Movement of Corn at Primary Points Likely to Be Hindered.

Pit Crodwed with Those Auxious to Dispose of Their Market Possions....Business is Mainly by Professionals.

OMAHA, March 2, 1914.

The corn country reports the roads are breaking up and this means that the movement of that grain will show a falling off. With the drying out of the soil in the fields spring farm work will be inaugurated and these combinations will mean that little attention will be given to the hauling of corn or any other kind of grain to the country stations until the early plowing and seeding has been finished. Those who are on the bull side of the corn market at present are basing their claims for an advance in values on the foregoing conditions. The traders in corn, however, are not all builts by any means. Those favoring the bull side are accumulating lines on the declines on the belief that with any further falling off in receipts the buying power will become better and absorb the cash stuff as fast as received. OMAHA, March 2, 1914.

better and absorb the cash stuff as fast as received.
On the other hand the bears point to the lack of demand for the cash article. This, of course, is their principal help, as without business in cash grain the futures cannot possibly be held or advanced. The east continues to harp upon the fact that there are small stocks in that section of the country, but there is no necessity of supplies being held there when an export demand is impossible in the face of cheaper Argentine offerings, which are supplying all foreign demand, bealers in corn in the cast are waiting which are supplying all foreign demand. Dealers in corn in the cast are waiting patiently for eastern orders so they can get rid of a part of their surplus, but these castern orders seem to be few and far between. It is said that the few lots of corn to change hands during the last fortnight have been at prices quite satisfactory to the buyers.

Holders of wheat are becoming tired. This was show Saturday when longs were anxious to dispose of their lines and some of them sold out at losses. The buying was mostly by concerns with profits. There was no trade on outside account to speak of, business being mainly between professionals. Ideal crop prospects in the winter wheat belt has caused many farmers and other country holders to loosen their grip on cash wheat. There is an export business doing right along, with the trade, including Manitobas and hard winter wheat. A great deal of this wheat is being sold without reporting the same and the volume is considered smaller than it really is in consequence. One of the larger exporters of grain in the spring wheat country and who was here Saturday, said that with the present crop outlook in the southwest foreigners will take hold only in a moderate way. It is expected that the receipts of oats will show a further falling off with the commencement of spring farm work, and this may help values. The range of prices in this grain, however, will doubtless follow corn.

Packers are on both sides, but those who Packers are on both sides, but those who are long on ribs and lard, as well as pork, are anxious to get out of their holdings because of the freer run of hogs than was expected. The cash trade in meats and lard continued dull Saturday, and it will take some improvement in the trade in order to encourage a renewal of buying.

CHRAGO, March 2—Incipient crop damage had a railying effect today on wheat especially the July delievery. As a result, the market closed steady at prices ranging from \(\frac{1}{2} \) coff to \(\frac{1}{2} \) compared with Saturday night. been that India would have little or no wheat for export.

Corn showed undeniable strength, prices, except at the outset, gaining even when wheat was on the decline. Country deliveries were said to be virtually nothing. The leading bull interest was conspicuous in the buying. Trade in oats was light, but values hardened in sympathy with corn. Texas damage reports offset Oklahoma assertions of increased acreage. In the provision crowd, packers were good buyers, but on the ensuing bulge there was considerable seling pressure of a speculative sort. In the end the market ruled easy.

As a general thing trade opened out slow, although shippers and speculators bought some butcher stuff early in the day that looked to be about steady. One packer was out early with an order for real light stuff, and such piss as were here sold readily at prices that were fully steady, and in many cases higher than at the close of last week.

Packers started out bidding at figures that were quoted as a dime lower, and as salesmen were holding their owwerings at steady prices very little was done until a late hour in the forenoon. After dickering until well along towards il o'clock both buyers and sellers finally made some concessions and when the supply finally started to move prices were uttever and generally 5c lower. In other words, some hags that sold early in the morning looked steady to a nickel off, while others were quoted as being 5@10c lower, but the general trade can be quoted as 5c lower. Movement continued to be very slow till the finish and it was late before the supply was finally cleaned up.

SHEEP—The week started out with a fairly large run of sheep and lambs, as about 14,000 head were reported in, compared with 12,179 head a week ago, 15,000 head two weeks ago and 19,425 head on the corresponding day a year ago. from the exchange and customers from the exchange and customers from the commission houses. Delay in the mails and interruption of telegraphic communication of brokerage houses reduced outside business to a minimum. The volume of the trading was the smallest of the year.

The market sagged, but the decline was due less to pressure than to listlessness. London sent over a lower range of prices and then cabled selling orders of about 15,000 shares. This was about the only positive influence on the home market and was mainly responsible for the day's movement. The decline was of small proportions, only a handful of the standard shares falling a point or more. Traders favored the short side, believing that the technical position had been weakened by the driving in of the shorts hast week. The unfavorable bank statement of Saturday and additional railroad reports for January showing large decreases in carnings, also affected the list alversely. New York Central's January net fell off $1.65,000, Reports of growing duliness in the copper market found corroboration so far as expected the foreign situation in the increase in supplies shown in the fortnightly huropean statistics.
