BY MELLIFICIA. FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1914.

WITH the approach of the balmy breezes of spring the men's outfitters and haberdashers have ordered their spring supply of men's apparel, and a glance which I took at the new stock was an incentive for tears. If the normal person could get one full glimpse at the spring fads it would be impossible to refrain from weeping copiously, no matter how hardened one's constitution might be.

The new dance craze has started so many new fads until now it includes all up-to-date men's clothes. The latest thing is the tango vest. Mr. Tango Vest is about four or five inches high in front and exposes a vast portion of the manly chest. It is fashioned by the French couturiers and is called the "wajstcoatee," a very appropriate name.

Next comes the one-step cravat. It is indescribable, but it looks just as appropriate as a frock coat over a pair of jumpers. Then, the new checked trousers, to be worn with a black satin coat. The effect is striking, very much so.

And, above all, everything shall be polka dotted. The ties are polka dots, socks are polka dots to match the ties, shirts are polka-dotted and collars are even polka-dotted. No hats with polka dots have been found, but they might just as well be; the effect would be no more striking. Gloves also contain the polka dots.

While no outburst has been noticed as yet, it is expected that the medical profession will soon rise up and protest against the invading styles. According to expert advice, the superabundance of polka dots will have a tendency to be offensive to the optic nerves, and, therefore, jeopardize the eyesight of one walking down Farnam street.

The polka dots will also extend to ladies' wear. All smartly dressed young women will be completely equipped with a set of polka dots—skirts, blouses, vests and polka-dot hosiery.

One store in Omaha has received a shipment of the advanced spring styles, and, while the owner admits that the stock is a bit extreme at present, he insists it will be the rage before the summer reaches a conclusion.

COL. CODY VISITS IN OMAHA

Famous Scout Stops Over to See His Little Grandchildren.

STAGING BIG INDIAN FIGHTS

Battles of Many Years Ago Are Re-produced So That Moving Pictures Can Be Taken of the Encounters.

When Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) is out of his buckskin shirt, his fringed chaps and clear of his cartridge belt and scalping knife, he makes a real gentle and lovable grandfather. Several little tots can testify to this. Friday morning he sat in the lobby of the Henshaw hotel, just after arriving from the east, and played with little Jane Cody Garlow and Master Frederick Garlow, as proud as a grandfather ever gets. With their little coats buttoned tightly about them and caps pulled down, the little tots climbed over his big knees and had kisses for him. In return he had a big strong arm to hold each of them, and the group was extremely happy.

When Colonel Cody was riding in the big wild west show, these grandchildren did not get to see him so often, and even now it is a rare treat to meet Grandpa Cody. So their mother, Mrs. Fred Garlow, formerly Miss Irma Cody, who is now living in Omaha, bundled up the little folks and hurried to the Henshaw with them to meet their grandpa.

On Way to Denver. Colonel Cody is on his way to Denver from Washington, D. C., where he has been staging the first of the moving pictures of the big Indian battles of a quarter to a half century ago. He goes to Denver, where the pictures are to open for a run at the Tabor Grand theater Sunday. Colonel Cody says he will open a run with the pictures at the American theater in Omaha a week from Sunday. The pictures cover famous Indian fights throughout the west, including the famous Battle of Wounded Knee in the southern edge of the Black Hills country twenty-three years ago. They also cover the history of the civilization of the Indian from the wildest savagery to the present educating of the Indians in the schools and colleges.

Fred Garlow, son-in-law of Colonel Cody, is in Chicago and is to arrive in Omaha this morning to complete arrangements for the production here. Mr. and Mrs. Garlow and children are living at the Merriam.

Governor and His Staff to Inspect the Militia on Monday

Governor Morehead has ordered all the members of his staff to appear in Omaha next Monday night in full dress uniform to view the inspection of the local companies of the national guard of Nebraska by the officers representing the War department of the United States. The government inspection will be held at the Auditorium.

All of the local officers and the men have been working diligently to prepare for the inspection and if nothing goes amiss Omaha will go down in the records as possessing one of the finest battalions of national guard in the country.

Admission to the inspection will be by ticket only. Members of the companies have the tickets and they may be secured without cost as long as they last.

It is expected that the 5,000 tickets printed will not be sufficient to accommodate all the demand.

Reward Money for Lane Cut-Off Holdup is Now Distributed

The $5,000 reward offered by the Union Pacific for the capture of the bandits who robbed their train on the cut-off in 1909 was distributed this week, the South Omaha police having withdrawn their appeal in the case. Among the items for which checks were issued against the reward fund by R. C. Hoyt, clerk of the United States district court here, was one for $471, payable to E. T. Farnsworth for attorney's fees and fees as guardian for the six minor boys of South Omaha, who participated in the capture of the bandits. $10,423.15 is to be divided among the boys, which will give each of them $1,737 each. P. J. Carr and Coleman Bell received a check for $3,000. The sum of $2,511.15 was paid the South Omaha police, and Willie E. May, who is now in Idaho, received $5,000 of the reward.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANY PUTS MANY MEN TO WORK

The Omaha Street Railway company, in order to give employment to men who are needy and willing to work, has commenced track repairs and improvements much earlier than has been the rule in the past. More than 100 men are now at work lining up the tracks, putting in new ties and doing the class of work that usually comes later in the season.

