OMAHA, Feb. 9, 1914.

There is no doubt in the minds of many grain men throughout the country that the bulls in wheat will claim deterioration to the crop as soon as growing weather puts in an appearance. The losses to wheat will receive a great deal of attention when the time arrives for the springing of this kind of news, as the trade on the whole will be enabled to turn to the abnormally low temperatures of recent time, and this will give them a leeway for covering short lines or taking on long wheat. The state of Kansas is generally the point of attack during the spring months, and it will be safe to predict there will be a great deal of talk of the crop having suffered there on account of winter killing.

The losses in Argentins will be reflected in the other wheat markets of the world before the spring months roll around. The exportable surplus has been reduced on several occasions of late, but the largest reduction was sent to the specified in the other wheat markets of the world before the spring months roll around. The exportable surplus has been reduced on several occasions of late, but the largest reduction was sent to the Armour Grain company via Antwerp and which arrived here asturday. This cable-gram said that Argentina will not have to exceed 40,000,000 bushels of wheat to sell to the outside world, which is compared with a earlier estimate of as high as 90,000,000 bushels. Now that Japan has entered the wheat markets of the world as a buyer and has purchased goodly amounts of Australia, the European continental market doubliess yill feel the effects of this new buying power of the far east. World's shipments for Monday next will be 11,510,000 bushels, while for the corresponding week shows 14,800,000. It is said there will be a fair increase in the amount of breadstuffs affoat on occans destined to the importing countries. Decreases are looked for in the visble supplies of both the United States and Canada. The English visible supply decreased 1,476,000 bushels last week, compared with a decrease of 412,000 bushels for a like period last year.

Cash wheat was ½c higher.

The corn market is in the balance. While the farmers on the wiole are not inclined to part with their grain around the present price level, there is no demand to speak of for the cash article and this fully offsets the lack of offerings from the country. The open interest in corn has occa greatly reduced of late, with the big people either out of their holdings or pretty well covered on the recent price setbacks. The weather is the best that the country has enjoyed this winter for the curing of corn, as well as for the shelling of grain and the movement to the market. Crop advices from Argentina could hardly be more lavorable than of late, and to clinch the crop down there they have had rains during the last few days and the exportable surplus has beer increased. Those who are watching the corn market closely advance the oning the last few days and the exportabl

The same fire loss was largely responsible, too, for the unsupples of the metal having decreased in the visible supply total. STOCKERS AND FEEDERS

HOGS-Supplies were very fair for a Monday, about III cars, or 1,800 head being received. This is something like 1,700 larger than last week, and about 800 heavier than the corresponding day a heavier than the corresponding day a year ago.

The market opened very slow this morning, and it was rather late before much of anything was done. Early offers were quoted as better to steady, and weaker in many cases, but when first sales were finally made good butcher and heavy-weight hogs were fully steady, and some lights sold about the same way. There was not much demand for the underweight kinds, however, and aside from the few sales made early at steady prices, they were very hard to move. The majority of the buyers refused to even bid on them, and such bids as were made showed sharp reductions, as compared with the prices at the close of last week. NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—DRY GOODS—Foreign dress goods sold well today, Raw silk was firmer and silk piece goods and ribbon were active. Cotton goods were quiet and steady. Flynn, who told the city commission that not all of those having permits complied with the law requiring druggists to file lists of names to whom liquors had been sold with the city clerk.

City commissioners, at the instance of Police Commissioner A. C. Kugel, recommended for passage an ordinance providing for more stringent regulation of the liquor trade by druggists. This ordinance provides that a list of names to whom iquor is sold and the addresses of the orchasers must be filed monthly with the city clerk.

The ordinance was drafted by City Attorney John A. Rine, who read it to the council.

In addition to the passage of the ordinance the council will probably order an napection of the drug stores having no permits and prosecutions will follow if iquor is found in these stores, the preumption being that it is kept for sale. Police Commissioner Kugel will conduct the investigation stores and especially at cigar stands in hotel lobbles, where a large revenue is secured from the dice games. "How long are you going to keep this up?" an irate salesman asked the chief. "For keeps," the chief replied.
