GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Washburn Satisfied with Outlook of the Wheat Market.

SEE-SAW BACK AND FORTH

Go from Pillar to Post on Buying and Selling.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 28, 1914.

John Washburn, the head of Washburn-Crusby Milling company, one of the largest concerns in the world, was on the board of trade yesterday. He was unusually guarded in his conversation relative to breadstuffs, but when asked as to whether the millers of the spring wheat country were uneasy as to future supplies of wheat, he said that in his opinion there will be enough wheat to so around plies of wheat, he said that in his opinion there will be enough wheat to go around and that so far as his firm is concerned there is no uneasiness whatever as to ample wheat to carry them through until another crop is available.

Mr. Washburn referred to the country elevators stocks of the three spring wheat states as being at least 15,000,000 bushels, and he also spoke of excellent crop prospects in the winter wheat belt, and of the probability that owners of hard wheat throughout the southwest will be anxious to dispose of their surplus in case there is no pronounced crop deterioration.

be anxious to dispose of their surplus in case there is no pronounced crop deterioration.

In referring to the flour business Mr. Washburn reported trade was good, not only on domestic but on expert account. The wheat market was a see-saw affair resterday, weak and lower early, only to advance before the close. The market presented an oversold condition and when this was discovered the large longs in the May future entered the pit and bid for that month and the rank and flie of professionals trailed on. Resting spots for the day showed net losses of 150%c, although closings were 360% from the bottom levels reached. Larger receipts in the northwestern markets attracted a great deal of attention from both the bulls and the bears. The bulls at Minneapolis said that the receipts of 66 cars at the two northwestern markets yesterday was the result of old sales and that the wheat is now coming forward.

Corn displayed more or less strength and closed at the best prices after ranging within %c. The deferred menths were unchanged, while the May was the smallest fraction higher. The country is selling corn more freely and those who favor the bear side believe that the receipts will increase.

Oats were dull and the range of prices rarrow, changes following the course of corn. There was little business in cash, sales amounting to 135,600 bushels.

Had it not been for a number of resting orders on the buying side in the provision market yesterday the losses would have been greater. There was good selling of ribs and lard, which was credited a western packer, and there was some inquidation by scattered holders.

Cash wheat was ½c higher.

Cash oats were ½c higher.

Prices, after showing an upward bent, closed weak at a loss of %6% to but to like higher, oats unchanged to 1-ise off. In provisions the outcome was lee to 17% 60% decline. Hope of foreign buying dwindled rapidly among wheat traders in the last hour of the session. Word came of a little export business at Omaha and Kansas City for shipment by way of the gulf, but the total appeared insignificant. Meanwhile the domestic milling call was moderate. As a result some of the larger longs turned to the selling side. Week-end liquidating on the part of lees important holders made the depression at the end of the day more complete.

Corn averaged higher, investors as well as shorts buying to an encouraging extent the greater part of the time, Hoads in the country were said to be breaking up and the stocks in rural elevators unusually small. Pit speculators inclined to the bear side of oats. Big stocks on hand furnished the reason.

Commission houses unloaded provisions, especially lard. The warehouse statement Monday was expected to be disconcerting to holders and there had also been a decided break in hog prices at the yards.

ptura Largely at Expense of Are Stendy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The level of quotations was litted another notch today. It was a slow process among the principal stocks, whose gains were limited to fractions and there was a slight reaction just before the close. Some of the specialities, however, advanced from one to five points.

The upturn was largely at the expense of the shorts. In steel it was evident that selling had been over extended. Cersation of foreign liquidation and lessening of the tension over the Mexican situation encouraged buying. But traders on the long side were cautious. Possibility of fresh frouble in Mexico over the week end the freight rates situation, the New Haven tangle, the Rock Island readjustment and the business outlook, tended to enforce a conservative policy. The trade reviews confirmed recent indications that the revival in business was less general and rapid than hoped. consequence in the yards this morning, but for the week receipts have been liberal, although talling considerably behind last week and a year ago.

Boef steers, owing to the moderate receipts at the beginning of the week, showed a decided improvement, at one time being 156,25c higher than the close of the previous week. Laster on as receipts became more liberal, the advance was all lost, the market closing about steady with last week.

Cows and heifers also advanced during the first half of the week in the same proportion as beef steers, but later on lost it, closing steady with last week.

Stockers and feeders also improved early in the week, and as receipts proved to be very moderate, with a good buying demand, the advance was retained, so that at the close of the week they are 100755c higher than last week's close.

HOGS—Supplies were fair for a Saturday, something like 191 cars, or 7,300 head, being received. For the week the total is [6,196, being oyer 11,000 head smaller than last week, but over 1,000 more than were kere during the same days last year. were pere during the same days last year.

Advices from other markets were very discouraging this morning and conse quentity the local trade opened very duit, with early bids being made at prices that were in most cases 10005c lower. Sellers were not inclined to agree to such a sharp decline, but buyers refused to better their early offers to any great extent, and after doing nothing for the best part of two hours salesmen finally began to cut loose slowly at prices that were a flat dime lower. As is usual on a sharply lower market movement was very slow at all times, and it was late in the forenoon before anything like a clearance was made.

For the week values are very uneven, but the general market is just about a steady. Lights have been in good demand on most days and dedicated. in the forenoon before anything like a clearance was made.

For the week values are very uneven, but the general market is just about steady. Lights have been in good demand on most days, and today's prices for the better grades of light stuff look to be a little stronger than a week ago. Best heavies are, however, if anything, a shade lower than at the close of last week, and the top is a fitat nickel down. As a result of this upward movement of lights and shading of prices paid for heavies the range has narrowed down a good deal, and the spread of the bulk is smaller than has been the case for some time. The week's receipts have seen moderate, and with the exception of the first week of this month are smaller than any other time since the holiday season. SHEEP—There was nothing new to report on the sheep market this morning, as no fresh receipts arrived, which is usually the case on Saturday.

The week just past has been marked by very large receipts of sheep and lambs and in spite of this prices generally have worked a little higher. The receipts here amounted to some 70,663 head, against 59,414 last week, 54,000 two weeks ago and 49,331 a year ago. Chicago also has been liberally supplied, while the other western markets have had moderate receipts. The advance in the loca trade took place in the fore part of the week, but toward the close the packers' supply of killers swelled up to such large proportions that on Thursday and Friday part of the advance was lost, leaving lambs steady to logice higher and aged sheep logific better than the close of the previous week. Taking the week as a whole it has been a fairly satisfactory market and judging from the was trade though, traders regard the immediate future of prices as very uncertain because of the beginning of the Lenten season.

The good demand has been attributed to the strong eastern shipping demand, indicating a healthy trade in dressed mutton. Another bullish factor has been the fact that while Omaha and Chicago have been liberally supplied the total receipts on the western market circuit have been little better than normal for this time of the year. little better than normal for this time of the year.

It is reported that on account of the tax assessment on March 1 and the advance in prices early in the week Colorado feeders have been encouraged to ship for next week's markets.