RUSH GOES TO FLORIDA TO ARGUE THE LAND CASE

Sylvester Rush, special assistant to the United States attorney general, left on Wednesday evening for Jacksonville, Fla., where he will argue the case of removal of the president of the Florida Fruit Land company to Kansas City, where he is under indictment by a federal grand jury on the charge of con-

FAMOUS PICTURE IS FOUND IN STOREHOUSE

PARIS, March 6.—City Councillor Adrien Mithonard, while inspecting a storehouse where old pictures and bric-a-brac from churches and public buildings are kept, today found a dusty canvas which he declared was by Titoreto. The staff of the storehouse was skeptical, but nevertheless M. Mithonard, after having cleaned the dirt from the painting, insisted that it was the famous "Adoration of the Shepherds," which, according to tradition, once hung in the old church at Autenil. The picture will be submitted to experts.

If he came out of his hole at all, he surely saw his shadow, and in the meantime Hicks and our own Observer are in the background—for as a prognosticator Mr. Groundhog beats them all this year.
If we believed in his prophecy we would be suggesting that the day before St. Patrick's day should be observed as a general holiday, for it would be a great relief to have the six weeks of winter ended.

Thomas Kilpatrick & Company Announce Their Full Readiness to Serve You Saturday, March 7, Several Special Sales Scheduled

BASEMENT—ALL DAY
32-inch Percalines, light and dark colors, at 7 1/2c instead of 10c.
32-inch Fine Gingham 17c instead of 25c.
Will show a lot of new Ratines at 25c per yard; and an excellent assortment of new Printed Crepes.
You will be charmed and surprised at the display of Italian Silk Underwear. The shapes are new and the colors also. Vests, Suits and Bloomers—Clientele increasing constantly. While first cost seems high, Italian silk is so delightful next the skin and really wears so satisfactorily that it is awfully easy to get the habit.
In Silk Hosiery we match all the wanted colorings—50c, $1 $1.50 and $2.50—the Kilpatrick kind.
Fibre Stockings—This is one imitation which has merit—for wear it beats silk sky high. Some sell them as silk and the cheat is not so harmful but of course equally wrongful because false. These come in black at 35c and 50c per pair.
MAIN FLOOR—WASH GOODS
One item of mention for Saturday mainly for the purpose of getting you to see the wonderful array of high class foreign fabrics. French Ratine, 44 inches wide, 27 different shades, at $1.00 per yard.
CHILDREN'S AND JUNIOR SECTION
Fresh from the makers. Now, of all times, is the best time for pick. From cradle to coronet, or from the tiny infant to the debutante—garments of character—always without any element of shockings—as Emil Reich would say. Headgear for infants and their elders—the latest of spring fashions—and saleswomen who never attempt to loist on the buyer the unbecoming thing.
Coats and Dresses ad libitum.
THE LETTERS OF A CHINESE OFFICIAL should be read by all those who are interested in the flowery Kingdom and its people. Gives one a "new shiver," as Hugo would say, to read an educated Mongolian's opinion of our boasted Anglo-Saxon manners and morals. The people of China have shown the world how to do many things. Speaking of China reminds us to mention a new importation of Royal Dresden China just arrived from over the ocean blue—and by the way, the Blue Union pattern in breakfast sets is wonderfully attractive and a great seller. The Rose pattern gives it a close run for the money.
We hesitate to say much about the Tango. Perhaps enough has been said already. It may be proper, however, to call attention to a showing of Tango beads—priced from 50c to $3.50. New and found at Jewelry section.
Special Saturday—STERLING SILVER on a cut glass vase, 79c the price instead of $1.
White Metal Vanity Cases and Combination Coll Holders, assorted patterns, 59c instead of $1.00.

And here's something for headaches. Sterilizing silver top Smelling Salts Bottles—the daintiest and cunningest little bottles we have seen, 59c Saturday. Really worth more. The liquid in contents in various colorings—to match other furnishings.
Women look to us for the latest in Neckwear, bearing the hallmark of style and propriety. We now show the new guilts, crepe do chine collars, new bows, Tango necklaces and new style collars which you should see at least.
TOILET SECTION SATURDAY—ALL DAY
Williams' Jersey Cream Toilet Soap, 9c per cake, usually 15c. Pebecco Tooth Paste, 26c; regular 50c size.
A member of a British Parliament once rose in his seat and asked the question: "If these laws were not made to be observed, for what purpose were these laws made?" or words to that effect. There was once a sine hour law. We would like to put the member of Parliament's question. Is there a second?

Special attractions at the Glove Section Saturday.
Apron Sale on the Square Saturday—near our elevators.
Silk Section Saturday shows Special Silks. New models being shown in our Dressmaking and Skirtmaking Section.
Colling Wall Paper stock goes on sale Monday. Bring room measurements with you. This promises to be a very remarkable event.
