by good feeding."

Better Here Than in Europe.

Dr. Hutchinson said he found better sanitary conditions throughout the west than he did in Europe, because here the sanitation is a matter that is controlled and handled by the people themselves instead of being controlled by laws handed down by a superior governing class of people, as is the case in European countries.

The speaker was optimistic for the future health of the country, because, he said, the doctors are beginning to tell what they know. "Up to twenty-five years ago," he said, "I don't mind saying that the reasons the doctors worked so silently and mysteriously was that they didn't know very much that was worth telling in public. Doctors have now begun to preach and preachers have begun to practice, and the millennium is very near," he said facetiously.

PASSENGER TRAINS ON TIME

Those from West Again on Schedule After the Severe Washouts.

ONE HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Burlington Train Passes Short Time Before Reservoir Bursts and Washes Out Long Stretch of the Roadbed.

Passenger trains from the west are again back on schedule, with indications that they will continue, the flood conditions having disappeared and the streams gotten back within their banks.

At Union Pacific headquarters the report is given out that the torrential rains through California, causing numerous washouts on the Southern Pacific have ceased and that repairs to the roadbed have been made. During the rains of the last week, when the precipitation amounted from fifteen to eighteen inches, the mountain streams rose with wonderful rapidity and long stretches of track were washed out. Many of the valleys were flooded and for a couple of days' travel was at a standstill.

The Burlington had a narrow escape from what might have been a bad wreck at Hudson, Colo., thirty miles east of Denver Thursday afternoon. Just above Hudson there is an immense irrigation reservoir. In some manner the front wall became weakened and suddenly gave way, letting the water out and flooding the valley for a mile or more below to a depth of from ten to twenty feet. Half an hour before the break came a Burlington passenger train passed along the track in front of the reservoir.

The water from the break in the reservoir washed out some 300 feet of Burlington roadbed and track, carrying the rails down the valley nearly a mile. A large number of men were rushed out from Denver and as soon as the flood subsided, repairs were made and a temporary track laid, but this caused a delay of several hours.

General Passenger Agent Wakeley is considerably annoyed over the delay in the Omaha-Denver trains caused by the bursting of the Hudson reservoir. These trains were all making a record and up to Thursday every one of them had reached both Omaha and Denver on time every day during the present month. This break threw them all off and broke what had promised to be a perfect record.

VAL J. PETER SEEKING TO BRING GERMAN SHOW HERE

Negotiations are in progress between Val J. Peter, president of the local German-American alliance, and Hans Loedel, manager of the Victoria theater at St. Louis, to have performances in Omaha by the German stock company of the Missouri matropolis. If arrangements can be made with the German element of Kansas City, Joplin and St. Joseph there is every likelihood that Omaha will have regular performances at monthly intervals by the St. Louis company.
